"Now follows the dim horror of my tale,
And I feel I'm growing gradually pale."

* * * *

Al writes his own platform as Alton B. Parker did in the message he sent to the St. Louis convention of 1904, and does for honest Temperance what his predecessor did for the Honest Little Dollar. We shall have the gold standard when Bryanism shall be a forgotten nightmare.

* * * *

In standing by his guns on the subject of Volsteadism, as Grover Cleveland did on Bryanism, Alfred E. Smith discloses himself to his countrymen as a great Democrat and a great American. "Sir," said Henry Clay, "I would rather be right than be President." P. S.—He wasn't President.

* * * *

Franklin Fort announces that the G. O. P. campaign will be waged to the tune of "Onward, Christian Soldiers," but how many Republicans will march out of the hall to the tune of "How Dry I Am?"

* * * *

Come on, Washington, what do you say?
Let's get together for Inauguration Day!
Maybe it's Hoover, maybe it's Smith—
We can't wait for that great big "If,"
So let's pull together, don't be afraid—
Get all the people here and have a parade!

* * * *

The Methodist and Baptist leaders down in the wet-drinking dry-voting South call a convention for the purpose of defeating Gov. Smith, and raise a dangerous political issue in a section where white supremacy rests on determined opposition to a hated Constitutional amendment. Watch your step, Dixie!

* * * *

* * * *

It is better to have the prohibition law amended by the Congress than by the bootlegger.

* * * *

* * * *

Tom Heflin is shocked and dumbfounded, not to say disconcerted. Indeed, it is not too much to say that he is bowled over and flabbergasted.

* * * *

Young Cornelius Vanderbilt adds to the distinction of the one he bears by deciding that "a good name is rather to be chosen than great riches."

* * * *

* * * *

Dr. and Mrs. Mallory Weems, of Kentucky, have just returned from their honeymoon, but which steamship line did they patronize?

* * * *

Gov. Lowden, the well-known tent-sulker, is now the only member of the Old Guard who is off the reservation. Maybe he is waiting for Secretary Hoover to thank him for the nomination.

* * * *

Chairman Work estimates that it will be necessary to raise a campaign fund of only $3,000,000. And we have heard no suggestion that the slogan of the collectors will be "boys, step on the gas!"

* * * *

Speaking of campaign funds Tammany, which had been the bitter foe of Grover Cleveland, was so anxious for his nomination for a third term in 1904 that it promised that if he would run it would raise a fund in excess of the Mark Hanna millions of 1896. New York is a quarter of a century richer than it was then.

* * * *

We have a feeling of deep conviction that before this campaign is over Joe Robinson is going to give somebody a black eye.

* * * *

It is understood that Jimmy Walker has already written the words and music for the latest song hit, "My Heart Is Where My Palate Ought to Be."

The drys are on the warpath, the wets are on a spree,
The Methodists and Baptists get out their snickersnee,
The ladies down in Texas are swearing war on me—
"My heart is where my palate ought to be!"

* * * *

If Al is elected he'll be the first President we've ever had named Smith, but Mrs. Smith won't be the first wife of a President named Smith, for our second Chief Magistrate, the aristocratic John Adams, in Abigail Smith, found his wife in this historic clan.

* * * *

Chief Work Will Be to Win Farmers Over by Pacification.

$3,000,000 WANTED FOR CHEST OF PARTY

Not as Large as Heretofore; Candidates Best Asset, Work Declares.

James W. Good, of Chicago, who was in charge of Herbert Hoover's preconvention campaign, will serve as the Western manager in the campaign for the Presidency, it was officially announced yesterday by Chairman Work, of the Republican national committee.

Good will have his headquarters in Chicago, and it will be his job to pacify and win over the farmers. In the opinion of Hoover chieftains here, no better man could be found for the task. Although he now has a law practice in Chicago, Good is a native of Iowa and is intimately familiar with the plight and the temperament of the farmer.

Chairman Work said that there was no announcement to make regarding an Eastern manager. There seems to be no doubt, however, that this post will be filled by Senator George H. Moses, of New Hampshire. The Eastern headquarters probably will be in New York.

Newton to Direct Speakers.

Representative Walter A. Newton, of Minnesota, it was announced, will be in charge of the Western speakers' bureau. Newton was one of the first members of Congress to get on the Hoover bandwagon and did much valiant service for Hoover on the floor and in the cloakroom of the House.

Commenting on the nomination of Gov. Alfred E. Smith of New York as the Democratic presidential nominee, Chairman work said:

"He is the strongest candidate the Democratic party could put up, but I do not think any Democrat could win this year against our ticket."

Secretary Hoover himself would make no statement regarding the action at Houston. Like almost everybody else, he felt that Smith's nomination was a foregone conclusion. What most interested him, it is understood, was the Democratic platform.

It was recalled yesterday that when Hoover was nominated at Kansas City, Gov. Smith's comment was, "He ought not be hard to beat."

Campaign Cost Estimated.

Chairman Work estimated yesterday that the Republican campaign to put the Hoover-Curtis ticket in office would cost about $3,000,000. He recalled that in the last campaign the Republican war chest held $4,500,000. Afterward, he said, about $1,500,000 was returned to the donors.

"This is not intended to be a money campaign," Work said "That is no

BETRAYS SON TO HALT HIS CAREER OF CRIME

Mother Believes Science May Save Him From More Wrongdoing.

New York, June 29 (A.P.).—The World will say tomorrow that a mother who betrayed her son to police in an effort to enlist the aid of science to save him from a career of crime, saw her endeavors halted for the time being today when 18-year-old Herman Duker, jr., was held without bail for hearing on three charges.

He was arrested in his parents' apartment after the mother told police of his alleged theft of $1,000 worth of clothing and jewelry from his own home. He was held as a fugitive from a Baltimore reformatory on several charges.

The mother said his criminal traits became apparent when he was 14 years old. Physicians scoffed at her belief that the boy was a victim of thyroid trouble, but she reported his whereabouts to police today on condition that he be given a physical examination and returned to the Baltimore reformatory, from which he escaped in May while serving a term for complicity in a $40,000 robbery.

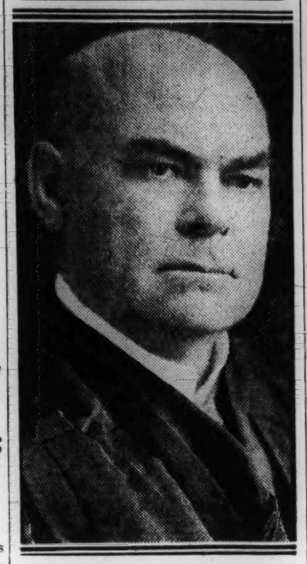
Flier Sets Record By 80 Barrel Rolls

St. Paul, Minn., June 29 (A.P.).—Setting a world's record, Thunder Johnson, St. Paul aviator, made 80 "barrel rolls" over the airport here this afternoon before he was forced to descend by illness. Three official observers of the National Aeronautical Association witnessed the performance.

A "barrel roll" is a maneuver in which a plane passes through the air with a screw-like motion, meanwhile continuing its forward flight. It turns over on its back and continues turning on its longitudinal axis until it is right side up again. Veteran pilots at the airport declared that the maneuver is the most sickening stunt known to aviation.

Johnson was groggy when he landed, but recovered quickly. The previous unofficial record was 28, made by C. D. Custer in California in 1919.

DEAD JURIST



Harris & Ewing.

JUSTICE JAMES F. SMITH.

JUDGE SMITH, STRICKEN WHILE ON BENCH, DIES

FORMERLY IN PHILIPPINES

James Francis Smith, associate justice of the United States Court of Customs Appeals, and former governor general of the Philippines, yesterday died from heart attack, with which he was stricken while on the bench of the District Supreme Court. He was serving as a relief justice in the local court.

About 11 o'clock Justice Smith complained of feeling ill. He went to his office at 719 Fifteenth street northwest. There he told Arthur B. Shelton, clerk of the Court of Customs Appeals, that he was unwell and that he wished to rest for a while. About 2 o'clock his condition becoming worse, Shelton took him to Emergency Hospital, where he died about 5 o'clock.

Born in San Francisco in 1859, Justice Smith received his education at Santa Clara College and Hastings Law School. He was admitted to the bar in 1881.

When the Spanish-American War broke out, Justice Smith gave up his law practice to become a colonel of the First California Regiment of volunteers, and was in the first expedition to the Philippines, arriving at the islands June 30, 1898. He served through several engagements in the islands, and was present at the capture of Manilla, being appointed deputy provost marshal after the capture. After Manila he engaged in several more battles, and was commended in dispatches for gallantry in action. He was promoted to the rank of brigadier general in April, 1899.

In October, 1900, he was appointed collector of customs for the Philippines, and in 1901 was honorably discharged from the Army. On the day of his discharge he was appointed associated justice of the supreme court of the islands. He was a member of the Philippine commission and secretary of the public instruction of the islands from 1903 to 1906.

Justice Smith was appointed governor general of the islands in 1906 and resigned in 1909. The following year, when the United States Court of Customs Appeals was organized, President Taft appointed him to the bench on which he served until his death.

YOUNG VANDERBILT SIGNS INHERITANCE OVER TO CREDITORS

Gives Up Sum of More Than $1,000,000 to Stockholders.

MEETS LOSSES DUE TO TABLOIDS' FAILURE

Obligation, He Explains, Is Moral, Not Legal; Sets Up Trust Fund.

Special to The Washington Post.

Chicago, June 29.—Cornelius Vanderbilt, jr., scion of one of America's oldest and foremost families, today signed a unique legal document in Chicago, by which he relinquishes his inheritance of more than $1,000,000 in order to repay the stockholders of his defunct newspaper properties.

The money, left to young Vanderbile by his maternal grandfather, the late Richard T. Wilson, and his paternal grandfather, the late Cornelius Vanderbilt, is to be placed in a trust fund for the stockholders Previously young Vanderbilt gave up more than $990,000 of his personal fortune to meet losses incurred when his tabloid newspapers in Miami, Los Angeles and San Francisco failed.

The trust fund signed today is expected to wipe out his entire indebtedness to the original stockholders in his journalistic enterprise, which went on the rocks four years after young Vanderbilt's parents refused further financial aid.

Moral Obligation Only.

"I am giving up my heritage as purely a moral obligation to my stockholders," Mr. Vanderbilt said in an interview at the Drake Hotel. "Legally, I no longer have any obligations. But I wish to wipe the slate absolutely clean, no matter how much I have to sacrifice to do it.

"I came to Chicago today to execute the trust fund because my stockholders, numbering more than 3,000, are scattered throughout the country, and this

Youth, Slayer of 3, Sentenced to Chair

Chadron, Nebr., June 29 (A.P.).—Convicted by a district court jury late yesterday of the murder of three members of the Roger Pochon family, near Rushville, Nebr., last May, Henry Sherman, 19-year-old farm hand, was sentenced to die in the electric chair at Nebraska Prison October 22.

Sherman admitted the killings but pleaded insanity. Those slain were Roger Pochon, his wife, Hattie, and his mother, Mrs. Eugene Pochon. Sherman committed the crime, he said, because the Pochons objected to his attentions to their daughter, Ellen.

2 Negroes Lynched; Attacked White Men

Brookhaven, Miss., June 29 (A.P.).—Two negroes were lynched here tonight by an infuriated mob of several hundred persons who forced their way into the Lincoln County Jail and obtained the prisoners.

The two negroes, James and Stanley Bearden, were arrested this afternoon following a fight with Claude and Caby Byrnes.

Caby Brynes had attempted to collect a bill from James, when one of the negroes pulled a pistol. Claude was shot three times and is now in a critical condition. Caby received a scalp wound.

ANTI-SMITH PARLEY OF SOUTHERN DRYS TO PLAN CAMPAIGN

PROHIBITION FORCES ANGERED BY NOMINEE

By PARKE BROWN.
Special to the Washington Post.

Houston, Tex., June 29.—With weeping, wailing and gnashing of teeth, the drys who thought they had won a victory in the Democratic national platform and had hoped the presidential nominee would confine himself to the law enforcement plank of that document, assailed Gov. Alfred E. Smith's telegram of acceptance today as his acceptance of the leadership of the liquor forces.

Various elements of the prohibition organizations reacted in different ways to the reaffirmation of the New Yorker's views concerning the remedy for present conditions. But all were inclined to start militant procedure at once, that anti-Smith belligerency ranging from simple declarations that he must be beaten to threats of a third party movement.

The declaration that Gov. Smith had avowed himself formally as the champion of alcohol came from the executive head of the Antisaloon League of America, F. Scott McBride, of Illinois, who after several hours of consideration and conference issued his comment in typewritten form.

McBride's Statement.

The McBride statement follows:

"The telegram from Gov. Alfred E. Smith to the Houston convention in which he assumes leadership in the wet program to modify the prohibition laws is a challenge to constitutional government. The main provision of this program was presented to the platform in committee by Capt. W. H. Stayton, of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, and was backed up by Gov. Ritchie of Maryland and Senator Edwards, of New Jersey. Nicholas Murray Butler and Mr. Curran presented a similar proposition at the Kansas City convention. The proposals were rejected by both conventions. On the other hand both major political parties went on record on behalf of the vigorous and effective enforcement of the prohibition law. This makes the issue one of candidates.

"The constituency of the Antisaloon League, which determines its support only after the candidates of the parties are named, will be greatly disappointed in the action of the Houston convention which has nominated as its

POWER DAM FAILS; FLOOD HITS VALLEY

Cookeville, Tenn., June 29 (A.P.).—Weakened under the tremendous strain of water piled up behind it by torrential rains early today, the municipal power dam across Falling Water River broke at 6:15 o'clock tonight, releasing a 20-foot wall of water on the narrow, hilly valley below.

The dam was a concrete structure about 300 feet long.

Whether any people were endangered by the floodwaters that caused a 60-foot wing section of dyke to collapse, Mayor J. R. E. Whitson, said he was unable to determine tonight and would be unable to say before tomorrow.

6 Shot in Mine Disorder As Workings Are Reopened

Union Officials on Missouri-Kansas Line Are Accused in Warrants of Inciting Riot; Workers Waylaid by Band of 250—Battle Results.

Minden, Mo., June 29 (A.P.).—First serious trouble in the Southeastern Kansas coal mine section since mines shut down April 1, resulted early today in the shooting of six men and injury of another, when union miner sympathizers and pickets clashed with nonunion miners preparing to open the Western Coal & Mining Co.'s No. 23 mine. The mine is just across the Kansas State line, and 10 miles from Pittsburg, Kans., district union headquarters.

Five nonunion men from Oklahoma, reporting for work, were waylaid by about 250 union sympathizers, and a revolver battle ensued. Twenty shots were fired and the five men stripped and chased to the mine shaft before order finally was restored.

The clash followed a mass meeting near the mine last night, attended by a dozen miners who had come from Oklahoma. The Oklahomans told county officers today they were offered $15 as expenses to return to their homes if they would not report for work today. Several accepted, but the five decided to report.

All five were wounded, four by bullets. Walter and Dave Mays, of Henrietta, were shot in the neck, and C. A. Hill, of Albino, was shot through both arms. Fred Thomas, of Henrietta, sustained a slight scalp wound from a bullet and a broken leg, while Zake Leach, of Henrietta, was beaten.

Arthur Eagleton, United Mine Workers of America, District No. 14, auditor, was shot through the leg, jaw and neck, while John Strahota, union picket, was shot in the left eye.

Harry Burr, District 14 Union Miners' secretary-treasurer, and James Skahan, District 14 president, were reported instrumental in finally quelling the disturbance.

Mines have been closed down here since April 1, when the Jacksonville wage agreement, approximating $7.50 a day or equivalent in tonnage, terminated. Some mines have reopened at the 1917 wage scale of $5 a day or equivalent in tonnage, while others have sought to open with that wage scale in force.

Warrants charging James Skahan, president, and Harry Burr, secretary-treasurer of Union Miners, District 14, with attempted murder and inciting to riot were issued late today.

SMITH'S RUNNING MATE

Harris & Ewing.

SENATOR JOSEPH T. ROBINSON.

Smith, Accepting, Declares For Change in Dry Laws

Pledges Himself, if Elected, to Enforce Statutes Without Evasion—Praises Farm, Labor, Waterpower and Foreign Relations Planks.

Albany, N. Y., June 29 (A.P.).—Gov. Alfred E. Smith accepted the Democratic nomination for the Presidency in a 600-word telegram today, a full half of which was devoted to a statement of his position on the prohibition question. Shortly after this telegram, which was addressed to Senator Joseph T. Robinson as permanent chariman of the convention in Houston, was made public, Senator Robinson was nominated as Vice President and the governor sent him a telegram of congratulation.

In his acceptance telegram Gov. Smith stated that if elected he would enforce the Constitution and laws without reservation or evasion, but immediately followed this with a reiteration of his belief that there should be fundamental changes in the legislative provisions for prohbition.

"While I fully appreciate," he said, "that these changes can only be made by the people themselves through their elected legislative representatives, I feel it to be the duty of the chosen leader of the people to point the way which, in his opinion, leads to a sane, sensible solution of a condition which I am convinced is entirely unsatisfactory to the great mass of our people."

He assuured the convention that in his formal acceptance of the nomination he would give his views in full "upon all of the issues of the campaign," and closed with an expression of confidence that he would lead his party to victory in November.

In his telegram of congratulation to Senator Robinson on the latter's nomination for the Vice Presidency, Gov. Smith said that he had received word of the convention's action "with a great deal of personal satisfaction and joy."

"Your constructive record in behalf of the country and our party," he told the senator, "assures me a strong, vigorous running mate."

"I received your message on behalf of the convention. With a deep sense of responsibility and a fervent prayer for the guidance of Divine Providence, I accept the call of my party to lead

Heflin "Dumbfounded" At Smith's Selection

Towanda, Pa., June 29 (A.P.).—When informed here today that Gov. Alfred E. Smith of New York had been nominated for the Presidency by the Democrats at Houston, Senator J. Thomas Heflin, of Alabama, declared he was "shocked, grieved and dumbfounded."

"Smith's nomination is a mistake," the senator said. "He will, of course, be defeated in November."

Flier, With Coolidge Mail, Strikes Tree

Superior, Wis., June 2 (A.P.).—Lieut. Clifford Coppin, Army pilot, carrying President Coolidge's mail, had a narrow escape today when his plane struck a tall pine tree about 15 miles southeast of the landing field near here.

Lieut. Coppin, flying from Chicago, encountered fog and in attempting to get below it crashed into a tree. He managed to keep the plane going until he reached his destination. The upper wing of the machine was split, the lower wing shattered, the landing gear bent and the tail torn away.

Miss Rasche's Flight Over Sea Abandoned

New York, June 29 (A.P.).—Miss Thea Rasche, German aviatrix, announced tonight that she definitely and finally had abandoned her attempt to fly the Atlantic in the Bellanca monoplane North Star, and would return to Germany.

Representatives of Mrs. James A. Stillman, wife of the banker and sponsor of Miss Rasche's latest flight plan, said the decision was made after some of the flyer's former backers had blocked attempts for an amicable settlement of their differences.

100 or More Drown In Japanese Floods

Osaka, Japan, June 29 (A.P.).—A death roll of at least 100 persons is reported from western Japan, where floods have been causing devastation and great property loss.

The flood is particularly severe at Kyushu, where 1,500 houses and 70,000 acres of land are under water.

A force of 4,000 troops has been ordered to assist in strengthening the river embankments. It is estimated that property damage will exceed £1,000,000.

ROBINSON SELECTED FOR VICE PRESIDENT IN APPEAL TO WEST

CONVENTION ENDED IN PEACEFUL SESSION

All Speakers Urge Unity and Denounce Sectionalism Within Party.

By JAMES L. WILLIAMS
(Associated Press Staff Writer).

He was swept into the nomination for Vice President at the closing session of the Democratic national convention with an overwhelming vote of 1,032½.

The next high candidate on the final count was Maj. Gen. Henry T. Allen, retired, who had a total of 21. But prior to the announcement of the official figures, many States switched their allegiance in order to climb aboard the band wagon of the Democratic leader of the Senate.

Robinson was permanent chairman of the convention which selected him as the running mate for Gov. Smith. Long before the convention assembled it was evident that he was the overwhelming choice of the delegates. With the vote impending, he retired from the platform, turned his gavel over to Senator Pat Harrison, of Mississippi, and went to his hotel to be notified of his victory.

Pitted Against Curtis.

In choosing Robinson for Vice President, the Democrats pitted him against Curtis, of Kansas, the Republican leader in the Senate, and the second place man on the ticket with Herbert Hoover. As in the case of Curtis, friends of the Arkansas leader said he would add strength to the ticket in the farm sections. Robinson voted for the McNary-Haugen bill at the last session of Congress and followed up by voting to override President Coolidge's veto of that measure.

The final day of the first Democratic national convention held in the South since the Civil War breathed the spirit of harmony. Delegates whose high feeling at previous sessions had led to a number of fist fights showed no inclination to do anything except show a spirit of good fellowship.

Southern State delegations, around whose standards disturbances broke out during Robinson's opening address of the convention, voted for him. In that address the vice presidential nominee had sounded a call for religious equality, but if any of the effects of that first outbreak remained, they were not noticeable on the surface.

In Complete Tranquillity.

Instead, the convention adjourned in a spirit of complete tranquillity. The last act was a cheer for Gov. Smith, who had thanked the delegates by telegraph for nominating him for President; had reiterated his views as to the prohibition problem, and had promised to stand on the platform prepared for him.

Five candidates were in the field for Vice President when the official vote was announced. Besides Robinson and Allen, they were Mrs. Nellie Tayloe Ross, of Wyoming, 2 votes; Senator Alben Barkley, of Kentucky, 9; Senator Duncan U. Fletcher, of Florida, 7; Lewis G. Stevenson, of Illinois, 2; Evans Woollen, of Indiana, 2; George L. Berry, of Tennessee, 11½; Gov. Dan Moody, of Texas, 9½. Most of these had originally received a larger vote, but the rush to Robinson at the end swept them off their feet.

The selection of the nominee really was decided upon hours before the convention met. His popularity among the majority of the delegates manifested itself soon after he took over the gavel as permanent chairman. A veteran in the arts of a presiding officer, and a Democratic war horse carrying many battle scars, the Arkansas man had an appeal that would not be denied.

First North-South Team in Years.

In nominating him, the convention linked the Smith ticket with the section where the governor's nomination had been most bitterly fought. It also put a North-South team in the field for the first time in years, and the speakers chosen to second the vice presidential selection were from East, West, North and South, each preaching the gospel of nonsectionalism and unity for the battle against the Republicans in the fall.

Senator Bratton, of New Mexico, placed the name of his Democratic chieftain before the convention. Senator Walsh, of Massachusetts, seconded it on behalf of the Bay State, and it was indorsed in turn by men and women from every section, the final plea for him coming from a Texan.

The delegates in voting had before them the picture of a brilliant campaigner, an orator of the highest order, and a two-fisted battler with a political reputation reaching to every corner of the United States, and they

POLICE SHAKE-UP BY HESSE SHIFTS 25 TO NEW POSTS

SERGEANT AND SEVEN MEN SENT ELSEWHERE

Transfers affecting 25 policemen were ordered yesterday by Maj. Edwin B. Hesse, superintendent of police.

Th police repair shop, appropriations for which were omitted from the 1929 budget on recommendation of the Bureau of Public Efficiency, will pass out of existence Saturday and work on Police Department vehicles will be done henceforth in the general repair shop of the District. The eight policemen assigned to the shop were ordered distributed among other precincts in the general order by Hesse.

Repair Shop Abolished.

Chief in interest among the transfers were those of Sergt. Milton J. Smith, in command of the repair shop, to the Traffic Bureau, where he will again become a motorcycle sergeant; Private Arthur T. Fihelly, who was promoted to be a sergeant of the Detective Bureau, and Defective Sergt. James E. Lowry, demoted to be a foot patrolman attached to the Tenth precinct. Sergeant Joseph D. Harrington, hack inspector, is to be given an automobile instead of a bicycle.

In addition to Sergt. Smith, transfers of the men now working in the repair shop, all privates, were as follows:

Maynard W. King and Guy S. Thompson, both mechanics, to headquarters to drive trucks and towing cranes; C. A. Waterman, Louis A. Craig and W. F. Fey, to beats in the Ninth precinct; Cleota Langdon, to the Traffic Bureau as motorcycle patrolman; C. C. Niblock, to the Fifth precinct to be patrol wagon driver.

Other Men Shifted.

Transfers of other police privates were ordered as follows: Bicycleman John R. Leach and Footman Theodore R. Beckwith, Sixth Precinct, to change places; Patrol Driver E. J. Spence, Fifth Precinct, to travel beat; E. W. Gore and George H. Redlich, Ninth to Fourth Precinct; Hendrick Boose, Ninth to Fourteenth Precinct; H. B. Garland, Fourth to Eighth Precinct; Mason T. Mullen, Third to Tenth Precinct; J. H. Dellinger, Fourteenth to Third Precinct; Eugene Danielewicza, traveling afoot in the Thirteenth to be mounted on a horse in the Twelfth Precinct; Chester C. Stepp, prohibition officer, to be precinct detective in the Ninth Precinct; William B. Satterwaite, from traveling beat to be prohibition officer in the Ninth Precinct; James B. Belt, Fifth Precinct, to headquarters as stock clerk.

Nine of the 25 transfers affect the Ninth Precinct. Sergeant Smith and Private Fey will be detailed for nine days to attend to the transfer of property and setting up of machinery of the police repair shop in the District repair shop.

Quota Clubs Favor Headquarters Here

Davenport, Iowa, June 29 (A.P.).—Mrs. Elizabeth J. White, of Newcastle, Pa., was elected president of Quota Clubs International today. Other officers include second vice president, Catherine Olney, Worcester, Mass.; third vice president, Isa M. Taylor, Clarksburg, W. Va. Directors, Bertha V. Perry, of Denver, Colo. and Juliette Southard, New York City.

Washington, D. C., was recommended as permanent headquarters of the clubs.

Kidnaped American's Escape Is Reported

Mexico City, June 29 (A.P.).—A report that W. E. Mitchell, one of two Americans kidnaped by bandits on June 26, has escaped has reached El Universal Grafico. Nothing to bear out this newspaper report has been received by the United States Embassy from any source. Mitchell, with John F. Hooper, had been held for $1,500 ransom. The two men were taken near Guadalajara.

ON PARKS BOARD

CAPT. GEORGE W. GILLETTE.

PARKS COMMISSION ASSIGNMENT MADE

Capt. G. W. Gillette, Engineer Corps, to Succeed Capt. H. L. Jones.

Assignment of Capt. George W. Gillette, Corps of Engineers, now instructor of National Guard at Kansas City, Mo., as an assistant, office of public buildings and public parks, was announced yesterday at the War Department.

Capt. Gillette will succeed Capt. Harris L. Jones, now in Paris with the American Battle Monuments Commission. He will assume his new work about September 1.

Capt. Gillette is a native of North Carolina and was graduated from North Carolina State College, becoming a captain of National Guard in 1916. In the World War he served in France, becoming a major of Engineers, National Army. He was appointed a captain of regular Engineers in 1920, and has served with troops at Schenectady, N. Y.; Fort Humphreys, Va.; Fort Story, Va.; Camp Jackson, S. C., and Wilmington, N. C.

Chicago Girl Elected To Head Sigma Kappa

Miss Audrey Dykeman, of Chicago, was elected grand president at the closing business session of the forty-sixth national convention of the Sigma Kappa Sorority at the Mayflower Hotel yesterday. Other officers elected were: Grand vice president, Miss Ruth Litchen, Kansas; grand secretary, Mrs. Ruth Henry, Texas; grand treasurer, Miss Bertha Whillock, Oregon; grand counselor, Miss Lorah Monroe, Illinois.

The convention closed with a banquet at the Mayflower last night, at which Mrs. Nell Enlows, of this city, was toastmaster. The tennis championship cup was presented to Miss Elizabeth Futrell, of Tennessee; two swimming trophies to Miss Willie Weichel and Miss Janet Witenack, of Syracuse, N. Y., and the song cup to Psi Chapter, Madison, Wis., which was accepted by Miss Lorraine Arnold. The delegates will go sightseeing today until 5 o'clock, when they will embark for a three day's trip to Norfolk, returning Tuesday.

Brentwood Man Held On Automobile Charge

A man who gave his name as Fitzu Black, 40 years old, real estate operator of Brentwood, Md., was arrested in his automobile at Eighth and H streets northeast shortly before midnight, taken to the Ninth Precinct and charged with driving while drunk, illegal possession and transporting whiskey, bad brakes, failing to obey an officer's signal and disorderly coduct in the station house. He had failed to post bond for his release at a late hour this morning.

A woman, who said she was Mrs. Mary Black, 38 years old, was arrested also and charged with being drunk and disorderly. She too was held by police of the Ninth Precinct. Policeman V. H. Landrum, of the Traffic Bureau, and I. E. Bridges, of the Ninth Precinct, made the arrests.

MERGER IS VOTED FOR PIERCE-ARROW WITH STUDEBAKER

Board Approves Proposal and Recommends It to the Stockholders.

$160,000,000 ASSETS INVOLVED IN COMBINE

Injunction Against Uniting of Dodge and Chrysler Concerns Refused.

Buffalo, N. Y., June 29 (A.P.).—Directors of the Pierce-Arrow Motor Car Co. today proposed to stockholders a plan for reorganization which would give the Studebaker Corporation a substantial interest in the new company. The reorganization, if approved by the stockholders, will bring together two of the country's oldest manufacturers of automobiles with plants and assets estimated to be worth $160,000,000.

Under the plan approved by the directors of Pierce-Arrow, the Studebaker Corporation will put $2,000,000 in cash into the Pierce-Arrow company's junior securities. Each holder of present 8 per cent preferred stock of Pierce-Arrow will receive for each share and all unpaid dividends $10 per share in cash and eight-tenths of a share of the 6 per cent preferred of the new company. Owners of present Pierce-Arrow common will receive six-tenths of a share of class A stock in the new company an the new company will assume the 8 per cent debentures and purchased money obligations of the old Pierce-Arrow company.

The New Capitalization.

The capitalization of the new Pierce-Arrow company will be: Eight per cent debtentures of 1943, $3,349,200; 6 per cent preferred stock $100 par, 80,000 shares class A stock, no par value 197,250 shares and class B stock, no par value, 230,125 shares.

Studebaker will get all of the class B stock, which will have two votes per share, while the class A carries one vote a share; class A stock will be entitled to a $2 dividend before any dividends are paid on the class B stock and after a payment of $2 a share on class B is entitled to share in all further dividends at half the rate on class B.

The stockholders will vote on the plan on July 25.

Explaining the proposal, Myron E. Forbes, president of Pierce-Arrow, in a statement to stockholders said that "since the World War the company has never been able to utilize to the best advantage, or anywhere near their capacity," the facilities of its Buffalo plant.

"It is a grave question in the minds of the directors," he said, "whether the isolated automobile unit can compete successfully in the long run with companies like General Motors, Studebaker, Chrysler and others, whose volume of production, diversification and dealer organization give them a stability, buying power and financial resources far beyond those which can be commanded by a company having only limited production.

"That this situation is real is shown by the fact that your company, notwithstanding an excellent product and an efficient and loyal organization, showed a net loss for the year 1927 of $783,200.57 and for the first quarter of 1928 a further loss of $225,878.11."

He urged the stockholders to approve the plan for reorganization as "eminently fair and to the advantage of all stockholders to accept."

Dodge Injunction Denied.

New York, June 29 (A.P.).—Calvin H. Goddard, representing some of the minority stockholders of the Dodge Bros. Corporation, in Supreme Court today was refused an injunction to restrain the proposed $250,000,000 merger of the Dodge and Chrysler motor corporations.

The Dodge corporation was ordered by Justice Mullan, however, to file a bond guaranteeing protection of the interests of all preference stockholders not assenting to the merger. A stipulation also must be filed that the plan shall not be consummated and the transfer of Dodge assets made unless the obligation of the bond at the time of transfer be assumed by the Chrysler corporation.

At a hearing on the injunction application Goddard's counsel charged that Dillon, Read & Co., investment bankers, were realizing a profit of $13,000,000 in arranging the merger. Goddard's counsel also said that Edward G. Wilmer, a member of the firm, who was placed in charge of the Dodge company, spent from $10,000,000 to $15,000,000 in changing the Dodge model, and finally admitted that "the thing had got beyond him," suggesting that another organization be taken in to revive the Dodge company.

Under the terms of the proposed merger one share of Chrysler common will be given for each share of Dodge Bros. prior preference stock, one share of Chrysler common for each five shares of Dodge Bros. Class A stock and one share of Chrysler common for each ten shares of Dodge Bros. Class B stock. This exchange, Goddard said, would mean a heavy loss to Dodge stockholders.

Greek Cabinet Out With Finance Head

Alleged Slayer of 3 Fiancees Is Captured

Marselle, France, June 29 (A.P.).—Jerome Pratt, the unprepossing middle-aged Lothario, who is charged with the murder of three fiancees and the disappearance of fifteen others, was arrested today in Algiers. His capture came after all of France had been combed for him by the police.

Fear Missing Flier Lost Life in Storm

St. Louis, June 29 (A.P.).—Search was made by airplane today for Leslie H. Smith, air-mail pilot of the Robertson Aircraft Corporation, who left Little Rock at 7:10 o'clock last night for St. Louis in a De Haviland plane and has not been reported.

ARLINGTON COUNTY SCHOOL BOARD JOB IS WON BY CUSHING

J. J. WHITE IS ELECTED LEGION COMMANDER

Importance of Zoning Is Stressed by Chamber of Commerce Directors.

ARLINGTON COUNTY,
BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

Maj. E. W. Cushing was elected member of the Arlington County school board at a meeting of the School Electoral Board last night to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Ernest Shreve, of Washington District. The other members of the board are Thomas J. DeLashmutt from Arlington District, and A. D. Davis, from Jefferson district.

The new electoral board, which serves four years and not three in accordance with the law passed by the last session of the General Assembly, are: Dr. Walter G. Monroe, for Arlington District; Mrs. Grace Donaldson, for Washington District, and N. H. Peake, of Braddock, for Jefferson District.

According to Fletcher Kemp, county school superintendent and secretary to the electoral board, the chairman of the county school board will be chosen at the next meeting, Shreve having been chairman of the school board.

J. J. White was elected commander of Arlington Post, No. 139, American Legion, at the annual meeting held at the Clarendon Community hall last night. Other officers elected are: Ira L. Brashears, first vice commander; Clarence L. Ladson, second vice commander; William R. Gould, adjutant; George D. Ricker, treasurer; Herbert H. Porter, historian; Dr. W. C. Welburn, service officer; Stewart Thompson and William J. McCart, color bearers; and H. C. Dickerson, sergeant-at-arms.

Delegates to the State convention to be held in August are Ira L. Brashears, Herbert H. Porter, William H. Leigh, A. S. Yorkdale and Clarence L. Ladson.

The contest for the choosing of "Miss Arlington," who will represent the county at the convention, will be chosen at the Odd Fellows Hall in Clarendon July 28.

Importance of zoning Arlington County in order to provide for its proper and orderly development was stressed by directors of the Arlington County Chamber of Commerce at a meeting of the board last night. Milford Witts, secretary of the chamber, urged upon the board of supervisors the necessity of prompt action along the lines suggested by the zoning commission, principally through the appointment of a zoning expert.

M. E. Church, Keith Brumback and Walter U. Varney joined with Mr. Witts in urging that something be done. They pointed out that an adequate zoning administration would serve as protection not only for residence property, but also for industrial property.

Proper zoning regulations, it was asserted, would insure the orderly growth of the county. Speakers directed attention to the effect which zoning regulations are having upon Washington and asked that the same benefits be extended to the county.

DAIRYMEN THREATEN HIGHER MILK COSTS

Farmers Say Prices Will Rise if They Are Forced to Move Hayricks.

The dairy business, which is said to be the largest agricultural industry in Montgomery County and comprised of more than 400 dairy farmers, is said to be facing a serious situation because of certain regulations that will be put into effect January 1, 1929, by the District of Columbia Board of Health, by which date it will become necessary for every dairyman to remove straw ricks from their barnyards.

It has been the practice since the dairy industry was started in the county for dairymen to stack their straw in their barnyards at convenient spots. About two months ago, the health authorities of the District of Columbia decided that the ricks should be at least 150 feet away from the barns, and outside of the barnyards.

Upon a vigorous protest being made by hundreds of farmers and their representatives, the same health authorities early this week amended their ruling to the extent that the clear space may be 50 feet instead of 150 feet. The county dairymen say that if this is insisted upon, it will entail such an expense that an increase in the price of milk to consumers will be necessary in order to enable them to bear it. Many of them, it was said, will be forced out of business if they are compelled to make the change in location of their ricks.

Baltimore Woman Dies In Fall From Window

New York, June 29 (A.P.).—Injuries received when she fell or jumped from a fourth-story window to the street early this morning caused the death of Mrs. Elizabeth Simi, 35 years old, of 1009 Granby street, Baltimore.

Mrs. Simi arrived here early last night with her 9-month-old daughter, Marie. She went directly to the apartment of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Malerbiu, friends of the family, from whose window she fell to her death a few hours later. She would not divulge the reason for her coming to New York.

TENNEY WINS ABSOLUTE DIVORCE AFTER 17 YEARS

ALIMONY PLEA REFUSED

The marital difficulties of George O. Tenney, president of the Atlantic Bitulithic Co., of 3036 Woodland drive northwest, first aired in the Virginia courts seventeen years ago, when his wife, Mrs. Emma Schoonmaker Tenney, of this city, obtained a limited divorce from him, ended yesterday when Judge William A. Moncure in chancery court at Richmond, Va., awarded Mr. Tenney an absolute divorce.

Mrs. Tenney, who comes from a prominent New York family, was awarded a limited divorce in the Richmond court on the ground of desertion in 1911. She was awarded $125 monthly alimony and under the law she could have applied for an absolute divorce after three years, but failed to avail herself of this privilege.

In 1926 the Virginia Legislature enacted a new law providing that the defendant in an action in which a provisional decree of divorce had been granted might be awarded a complete divorce after the lapse of five years, within the discretion of the court, if the plaintiff had not applied for a permanent decree in that period.

Tenney brought suit under this act and his wife countered by attacking the validity of it. She also contended that Tenney's conduct had been such that he was not entitled to profit by the provisions of the act. She asked, in addition, that her alimony be increased to $15,000 a year, due to the fact that Tenney's annual income had increased from $4,000 to $30,000 during the long period of their legal separation. Judge Moncure ruled against her on this point.

DITRICHSTEIN, ACTOR AND PLAYWRIGHT, DIES

Appeared in "Trilby," "Hedda Gabler," "Are You a Mason" and Other Plays.

Vienna, June 29 (A.P.).—Leo Ditrichstein, noted American actor and playwright, died in a sanitorium at Auersperg last night from heart disease.

Leo Ditrichstein, born in Hungary in 1865, made his first appearance on the stage in Berlin, but went to the United States in 1890 and devoted his life to the American stage.

His first appearance in an English-speaking part was in 1893 in "Mr. Wilkinson's Widows." Two years later he made his first hit as Zou-Zou in "Trilby." Then followed a long series of appearances including the part of George Tesman in "Hedda Gabler" in 1898 and George Fisher in "Are You a Mason?" in 1901; as Sascha Taticheff in the "Phantom Rival" and as Felix Tarbell in "The Egotist."

He was the author of numerous plays in several of which he collaborated with Clyde Fitch.

Mr. Ditrichstein was a member of the Lambs and Players clubs, and his home in the United States was in Stamford, Conn.

RITES FOR JOHN JOSEPH TOBIN

Pioneer Resident of Woodridge Will Be Buried Today.

Funeral services for John Joseph Tobin, 63 years old, pioneer resident of Woodridge, will be conducted at St. Anthony's Catholic Church at 9 o'clock this morning. Burial will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery. Mr. Tobin died at his home, 3422 Rhode Island avenue northeast, Thursday.

Mr. Tobin was a member of the board of directors of the Northeast Building Association and had long been active in the Rhode Island Avenue Citizens Association. He was an assistant electrician in the War Department for 30 years and later was a foreman under the office of Public Buildings and grounds. He has been operating a novelty store and gasoline station at 3424 Rhode Island avenue northeast in recent years.

Mr. Tobin was a member of the Holy Name Society and the Retired Federal Employes Association. He is survived by his widow, three sons—Charles Tobin, John Tobin and Walter Tobin; two daughters—Mrs. Edna Filgate and Mrs. Ruth Duffy, and a sister, Mrs. M. E. Sullivan.

6 KILLED IN TORNADOES; PROPERTY TOLL HEAVY

Johnstown, Colo., Region Hit; Storms in Tennessee and Kentucky.

LEXINGTON HAS FLOOD

Greeley, Colo., June 29 (A.P.).—A tornado which swooped down and leveled a farming belt in the vicinity of Johnstown, Colo., today took four lives and caused heavy property damage. Many houses were unroofed and farm buildings demolished.

The dead were three members of a Mexican family whose shack was demolished and Mrs. Susan McLaughlin, 50.

Mrs. McLaughlin died of fright, it was believed. She succumbed in a physician's office, where she had been escorted, and attendants there found she had not suffered a scratch. Mrs. McLaughlin and four other persons were huddled in a room of her home when the storm whipped off the roof of the structure.

Nashville, Tenn., June 29 (A.P.).—Hundreds of thousands dollars of damage was caused today to crops, buildings, and highways in Tennessee and Kentucky by heavy wind, rain and electrical storms that climaxed a month of heavy rains.

John S. Lewis, deputy sheriff, was killed by stepping into a puddle of water charged by a fallen high tension wire.

Lois Dawkins, aged 9, was drowned in the basement of the home of her father, in Louisville, following a gas explosion.

At Alexandria, Tenn., 23 houses were destroyed.

Citizens of Lexington, Ky., were obliged to "ferry" across downtown streets and highway and interurban travel throughout the Kentucky bluegrass region was at a standstill.

Crossville, Tenn., June 29 (A.P.).—Several persons were injured and serious property damage was wrought at Mayland, 13 miles west of here, when a storm virtually destroyed the village early today.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Neely, an aged couple whose home was destroyed, were injured probably fatally and a son, John, was hurt. Others injured were A. F. Ashburn, a merchant, whose store was wrecked, and George Pugh.

Gen. Winslow, Builder Of Fortifications, Dies

Raleigh, N. C., June 29 (A.P.).—Brig. Gen. E. Eveleth Winslow, military engineer, who designed and superintended construction of the Honolulu and Panama Canal fortifications, died at his home here late yesterday. He was 62.

Gen. Winslow was born in Washington, but entered West Point from Massachusetts, being graduated in 1899. He served as a captain in the Spanish-American War and reorganized the Engineering Corps in the World War, for which he was awarded the distinguished service cross. He retired in 1922. His wife and two children, Miss Mary Winslow, and Lieut. W. R. Winslow, U. S. A., survive. He will be buried in Arlington National Cemetery.

RITES FOR JOSEPH F. OULAHAN

Employe of Government Hotels Will Be Buried This Afternoon.

Funeral services for Joseph F. Oulahan, 71 years old, brother of Richard V. Oulahan, head of the local bureau of the New York Times, will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the residence, 100 Eighth street northeast. Burial will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery. Mr. Oulahan died Thursday at Providence Hospital.

Mr. Oulahan had been a resident of the District for more than 40 years and was connected with the paymaster's office at the Government hotels. He is survived by his widow, five daughters, Mrs. Alice O. Sherwood, Mrs. Elizabeth O. Wright, Miss Irene D. Oulahan, Miss Agnes E. Oulahan and Miss Margaret E. Oulahan; a son, Joseph J. Oulahan, in addition to his brother.

E. FLEMING PRICE DIES.

Was 77 Years Old and Alexandria Auditor Since 1887.

E. Fleming Price, 77 years old, better known to his many intimate friends as "Sam" Price, for 41 years auditor of the city of Alexandria, and for the last two years deputy auditor, died yesterday at his home, 118 North Alfred street, Alexandria, Va., death being due to the infirmities incident to advanced age. He was unmarried, and is survived by one niece, Miss Dolly Zimmerman, and three nephews, Mark L. Price and C. Marion Price, of this city, and Robert Zimmerman, of Philadelphia.

Funeral services will be held at the Price home Monday morning at 11 o'clock. The Rev. Percy Foster Hall, of St. Paul's Church, will officiate. Burial will be in Christ Church Cemetery.

MONTGOMERY OWNERS SAVE ON SEWER RATES

Sanitary Board Announces 7 Instead of 12 Cent Tax Per $100 Valuation.

The Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission announced yesterday that taxpayers who live within the jurisdiction of the commission will be called upon to pay 7 cents per $100 of assessed valuation this year instead of 12 cents for water and sewer service.

The commission said the reduction was made possible by the recent decision of the Maryland Court of Appeals validating the front-foot benefit charges of the commission. It appears that the 12 cents tax was not in reality a definite charge but was the figure set by the board of county commissioners when they made the recent tax levy as what would be the tax rate for the coming year. The decision of the court of appeals caused the sanitary commission to reduce this estimate.

Formerly the rate was 5 cents per $100 assessed valuation, to which has been added 2 cents to cover the cost of trunk sewer construction. The statement shows the actual rate has been increased in the sum of 2 cents per $100, and that the proposed reduction of 5 cents is not a deduction in fact, but a reduction of an estimated increase.

H. Gordon Duval Plunges 13 Floors

New York, June 29 (A.P.).—H. Gordon Duval, president of the Park Avenue Association and socially prominent, was killed today when he mistook the door of the private elevator to his apartment for the door of the bathroom and fell thirteen floors. The elevator, bathroom and bedroom doors in the apartment are close together and identical in appearance.

Early in 1925, Duval, who was 34 years old, was sued for $100,000 damages for alleged breach of promise by Ivy St. Claire, a musical comedy dancer. The suit was withdrawn.

CHICAGO, SAYS JUDGE, NOT ACTRESSES' RENO

Sabath Delays Jeanne Eagel's Suit for Divorce From Former Grid Star.

Chicago, June 29 (A.P.).—Lest Chicago be made a "Reno for actresses," Superior Judge Joseph Sabath today indicated he would not permit introduction of all the evidence tomorrow in Jeanne Eagels' suit for divorce. He agreed, however, to hear the testimony of Miss Eagels that she might go to Milwaukee tomorrow to resume a vaudeville tour.

Miss Eagels, actress, instituted the divorce action today, charging her husband, Edward Harris Coy, former Yale football player, with "extreme cruelty," alleging he shook her and hit her with his fist. Judge Sabath questioned Orville Taylor, counsel for the actress, as to her legal residence in Illinois and was assured Miss Eagels fulfilled the requirements of a year's residence and that the alleged cruelty occurred in Cook County.

"There has been criticism," said Judge Sabath, "of actresses coming to Chicago to obtain divorces. I don't want to encourage Chicago as a Reno."

The court set July 10 for testimony of other witnesses.

Two Women Injured When Autos Collide

Two women were injured yesterday afternoon when the automobile in which they were riding was in collision with an automobile driven by Louis Reed, colored, of 72 H street northwest. They were Mrs. Genevieve Callahan, 34 years old, 2013 New Hampshire avenue northwest, driver of the automobile, and Mrs Stella Brown, of the same address.

They were treated at Sibley Hospital for cuts and bruises on their arms. Reed was arrested by police of the Sixth Precinct and charged with reckless driving. The accident occurred at New Jersey avenue and H street northwest.

MRS. J. T. ROBINSON TAKES ACTIVE PART IN SENATE CIRCLE

Husband's Career Holds First Place in Interest of Possible Second Lady.

SENATOR'S WIFE KNOWS ART OF HOME MAKING

One of the prettiest and best dressed women in the senatorial circle may be the second lady of the land if the Democratic party is successful at the polls in November, for the wife of the Democratic nominee for Vice President, Mrs. Joseph Taylor Robinson, is both of these.

For nearly fifteen years Mrs. Robinson has lived in Washington with her husband and has taken an interest in the social and political life of the National Capital. While she is not a "gallery fan" in the sense that some of the other senatorial ladies are, she can always be seen in a place of vantage when some really interesting piece of legislation or some action is to be taken by the body, of which her husband is a member.

Mrs. Robinson likes to keep house, and while she only has an apartment in the Methodist Building at 100 Maryland avenue near the Capitol to look after when she is in Washington, her home at 1900 Marshall street, Little Rock, Ark., is furnished and cared for with the art of a real home lover. The apartment in Washington and the home in Little Rock are full of lovely pieces of needlework. While the Little Rock house is by no means a mansion, it is a very handsome home and very modernly appointed.

Mrs. Robinson's chief interest outside of her husband's career and her home is in the Congressional Club, of which she has long been a member. While she holds no office in the club, she is very much interested in its activities, especially since the wife of the Democratic senator from Rhode Island, Mrs. Peter Goelet Gerry, has been president.

Mrs Robinson is very young looking. She has a very girlish figure and her hair is a soft golden brown and her eyes are gray. She wears youthful clothes of the kind which are becoming to a small slight type and she would be more apt to be taken for a young girl than the wife of a leading statesman.

Mrs. Robinson, as Ewilda Gertrude Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Miller, of Roanoke, Ark., was a belle during her school days and before her marriage.

As the wife of the governor of Arkansas she was well liked by the people of Arkansas although Gov. Robinson served only a short time as he was elected to the Senate and has served in that capacity up to the present time.

Senator and Mrs. Robinson have no children. Mrs. Robinson's mother, Mrs. Sallie Miller, lives with them and accompanied them to Washington and to Houston.

MRS. JOSEPH T. ROBINSON.

Smith, Wiring Robinson, Praises Running Mate

"When we campaigned together through the State of New York in 1920, I little thought at that time that I would have the great honor bestowed upon me by the convention, and I little thought that when we would campaign together again it would be for the Presidency and and Vice Presidency of the United States. I received the word of your nomination with a great deal of personal satisfaction and joy. Your constructive record in behalf of the country and our party assures me a strong, vigorous running mate. Tell the folks at home that I share in their pleasure and satisfaction."

Smith's Success Wished By Mrs. Woodrow Wilson

Albany, N. Y., June 29 (A.P.).—Among the hundreds of congratulatory telegrams received by Gov. Smith today was one from Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, widow of the great war President. "I congratulate you on your nomination," it read, "and heartily wish for your success."

Gov. Smith replied, "Of all the congratulatory messages I have received, none touched me more or made me feel more grateful than yours. If I could leave behind me an approach to the noble record of service made by Woodrow Wilson, your husband, then my efforts shall not have been useless. Thank you for your message and your support."

The first telegram of all from out of town to reach Gov. Smith after his nomination was from John W. Davis, who made use of Associated Press wires to offer his congratulations and promise his support.

"Yours was first message," the Governor replied by telegraph today. "It serves to inspire and stimulate me to give my best in order that I may fulfill the hopes of my friends. I thank you for your loyal offer of support."

Among others who sent congratulatory messages were Atlee Pomerene, Jesse H. Jones, Evans Woollen and Cordell Hull, all of whom were placed in nomination with Gov. Smith.

Reed Promises to Work For Gov. Smith's Victory

Houston, June 29 (A.P.).—Senator James A. Reed, of Missouri, one of the candidates swept aside in the Smith landslide, today sent this message of congratulations to the New York Governor:

"I send you my warmest congratulations and my warmest hope for your success, to which I will contribute as much as possible."

McAdoo Comment Waits On Acceptance Speeches

Santa Barbara, Calif., June 29 (A.P.), William G. McAdoo, erstwhile leader in the Democratic party, today declined to make any statement regarding the nomination of Gov. Smith of New York as his party's presidential candidate in the fall election.

"I do not care to say anything about the political situation," McAdoo said to newspapermen, "until after the Democratic nominees have delivered their acceptance speeches."

ROBINSON AS BOY STARTED TO EARN WAY THROUGH LIFE

Son of Baptist Minister, He Was Public School Teacher When 17 Years Old.

MADE REPRESENTATIVE IN CONGRESS IN 1902

Was Governor of State 12 Days When Elected Senator; Aggressive in Politics.

With the selection of Senator Joseph Taylor Robinson, of Arkansas, as the running mate of Alfred E. Smith in its campaign for the presidency and vice presidency of the United States, the Democratic party has chosen a man whose battling and aggressive qualities, combined with great political sagacity, have been long familiar to Washington.

Like Smith, Robinson, starting from a humble beginning, has risen to receive from his State the highest honors in its power to bestow, honors which were heaped upon him so rapidly that he has enjoyed an experience unique in politics, that of being representative, governor and senator within two weeks.

"Joe" Robinson, as he is informally known, was born on a farm in Lonoke County, Arkansas, August 26, 1872. His father, Dr. James Robinson, was the county physician, a profession which brought him only meager returns, and his mother, Mrs. Matilda Jane Robinson, spent most of her time trying to augment the family income from the farm which they had taken as homesteaders.

Dr. Robinson finally gave up the practice of medicine and devoted his activities to being a Baptist clergyman. However, both he and his wife spent a great deal of time conveying to their son, together with their nine other children, the rudiments of an education. In addition to what they were able to teach him at home, the boy was sent for a few years to the rural schools, the only institutions of learning available.

Earned His Education.

Combining what he had learned at home with what he had learned in the schools, young Robinson at the age of 17 decided that he must earn some money himself if he wanted a thorough education. Accordingly, he obtained a position as teacher in the country school.

From his earnings in this capacity he was able to save a small amount and finally went off to the University of Arkansas. By continuing work while attending the university he was able to complete the course and later completed his education at the University of Virginia, wher he specialized in law.

He began the practice of law in his native town of Lonoke in 1895, and simultaneously started the political career which, if the Democrats are successful in the coming campaign, will make him Vice President. His first campaign was for the general assembly of the State. He was successful and took his seat in 1895.

At the conclusion of his term in the legislature he returned to his home and the practice of law, and, on December 15, 1896, married Miss Gertrude Miller, now one of the most popular of the senatorial matrons.

After his legislative experience, Senator Robinson's political activities lagged until 1900, when he was chosen a presidential elector for the Sixth congressional district of Arkansas as the result of which he was chosen presidential electoral messenger.

Apparently the glimpse he caught of Washington as electoral messenger appealed to him, for upon his return home he laid plans for further visits to the Capital. These plans worked out successfully, for in 1903 he became a member of Congress, representing the Sixth District here. His service in the Fifty-eighth Congress and the popularity which he had attained in his district through his law practice, so pleased the people that they elected him to successive Congresses through the Sixty-second.

It was while serving as a member of the Sixty-second Congress that his unique record of public office was attained. While serving in that Congress he had been elected Governor of Arkansas. He resigned from the Congress on July 14, 1913, and was inaugurated governor two days later.

Just twelve days after his inauguration as governor, the Senate, on July 28, 1913, elected him senator. This hasty switching of public office, and the apparent scorning of the berth of governor for that of senator, cost him many political friends in Arkansas, and he came to Washington to take his seat in March with dire threats ringing in his ears. Even during his term of only twelve days as governor, however, he succeeded in forcing through the general assembly many important matters, including reorganization and reform in the banking system, reform in administration of the penal institutions of the State, and the corrupt practices act.

Coming here as senator, Robinson began building a record for national legislative achievement. His experience of five years in the House had already habituated him to the parliamentary practices, and his voice was raised loud and often in support of measures which he deemed just. He was an ardent supporter of the policies of Woodrow Wilson and followed his lead through the World War.

He returned to Arkansas in 1918 to ask the people to send him back to the Senate to which he had originally been appointed by the legislature. The threats made when he had resigned as governor were never carried out, his strength and ability in the Senate having convinced his constituency that he should be continued in office. He therefore returned for his second term, beginning March 4, 1919.

Was Follower of Wilson.

Throughout the lengthy and bitter debate on the question of America's entrance to the League of Nations, Robinson advocated that the country follow the leadership of Wilson. His was one of the strongest voices raised in defense of the international doctrines of his war-time leader.

Senator Robinson's ability as a parliamentarian, and his driving force in deliberative assemblies were forcibly called to the attention of the Nation when in 1920 he went to the Democratic national convention in San Francisco as a delegate. Leaders of his party foresaw a turbulent session and sought an iron hand to control the deliberations and maintain order. Robinson was chosen. Throughout the long sessions he presided and directed the more than 40 roll calls necessary to bring forth a candidate.

Returning to his senatorial duties, Robinson found that his activities at the convention had given him greater prestige among his colleagues, and he was more vigorous and sharp in debate than ever before. He took over the leadership in the fight against ratification of the four-power pact which was negotiated at the conference on the limitation of armament. One of his principal arguments against the pact was that it was in conflict with the League of Nations proposal and that the latter was a far more enlightened project.

For his strength in his fight, as well as for the esteem in which he had long held him for his adherence to his principles, Woodrow Wilson shortly before sent him a letter of congratulation. In it the former President declared that Robinson was the "real moral and intellectual leader" of the Democrats in the Senate.

In 1923 Robinson achieved the actual floor leadership of senators of his party, a position he now holds. He succeeded Senator Underwood upon the latter's retirement.

Probably the best known of Robinson's speeches on the floor was made last winter when he sharply took to task Senator Thomas Heflin, of Alabama, who was delivering one of his daily rantings against the Catholic Church and Al Smith. With caustic words Robinson "dressed down" his party member and made an effective plea for religious toleration.

It was possibly for this firm stand for tolerance taken by him on the Senate floor that Robinson has steadily had the support of Smith leaders at the Houston convention. It is known, however, that during the turmoil of the Madsion Square Garden convention in 1924, when Gov. Smith suggested to McAdoo leaders that they both withdraw their names from the deadlocked gathering, Smith regarded Robinson favorably as a dark horse candidate.

Senator Is Sportsman.

Robinson is one of the most vigorous—physically as well as mentally—members of the Senate. He is large of stature and keeps himself in excellent condition by frequent exercising. His principal diversion is golf, although when he has time for it he loves to fish and hunt.

One of the interesting incidents related of the senator which sheds some light on his methods of comporting himself under fire, occurred on the golf course of the fashionable Chevy Chase Club a week before the New York convention of 1924.

Robinson, with three other senators, was playing the course, when another group of players, including Dr. James F. Mitchell, a noted surgeon, drove through the senatorial foursome. The minority leader took exception to this conduct and is understood to have told the surgeon that he was "discourteous."

There followed a wild scramble during which Robinson and Mitchell exchanged blows, the senator hitting his opponent in the eye. Other members of the groups separated the combatants. This incident created a furore in the Capital, although news of it was kept secret until Robinson had gone off to New York to the convention. He subsequently was suspended from the club for two weeks.

Walsh Calls Party Choice Most Striking Character

Helena, Mont., June 29 (A.P.).—Characterizing the Democratic presidential nominess as "the most striking character that has appeared on the political stage since Roosevelt," United States Senator T. J. Walsh, of Montana, today expressed satisfaction with the action of the national convention both as to its choice of party leaders and its platform pledges.

Senator Walsh, who was himself a presidential candidate until a few weeks before the convention, expects to campaign for the ticket in Montana this fall and possibly in other States.

"Gov. Smith," he said, "is the most striking figure that has appeared on the political stage since Roosevelt. His popularity is unbounded and his admirers are found in all walks of life and in all grades of society.

"Considering his antecedents, it is perhaps not strange that his administration of the great office he has filled for six years has been characterized by the enactment of a remarkable series of laws for social betterment or designed to improve the condition of those who toil. His career affords ample proof that he puts the man above the dollar and gives abundant assurance that whatever may be his views concerning the policy of the eighteenth amendment, an honest enforcement of it under him as President may be looked for."

ROBINSON PRAISES PLATFORM, NOMINEE AND THE DELEGATES

Convention Was Earnest, He Says, Seeking Harmony in its Results.

SMITH IS MAGNETIC; KNOWS PLAIN PEOPLE

Senator Absent When Ballot Puts Him in Second Place on Ticket.

Houston, Tex., June 29 (A.P.).—With such words as "earnestness" and "harmony" Senator Joseph T. Robinson, of Arkansas, Democratic nominee for Vice President of the United States, today characterized the Houston convention. "Inspiration" he applied to the platform. The nominee for President he called a "magnetic figure" who "justifies confidence."

The running mate of Gov. Smith was motoring in San Jacinto when he became the Democratic nominee. Meanwhile, the heavy gavel at the Coliseum was being wielded by Senator Pat Harrison, with Franklin Roosevelt at his elbow. And at room 516, in the Rice Hotel, the senator's personal suite, down at the far end of a dusky corridor, a telephone rang incessantly and unanswered. Boys with telegrams knocked in vain at the door and congratulatory flowers, to be added to those already nodding in tall vases within, began to arrive.

Senator's Frown Gone.

Half an hour had elapsed after the close of the convention when the senato arrive with friends, including Senator Caraway, to find a huddled group of cameramen and reporters waiting. The stern frown with which he had attempted to bring order out of disorder on the convention floor was gone from his face. He was placid, apparently happy.

For the Associated Press he dictated carefully the following brief statement, pausing to study words and revise sentences. He said:

"The proceedings of the convention have been marked by earnestness and harmony. The questions which at first threatened to cause division have been determined to the satisfaction of all delegates.

Platform Should Inspire.

"The platform should inspire enthusiasm among Democrats in every part of the country. It takes cognizance of the conditions which emphasize the necessity for legislative and administrative reforms.

"The nominee for President is a magnetic figure. He is truly responsive to the needs of the masses and his record of efficient public service justifies the confidence of the electors.

"I am, of course, highly appreciative of the honor which the convention has conferred upon me."

No sooner had the nominee finished this statement than he was swept into the center of a group of admiring congratulators while the cameramen, hoping to photograph him along with Mrs Robinson, waited patiently beside the fragrant roses that nodded in the breeze from a ceiling fan.

ROBINSON NOMINEE FOR VICE PRESIDENCY

proceeded to put him over with a whooping chorus. They staged the usual parade for him, but the hard hours of the previous days had sapped much of their enthusiasm. They had apparently decided to permit their votes to speak for them.

Five-Minute Limit on Speeches.

Neither were the Democratic stalwarts willing to become overenthusiastic about oratory. Most of the speakers were compelled to deliver their messages to the buzz of a constant flow of conversation on the floor. Finally Senator Harris, of Georgia, asked Chairman Harrison to put a motion to limit speeches to five minutes, and it was carried with the most overwhelming roar of the day. Harris shouted that the convention visitors wanted to finish up and go home.

Taking the cue, convention officers accelerated speed and brought the gathering to a close, first, however, adopting resolutions extending thanks to Houston, its officials, its police department and to all who h helped to make the stay of the delegates in this Texas city a pleasant one.

Jesse H. Jones, Democratic war horse, who was instrumental in having Houston selected as the convention city, expressed his gratification over the action of the party in gathering here to name its national ticket. He was given a round of applause just as the motion fo adjournment was made by Franklin D. Roosevelt. The latter's stay was perhaps the most pleasant of all, he having been the manager of the organization which directed the Smith convention campaign.

Norris Sees Many Faults In Democratic Platform

(Associated Press.)

The Democratic national platform adopted last night at Houston is as unsatisfactory to Senator Norris, chairman of the judiciary committee, as was the one adopted by the Republican party at Kansas City. Senator Norris, in a statement, denounced the document as "unsatisfactory to progressive-minded people in the United States" and deplored its failure to mention what he termed "the water power trust and Muscle Shoals."

The Republican platform at Kansas City also was "silent on the sinister and deceitful activities of the power trust," the senator said.

Asked what the progressives were going to do in view of the platforms adopted by the two major parties, the Nebraska senator answered his own question by saying that he did not see how they could do very much of anything.

"It is easy to say that a third party can be organized or that some representative of the people can be put into the race as an independent candidate for President," he stated, but declared that those in control of the two major political parties "realize that this gigantic (water power) trust knows that under our system of electing a President such a course is for practical purposes an impossibility."

Candidates and Platform Please Senator Fletcher

(Associated Press.)

Senator Fletcher, of Florida, who closely followed the Houston convention over the radio, stated late yesterday upon its adjournment that in his judgment the ticket nominated was strong and the platform excellent, setting forth clearly sound principles and wise policies.

The personal integrity, high character, patriotism and ability of the presidential and vice presidential candidates selected at Houston will command, he declared, the energetic support and whole confidence of the voters.

"No ticket could have been chosen which would make so strong an appeal to the average citizen," he said. "My prediction is that we have never witnessed in the past such rallying to the standards, such awakening of interest and such wide and enthusiastic participation as will occur in the coming election. Whereas it has been difficult to get out 50 per cent of the qualified votes in previous elections, I predict that in next November from 75 to 85 per cent of the votes will go to the polls and a large majority of them will be for the Democratic ticket."

Arkansas Demonstration Arranged for Robinson

Little Rock, Ark., June 29 (A.P.).—Arkansas will do honor tomorrow to her first native son ever to be on the national ticket of a political party.

When the "Joe T. Robinson Special" train reaches Little Rock from Houston, where the Democratic national convention today named Arkansas' senior United States senator as Gov. Alfred E. Smith's running mate in the presidential campaign, it will be greeted by a huge demonstration.

Invitations were sent broadcast today over the State, and a great crowd is expected to gather at Union Station to welcome the man who began life on an Arkansas farm, worked his way through college, became the Democratic floor leader in the Senate and now is his party's nominee for the Vice Presidency.

Roumanian Legation Mild as to Bowers

The Roumanian Legation yesterday issued an official statement in reply to implications contained in the keynote address of Claude G. Bowers before the Democratic national convention, when he said that "the Pittsburgh Bratianu has decided to make Roumanian peasants of American farmers to fill the coffers of a purse-proud caste."

George Cretziano, the Minister of Roumania, gave out the official answer to Mr. Bowers' remarks in a statement defining the policy of the Roumanian government and making pointed reference to the "significant development in Roumanian agricultural life during the past decade." The statement was mild, in marked contrast to the note of protest dispatched by the American Roumanian Association to the chairman of the Democratic convention, which attacked Mr. Bowers for his definitions of political issues.

Minister Cretziano said he was "sure that Mr. Bowers had no intention of misrepresenting the government of my country or of reflecting upon the status of my countrymen engaged in agricultural pursuits." Nevertheless, the minister pointed out, "the implication of this remark in so far as Roumania is concerned seems to be based on such a misunderstanding of the condition of Roumanian peasants that the statement of certain facts about the Roumanian agrarian population seems to be advisable." The statement detailed what the Roumanian government has done and is doing for the peasantry and emphasized that "today Roumania stands as the foremost agrarian democracy of the world."

Oldfield Wires Smith His Victory Is Certain

(Associated Press.)

Representative Oldfield (Democrat), Arksansas, chairman of the Democratic national congressional committee, telegraphed Gov. Smith yesterday, congratulating him upon his nomination as presidential candidate of the Democratic party and predicting victory at the polls in November. The telegram said:

"Heartiest congratulations. With you as our leader standing upon splendid platform adopted at Houston, you will sweep the country. United and militant democracy looks to rescue Governmment from its despoilers. Anything I can do to help you will be gladly and enthusiastically done."

CAMPAIGN OF SMITH TO BE CONSTRUCTIVE

Unlikely, Say Friends, to Make Fights on Charges of G. O. P. Scandals.

Albany, N. Y., June 29 (A.P.).—The charges of "privilege and pillage" directed at the Republican party in the Democratic keynote speech will be "played down" in the actual campaign, according to indications in circles close to Gov. Smith.

The governor himself has declined to forecast the sort of campaign he will conduct, but persons who have been closely associated with him in his political career believe that he will talk more about what he will do himself if he is elected than about the past record of "the other fellow."

"You can judge by past performances just about what the governor will do this time," they say. "He never has made a bid for election on the strength of his opponent's weaknesses, and there is no reason to believe he will do so now."

It is the governor's belief, these friends say, that campaigning for office is much the same as selling merchandise. And he feels that the best sales talk is that which deals with the virtues of the goods in question and not with the defects of a rival line.

For this reason the persons close to the governor who are willing to hazard any guess as to the nature of Democratic campaign speeches believe that they will be based on "constructive argument" and will be notably lacking in references to scandals and rumors of scandals under Republican administrations

CORN-BELT CHIEFS THINK FARM PLANK NEW MAGNA CHARTA

HIRTH ASKED TO CALL DES MOINES MEETING

Extent of Revolt's Effect in November Is Likely to Hinge on Crops.

By ARTHUR EVANS.

Houston, Tex., June 29.—Corn belt farm leaders left here tonight riding high, wide and handsome. They declared the Democrats in their farm plank had written "A new Magna Charta of agriculture."

The Middle West is to be the great battle ground of the campaign and little time is to be lost in getting set for the fray. Farm group leaders sent word to William Hirth today asking him to call a meeting of the corn belt committee which covers fourteen corn-growing States. Hirth is its chairman. The conference is to be held around July 12 at Des Moines, where the corn-belt uprising took definite form in recent years. Relative merits of the Republican and Democratic farm planks are to be analyzed. Group action is looked for which will carry the farm question strongly into the campaign. Leaders of organized agriculture plan to put in a season on the platform at farmers' meetings.

A new alignment in politics was pointed out as a growing possibility—a tie-up of Middle West and South on the question of agriculture. This has been widely exploited during the last two or three years in the struggle for farm relief.

Progressives Like Smith.

It all depends upon the corn-belt revolt and what proportions it actually has assumed when it comes to the extremely practical affair of marking its ballots in November. Good crops and good prices have a way of taking the sting out of farm uprisings.

The most hectic campaign in the agricultural regions is looked for in the States where La Follette got his best vote four years ago in his third party campaign, in which he carried only his home State of Wisconsin. Wisconsin, Minnesota, the two Dakotas and Montana form a group where the November outcome is regarded as in greatest doubt. In Wisconsin, Senator John Blaine in the last delegate primary tossed bouquets at Gov. Al Smith. Many of the old-time La Folletteites have been talking strongly for Smith, on the ground that they regard him as an outstanding progressive.

The Democrats regard Wisconsin, which was one of the three birthplaces of the Republican party, as the midwest agricultural State in which they have the strongest chance. If Smith does not bag the Badgers, he might as well kiss the normally Republican States in the corn belt good-bye. Coolidge carried Minnesota over La Follette by 82,000 votes four years ago, but Minnesota is regarded by the Democrats as debatable ground this year.

Shipstead Reported Popular.

The Farm-Labor group is still strong in the State. Senator Shipstead, Farmer-Laborite, is up for re-election this time and he is reported to possess popularity. Republican leaders from Minnesota at Kansas City took a rather gloomy view of the situation. In North Dakota the Nonpartisan League, toned down and denatured from its wild and woolly days, still has about half the State government. For years it was a great center of radicalism. A good crop four years ago and "new money" that poured into the State after the harvest allayed discontent to the point that Coolidge carried the State over LaFollette by 5,000.

When it comes to the Indiana-Illinois-Iowa string of corn belt States, the situation is much different. In Indiana the klan and liquor issue are weighed against farm relief. In Illinois there is a normally Republican trend in a presidential year of between 600,000 and 1,000,000 majority to be overcome by the Democrats, while in Iowa, the electorate has been indoctrinated with Republicanism since the party was born. These are some of the factors widely discussed today in the aftermath of the farm plank making.

Unmentioned, Fee Is There.

One phase that led the corn belters to give three cheers is that the plank keeps clear from the hackneyed phrases and the terminology of McNary-Haugenism. The equalization fee has dropped out of sight. But like the quart in the drummer's expense account, it is there in spirit, at least. The farm plank says the Democrats recognize that the members of cooperatives can not stand the expense of a surplus control which benefits all the producers. It pledges the party to "An earnest endeavor to solve this problem" of spreading the cost of surplus control over the marketed units of the commodity benefited. This is exactly what the equalization fee sought to do. But the farm leaders and the platform makers declare it can be done in several other ways than contemplated in the McNary-Haugen bill. The ideal of a Federal farm board to do for the farmer what the Federal Reserve did for finance, they term "the new approach" to the problem. This formula of distributing the cost of handling a crop surplus over the commodity affected, appears likely to become one of the hotly debated phases of the two rival platforms.

Farm and Tariff Hooked.

The agricultural and tariff planks are hooked up. What the Democrats have done is to bid for farm support by rewriting from the Democratic point of view, the corn belt plank that was tossed out by the Republicans at Kansas City. Also they have so arranged it that the tariff declaration will not impair Smith's chances in the industrial East by conveying any idea of tariff tinkering. Without flopping over bodily to protective tariff, the party comes out strongly for tariff rates based on the difference between cost of production at home and abroad.

Years ago this was the spirit of the famous "Iowa idea." It hooked it up with the farm by saying:

"Wage earner, farmer, stockman, producer and legitimate business in general have everything to gain from a Democratic tariff based on justice to all."

it in the national campaign. I can think of no greater privilege in this world than to serve our country. My gratitude to the convention for its expression of confidence in me I can not adequately express in this telegram. I will have to make it manifest in single-handed devotion to the United States and her people in every section."

Committed to Platform.

"The happiness and welfare of millions of men, women and children who constitute the Nation was the great driving force behind the doctrine enunciated by the immortal Jefferson, given life by him and carried through by Cleveland and Wilson. I am convinced that our platform voices that doctrine. I stand committed to the platform and will welcome an opportunity to reorganize and make more efficient the agencies of government, to the end that the burden of taxation may be lightened.

"Our platform lays at rest the absurd claim insidiously put out by Republican propaganda that the Republican party has a monopoly upon the mechanics of prosperity. Our platform in its tariff and financial policy gives assurance to every legitimate business man, wage earner, farmer and taxpayer that prosperity will not be conserved, but fairly distributed among all.

"The definite declaration of the convention to aid agriculture and the planks dealing with labor problems are sound, progressive and sincere, as is also the party commitment to the development of our water power without alienating our God-given resources. Our plank on foreign policy states the simple truth, that the Divine command to 'love thy neighbor as thyself' contains no limitation and was intended to apply as between nations.

Law Must Be Enforced.

"The equal and even enforcement of law is the corner stone upon which rests the whole structure of democratic government. If it is the will of the people of this Nation that I am to take an oath as President of the United States to protect and defend our Constitution and laws, I will execute that oath to the limit of my ability without reservation or evasion.

"It is well known that I believe there should be fundamental changes in the present provisions for national prohibition, based, as I stated in my Jackson Day letter, on the fearless application to the problem of the principles of Jeffersonian Democracy. While I fully appreciate that these changes can only be made by the people themselves through their elected legislative representatives, I feel it to be the duty of the chosen leader of the people to point the way which, in his opinion, leads to a sane, sensible solution of a condition which I am convinced is entirely unsatisfactory to the great mass our our people.

"Common honesty compels us to admit that corruption of law-enforcement officials, bootlegging and lawlessness are now prevalent throughout this country. I am satisfied that without returning to the old evils that grew from the saloon, which years ago I held and still hold was and ought always to be a defunct institution in this country, by the application of the Democratic principles of local self-government and States' rights, we can secure real temperance, respect for law and eradication of the existing evils.

"In my formal acceptance of your nomination, I shall give to the people of the country my views in full upon all of the issues of the campaign. In the way that I know that you can do it, give the delegates my warmest thanks for the confidence they have reposed in me and my assurance that, with their support, I confidently expect to lead the historic Democratic party to victory in November."

The governor made the telegram public after 2 o'clock this afternoon as the first official act of the day. He was up until 3 o'clock this morning, listening to the radio accounts of his nomination and the spontaneous demonstration of friends and neighbors who gathered on his lawn and serenaded him with his political war song, "The Sidewalks of New York."

"And that isn't all they sang," he said, grinning, today. "They gave me 'Annie Rooney' and 'Rosie O'Grady' and a lot of that stuff. They stayed with it until after 5 o'clock. I was all in and I didn't get up till after noon. Now I feel fine again."

The governor was in high spirits and chatted and joked with newspaper men called together to receive copies of the acceptance. After these had been distributed he took one from a reporter and read aloud the last half, that part dealing with his position on the prohibition question.

When he had finished reading he looked around at the expectant faces, handed the reporter back his copy, and turning, walked away without any comment.

Crowds Outside Gates.

During the day hundreds of telegrams of congratulation were received and a staff of secretaries began sorting them out. Two State troopers were placed on guard at the gates to the executive mansion, but all day long admirers stood outside the iron fence and peered up at the big house in hopes of catching a glimpse of the nominee.

Rain that drenched the city all day temporarily caused postponement of a parade and celebration organized by the Albany County Democratic Organization, but Corporation Counsel Reilly finally decided that the demonstration would go on, rain or shine.

The governor told something of what the nomination for presidency means to him in a brief talk he gave early this morning from his doorstep to the serenaders on the lawn

"The returns on the radio from Texas," he said, "indicate that New York State, myself, my family and all my friends are greatly honored by the confidence placed in me by an overwhelming majority of the delegates. As I am now in Albany, surrounded by my friends and neighbors, the only thing I can say is what I said to the newspapermen inside, that I am overwhelmed by the news and that my heart is where my palate ought to be."

"Christian Soldiers" Hymn for G. O. P.

Boston, June 29 (A.P.).—The Republican forces will wage their presidential campaign to the tune of "Onward Christian Soldiers." This announcement was made tonight by Representative Franklin Fort, of New Jersey, secretary of the Republican national committee, at a dinner of the Republican Massachusetts State committee, meeting in a preconference get-together.

The dinner opened the "Hoover for President" campaign. Fort announced "Onward Christian Soldiers" as the tune that would soon be on the lips of as many as "The Sidewalks of New York" and promised a campaign that "would boost the Republicans rather than criticize the Democrats."

Palestine Advancing, Hadassah Is Told

Pittsburgh, June 29 (A.P.).—The upbuilding of Palestine is progressing and the Jewish homeland is being revived despite "slanderous charges" against leaders of the Zionist organization of America, Louis Lipsky, president of the Zionists, today told the national convention of Hadassah.

Mrs. Irma L. Lindheim was reelected president of Hadassah, and Miss Henrietta Szold, founder of Hadassah and for many years its president and now a member of the World Zionist executive board in Jerusalem, was made honorary president. Mrs. Zip F. Szold, New York, was elected first vice president; Miss Pearl Franklin, Chicago, second vice president.

NATIONAL COMMITTEE TO ORGANIZE ON JULY 11

BRIEF SESSION IS HELD

Houston, Tex., June 29 (A.P.).—The new Democratic national committee met immediately after the close of the convention today and decided to formally organize at a meeting in the Democratic Club, New York City, on July 11.

There was a suggestion that the committee convene earlier, but at the request of Gov. Smith, the date was passed to the 11th.

Except for a brief talk by George Gordon Battle, of New York, the committee heard no other business. All contests and other business will be taken up at the formal meeting at which a new chairman and other officers will be selected.

One of the contests prepared for filing with the national committee today was that from Oregon, whose convention delegation chairman is seeking to oust National Committeeman Oswald West. A statement prepared by Daniel J. Fry, chairman of the delegation, challenged West's loyalty to Gov. Smith. The contest went over, however, until the New York meeting.

A permanent organization of Democratic former service men was effected today to work for the success of the party at the polls. Bennet Clark, of Missouri, son of the late Champ Clark, has been placed at its head.

Just before the close of the national convention today Clark took the platform, announced formation of the organization, and said that it was the outgrowth of meetings held by war veteran delegates during the week. He disclaimed any intention of involving the American Legion in politics, explaining that activities of his organization would be distinct from those of the legion.

Regional vice chairmen are: Vilau Whaley, Wisconsin; John C. Townes, Texas; Joseph K. Carson, Oregon; Joseph E. Gaitskill, Kansas; R. C. Patterson, jr., New York; Franklin O. King, Florida; Frank J. Chatwick, Washington; Willis M. Brewer, Michigan.

Frank Miles, Iowa, was named secretary; Dr. D. N. Williams, Missouri, treasurer, with Robert E. Condon, New York City, chairman of the committee on finance.

longer the way to win elections. Public sentiment determines an election now. The best asset a party can have is good candidates, and the Republican party has them."

Another of the Kansas City "allies" called on Secretary Hoover yesterday—Senator Guy Goff, of West Virginia. A few weeks ago Goff was denouncing Hoover and trying to bring about his defeat at Kansas City. Yesterday he promised Hoover his full support and predicted that he would carry West Virginia in November.

Same Promise by Watson.

The day before, Senator James E. Watson, of Indiana, had called on Chairman Work to make the same promise. Like Goff, Watson was bitterly anti-Hoover at Kansas City.

Of the leading figures in the allied forces of Kansas City, only former Gov. Lowden of Illinois has failed to offer his support to the nominee. Lowden, it will be recalled, became disgusted at Kansas City and withdrew his name.

Among others who called on Secretary Hoover yesterday were C. Bascom Slemp, of Virginia, former secretary to President Coolidge and an early Hoover booster; Dwight Morrow, Ambassador to Mexico, who said he merely called to congratulate Hoover; Dr. Reginald Moton, of Tuskegee Institute; Elmer Jones, of New York, president of the Wells-Fargo Co.; Mrs. Charles H. Sabin, Republican national committeewoman of New York; Representative Davenport, of New York, and Representative Reece, of Tennessee.

Floridian Sees Work.

Among those who called on Chairman Work was George Bean, retiring national committeeman of Florida. Bean offered to do all he could to bring about the election of Hoover. In the last campaign Bean is said to have organized 200,000 traveling men to work for the election of President Coolidge.

Chairman Work will leave here today for the summer White House at Brule, Wis. He will spend part of Sunday with his daughter, Mrs. A. W. Bissell, of Chicago, and will then continue on to Brule, arriving there Monday.

Following the program he adopted early in the week, Secretary Hoover yesterday spent the afternoon at home working on his speech of acceptance.

Mr. Hoover has fitted out a special office in his S street home, and it is in this that he is drafting his speech. He is writing it in longhand and then having it typed by his personal stenographer. When he receives the typed pages from the stenographer he makes still further corrections with a pencil. No callers are received while he is engaged in the task.

Smith to Retain Office Until His Term Expires

Albany, N. Y., June 29 (A.P.).—Gov. Smith reiterated tonight his intention of completing his term in the State capitol, despite rumors that he might resign after the formal notification that he had been nominated as the Democratic candidate for the Presidency.

"I'll be right at my job as governor until midnight of the last day of my term," he said.

If he resigned he would relinquish the right to a life pension of $6,500 a year.

PALACE.

Wesley Eddy will be master of ceremonies at his "twenty-sixth birthday revue" at Lowe's Palace Theater this week, beginning today, and will introduce many original novelties in conjunction with Frank Cambria's "From Main Street to Broadway" production. On the screen the major feature will be Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's release of "A Certain Young Man," in which the stellar role is played by Ramon Novarro, with Marceline Day, Renee Adoree and Carmel Myers in support. Added attraction will include short screen subjects, M-G-M News, organlogue and orchestral contributions.

METROPOLITAN.

Dolores Costello and Conrad Nagel will be pictured in the costellar roles of the Warner Brothers' production of "Glorious Betsy," a new "sound movie," at Crandall's Metropolitan Theater this week, beginning today. Others appearing in this colorful tale of Napoleonic days and romance in our own South are Pasquale Amato and Andre De Segurola, of the Metropolitan Grand Opera Company; John Miljan, Marc McDermott, Michael Vavitch, Paul Panzer and Clarissa Selwynne. The program will be completed by a specially selected group of Vitaphone short-reel subjects and newsreel.

RIALTO.

Today will mark the inauguration of a notable revival week at the Rialto, as follows: Saturday, Douglas Fairbanks in "The Mark of Zorro;" Sunday, Mary Pickford in "Pollyanna;" Monday, Lillian and Dorothy Gish in Griffith's "Orphans of the Storm;" Tuesday, Douglas Fairbanks in "Robin Hood;" Wednesday, Mary Pickford in "Tess of the Storm Country;" Thursday, Richard Barthelmess in "The Love Flower;" Friday, Douglas Fairbanks in "The Three Musketeers." The daily bill will be augmented by added features and specially prepared musical accompaniments under the direction of H. Sokolov.

COLUMBIA.

Eleanor Boardman comes to Loew's Columbia for a week's engagement, beginning today, in "Diamond Handcuffs." Cosmopolitan's vivid drama of love, diamonds and secret haunts in a big city. The story is one of human greed in which the star is supported by Conrad Nagel, Lawrence Gray, Gwen Lee, Sam Hardy, John Roche and Lena Malena. The nature of the narrative's relation makes this unusual subject virtually three pictures in one. Additional offerings include "The Fight Pest," a Charlie Chase Co. comedy; M-G-M News, added short-reels, organlogue and orchestral overture and accompaniment.

EARLE.

Mary Astor and Lloyd Hughes will be co-starred on the screen of the Earle Theater beginning today in First National's production of "Three-Ring Marriage." On the stage, Jack Pepper will introduce Barr, Willy and Schell; Kirke and Lawrence; Eight Ada Kaufman Girls; Bert Lewis, the Three Rah-Rah Girls and the Earle Stage Band in the Stanley Co.'s "All Aboard" revue. The added attractions will embrace a new comedy, a new Earle News, selected short-reel subjects and music by the house orchestra under the conductorship of Daniel Breeskin, dean of Washington directors.

FOX.

With the atmosphere of the carnival for its background and its story that of the people of the tent-show, "A Thief in the Dark" will occupy the featured position among this week's screen attractions at the Fox Theater, beginning today. The pivotal roles are played by George Meeker, Marjorie Beebe, Doris Hill and Gwen Lee, each perfectly cast, according to all report. The principal stage novelty will be contributed by Borrah Minnevitch and his Harmonica Band of 20. Other features will be an Independence Day prologue, Movietone News and special offerings by the symphony orchestra.

WESLEY EDDY PULLS PARTY

It is not everybody who can hold his birthday in a theater and have an entire city celebrate with him, but that is what Wesley Eddy, master of ceremonies, at Loew's Palace is doing all this week.

Wesley is having his twenty-sixth birthday on the stage of the theater and the party is called "Wesley Eddy's Birthday Revue." He is presenting Frank Cambria's latest Loew-Publix production, "Main Street to Broadway," a departure from the usual run of units in that it is presented in four scenes. Wesley has also arranged a number of pleasant surprises.

Everybody is invited to Wesley Eddy's twenty-sixth birthday. He is holding the party all week on the stage at the Palace.

Lew Davie, Henry Christiani, Sylvan Solomon and Wesley Eddy, incidentally, comprise the "Barber Shop Quartet" that was heard on the stage of Loew's Palace last week. They rendered their song with gestures that were very difficult. It was the intention of the writer to tell who sang in what voice, but after listening all week he was still in the dark and it will remain one of the mysteries of 1928. The offering however was well received and the boys are much elated. No doubt they will be swamped with offers—to keep them off the stage.

THAT PUBLIC A WISE PACK

Mary Astor and Lloyd Hughes, who are cofeatured in First National's circus drama, "Three Ring Marriage," to be seen on the Earle screen this week, can not hide from "their public."

This fact was demonstrated while they were traveling with the circus during the making of the picture. They mingled during regular performances of the Al G. Barnes Circus with the regular performers, and their names were not announced.

The circus patrons merely knew that motion pictures were being taken of the whole circus while the acts went forward as usual.

But every time the popular screen players appeared, they were greeted by a burst of applause, and their names were shouted by the cash customers!

COMEDIENNE SCORES HIT

Marjorie Beebe seems destined to give the screen what it has lacked heretofore, a comedienne who will rank with the best of the male fun makers.

From two reelers on the Fox lot to more important roles in feature productions has been only a matter of about two years. Always, her whimiscal smile and her large expressive eyes mirroring her thoughts, have brought laughter from audiences.

But it was not until she played a featured role in "Love Hungry" that critics, theater patrons and producers alike, suddenly discovered that here was a natural funmaker who was capable of making audiences laugh as heartily as any male star.

Her latest role in "A Thief in the Dark," opening at the Fox today, is that of a maid in an old mansion where circus crooks stage a spiritual seance and where Miss Beebe has some startling experiences with "ghosts."

MARY IN ONE OF HER BEST

The revival of Mary Pickford in "Pollyanna," at the Rialto tomorrow, recalls the fact that it was her first independently produced picture for United Artists Corporation.

More than 100,000 feet of film was shot during the making and afterward cut to six reels, or approximately 6,000 feet.

The entire company was transported 200 miles, from Los Angeles to Independence, a town a mile high in the Sierra Nevada Mountains, and the only typically New England hamlet in the West which had never before "posed" for a movie camera.

During the making of the county fair scenes more than 400 people appeared at one time before the camera. Only a few of these were professional players. Most of them were country folk who had come to Independence in response to an "ad" stating that the Pickford Company would hold an old-time county fair. As a result "real" people were secured instead of actors.

"BETSY" NEW SOUND MOVIE

Atmosphere of the courtly and glamorous South of a hundred years ago is marvelously caught in "Glorious Betsy," the Warner Bros.' Vitaphone production, starring Dolores Costello with Conrad Nagel on the screen this week at Crandall's Metropolitan Theater.

A colonial mansion has been erected in all its simplicity and beauty of design. Interiors have been carefully copied and will form part of the colorful background of the play.

"Glorious Betsy" is a historical drama, by Rida Johnson Young, based on the romance of Elizabeth Patterson, the "Belle of Baltimore," and Jerome, brother of Napoleon, Emperor of France.

The cast includes John Miljan, Pasquale Amato, Michael Vavitch, Andre de Segurola, Paul Panzer, Clarissa Selwynne, Marc McDermott and Betty Blythe.

A THRILLER, NO MISTAKE

Conrad Nagel, who played the debonair doctor opposite Marion Davies in "Quality Street," veers to the ultra-modern and plays a wronged husband in a domestic triangle in "Diamond Handcuffs," now playing at Loew's Columbia.

"Diamond Handcuffs" is practically three stories in one, and employs three separate casts to carry out the major purpose of the picture.

A fortune in diamonds, rented as studio "props," was filmed, while police guards stood by, in the jewelry store sequences. Lena Malena, fiery little Bucharest dancer, who came to this country to score in "Chicago" and other plays, stages a sensational dance, in which she dances amid a shower of rhinestones.

A pitched battle, with machine guns, between police and gangsters in which real bullets batter down doors, is one of the sensational details and building a replica of an African gold mine among the orange trees of Southern California was the astounding feat accomplished in filming this thriller. An entire hillside was dug out and great derricks erected for the scene in which the discovery of the great diamond is shown.

Rumor Dispelled.

Eva Von Berne, the 17-year-old Viennese girl, who was "discovered" by Irving Thalberg and Norma Shearer in their recent trip abroad, left New York for the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio last week, after having spent about a week in the East. Miss Von Berne spoke no English on her arrival in America, and now is reported to have developed an adequate working vocabulary. This should help to discount the prevailing opinion that English isn't spoken in New York.

DEMOCRATS INTEND TO TAKE THE FIGHT STRAIGHT TO ENEMY

Leaders See Nominees as Two Men Used to Hard Hitting on Stump.

NOTIFICATIONS MAY NOT BE LONG DELAYED

Selection of Chairman of the National Committee Is Still in Doubt.

Houston, June 29 (A.P.).—The Democrats intend to carry the fight to the enemy in the presidential campaign and they believe they have two men on their ticket who will do that without mincing words.

Smith, an old hand at stumping, likes to stir about, delivering blows—and taking them—out on the platform, with the voters looking on. That is the kind of a campaign he plans to wage this year, with the Presidency at stake.

Robinson, his hard-hitting running mate with a powerful voice and a strong body, also likes to mix with the crowds. Rough and tumble campaigning suits him.

Plans for the Democratic campaign are still in the making. A line of attack will shape up in conferences the party strategists will hold during the next few weeks with their standard bearer and the vice presidential nominee.

One of the big jobs is to determine who shall direct the Democratic maneuvers as chairman of the national committee. Clem Shaver, of West Virginia, won't carry over, and the field is now being canvassed for the best man for the post.

Smith to Name Man.

Preliminary discussions have developed sentiment among the close friends of the New York Governor that they should go outside that State for a campaign leader; that it would be wise to give other sections of the country a voice in the management of the Smith-Robinson fight.

Smith himself will name the man. Among those mentioned for the job are Senator Gerry, of Rhode Island, a close friend; Senators Pittman, of Nevada, and Kendrick, Wyoming; former Senator Hitchcock, of Nebraska; Arthur Mullen, national committeeman from that State; J. Bruce Kremer, committeeman from Montana, and Owen D. Young, of New York.

There had been talk of Senator Swanson, of Virginia, for the post, but most leaders believed today that since a Southerner was selected as the vice presidential nominee there was little likelihood that the party would go into that section for a national committee chairman.

Until one is named little will be done toward getting the Democratic campaign actively under way. So far as speechmaking on the part of the two nominees is concerned, not much will be done aside from the formal notification addresses until Labor Day.

Notification Dates Open.

Dates for the notification of both Smith and Robinson have not been fixed, although it is planned to have the Smith ceremonies at the State capitol in Albany and those for Robinson at his home in Little Rock. Senator Pittman was named today to head the official committee that formally will apprise Gov. Smith of his nomination, with Claude G. Bowers, New York editorial writer who was the convention temporary chairman, serving in like capacity at the Robinson ceremony.

It is customary to notify the presidential nominee first and in the past the practice has been for the Democrats to delay that ceremony until the Republican presidential standard bearer had been advised of his nomination.

The Smith leaders, however, have been anxious to hold their notification exercises before the end of July, while the Hoover ceremony will not be held until early August. Whether the Democrats will wait until after that or go ahead is one of the things Gov. Smith will thresh out with his advisers.

Smith Plans Vacation.

The nominee's friends expect him to take a vacation at some strategic point before he sets out on the road to carry Democracy's message to the people. His time until the notification probably will be taken up by conferences and the preparation of his address on that occasion, in which he promised today to fully discuss all of the issues of the day.

Although there are indications that Hoover, after returning from the Pacific Coast and his notification ceremonies, will establish a campaign base, probably in Washington, and confine himself to a limited number of campaign speeches, resorting in the main to the radio, Gov. Smith's friends count on him starting out on his travels around Labor Day and keeping at it without a letup until election day. It is the plan of party leaders to have him or Robinson carry their fight into every section, not even neglecting the South in their campaigning.

ferent organization, in spirit, if not in make-up, from that which split in two and waged bitter warfare within itself over the Willis and Hoover candidacies during the month preceding the April presidential primaries. Almost without exception, the candidates for State office who spoke before the sessions of the convention stressed the importance of a united party if the principles of Republican doctrines were to be victorious at the polls in November. The platform ratified by the convention pledged the party to work for reforms in the various branches of the State Government.

One of the principal points stressed was economy. The platform contained a plank covering practically every phase of State government activity. A flood of oratory preceded the business of the convention at today's session when four candidates for the short term of United States senator and three candidates for attorney general of Ohio made brief addresses. Theodore E. Burton, of Cleveland, seeking to fill the late Senator Willis' unexpired term, dwelt on farm relief and defended Hoover's stand on this question. Chief Justice C. T. Marshall, of the Ohio Supreme Court, also a candidate, touched on farm relief and industrial conditions.

Election of Mrs. Wilma Sinclair Levan, Steubenville, former national committee woman and Willis adherent, defeated by Mrs. Hugh Clark, Steubenville, Hoover follower in the national committee contest at Kansas City, as candidate for presidential elector at large, was seen by many as evidence that the party rift over the presidential primary had been closed.

BROADWAY RAIDING TO GO ON, IS WORD; 100 ARRESTS MADE

Mrs. Willebrandt Is Said to Have Planned Invasion of 20 Night Clubs.

New York, June 29 (A.P.).—Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, Assistant United States Attorney General, was credited today with having planned the series of dry raids which closed nearly a score of White Way night clubs and resulted in 100 arrests.

The raids, conducted by Federal prohibition agents wearing evening clothes, was designed to demonstrate that the dry laws can be enforced in New York as well as anywhere else, Maj. Maurice Campbell, New York district prohibition administrator, said.

He intimated that today's sortie, which came just before the 3 a. m. closing hour and found night club guests celebrating the nomination of Gov. Alfred E. Smith at the Democratic convention, was only the beginning of a crusade that would not end until the last of Broadway's oases had been dried up.

Dry Agents From Capital.

Mrs. Willebrandt, who is a dry supporter of Secretary Hoover's candidacy, was said to have sent a force of prohibition agents here from Washington unknown to local officials, whom she has blamed in the past for failure to enforce the dry laws.

All of New York's dry agents were summoned to Maj. Campbell's offices and held there incommunicado until the zero hour for the raids. Then they were dispatched with selected agents from the Capital to the clubs selected for raiding.

However, "Texas" Guinan, hostess at one of the most popular resorts, had received word that "something was up," and when the agents arrived at her club she was not present. Helen Morgan, whose club was raided and dismantled by agents a few months ago, was said to have slipped out a back door when the raiders entered her place.

Club Employes Arrested.

Most of those arrested were employes of the clubs. They were released in $1,000 bail each for hearing July 10 on charges of illegal possession of liquor. Evidence against them was submitted to United States Attorney Tuttle.

Maj. Campbell said he had had nothing to do with planning the raids, and he discounted allegations that the crusade had any political significance. "I didn't even know there was a political convention in session," he said, "and I didn't know who was going to be nominated."

Search warrants on which the agents proceeded, he said, were signed by one of Mrs. Willebrandt's Washington assistants, and we e presented to Federal Judge Coleman instead of to a United States commissioner, as is the usual procedure.

Guests Must Pay Checks.

Guests were ordered to leave by the agents, who cautioned them to pay their checks before departing.

The places raided were Texas Guinan's Club, Blue Hour Club, Furnace Club, Don Royal, Jungle Club, Beaux Arts Club, European Club, La Frera Club, the Night Club, Mimic Club, Merry-Go-Round Club, Helen Morgan Club, Charm Club, the Silver Slipper and an unnamed club.

The raids were made under the personal direction of Prohibition Director Maurice Campbell and was marked by unusual thoroughness In some cases the agents spent several hours searching for possible caches of liquor.

COOLIDGE EXPECTS EARLY CONCLUSION OF ANTIWAR PACT

Will Discuss Subject With Secretary Kellogg on Visit by Latter.

TWIN CITY DELEGATION FAILS TO SEE PRESIDENT

Superior, Wis., June 29 (A.P.).—President Coolidge is confident that negotiations now under way with fourteen foreign powers for a multilateral pact condemning war will reach a successful conclusion this summer. A draft treaty to this efefct he thinks should be ready for the Senate's consideration when Congress reconvenes next December.

Mr. Coolidge, however, has had no opportunity for extensive communication with Secretary of State Kellogg since the latter dispatched to the powers involved his latest draft of the covenant, under which the chief nations of the world would renounce war as an instrument of national policy and would agree to settle future differences by peaceful means.

The Chief Executive will have an opportunity to discuss this questeion exhaustively with Secretary Kellogg in July, when the latter is expected to visit the summer White House.

Secretary Kellogg's visit is expected to be followed by one from Herbert M. Lord, director of the budget, who will bring his recommendations for the 1930 budget. Mr. Coolidge expects this visit to be early in August.

President Coolidge is still in the dark about Secretary Hoo er's movements. He expects the Republican nominee for President, however, to stop at Cedar Island Lodge either on his way to Palo Alto, Calif., or on his way back East later in the summer.

No Cabinet Choices Yet.

President Coolidge has as yet decided upon no successors to Secretaries Hoover and Work when they shall resign from the Department of Commerce and Interior, respectively.

Mr. Coolidge has been giving no thought to his own plans after March 4. He feels next inauguration day will be early enough to start thinking of how he shall employ his private life. At present he is expecting a visit from his son, John. The latter's arrival from the East has been postponed one day and is now scheduled for Sunday or Monday. Mr. Coolidge hopes his son will appreciate the summer White House as much as he does himself. In this connection Mr. Coolidge made known today his appreciation of the welcome he and Mrs. Coolidge received in Superior and his gratitude for the eagerness of all in this region to make his stay pleasant.

After learning today of the nomination of Gov. Smith of New York as Democratic candidate for President of the United States, Mr. Coolidge attended to the first engagements made for him since his arrival here. Gov. Smith's nomination was reached at Houston yesterday, long after Mr. Coolidge had retired and the news was kept for him till today.

Thanked for River Aid.

One of his engagements today consisted of receiving a delegation representing the Upper Mississippi Barge Line Corporation, which thanked him for his efforts in promoting river navigation and especially for approving a bill at the last session of Congress increasing to $15,000,000 the Government stock in the Inland Waterways Corporation. C. C. Webber presented to Mr. Coolidge a scroll of thanks.

Mr. Coolidge also received a 40-pound muskellunge caught by W. R. Ross, of Haywood, Wis. Ross challenged the Chief Executive to equal such a catch.

James W. Good, of Iowa, Secretary Hoover's preconvention manager, passed through Superior today on his way from Chicago to his summer home, 150 miles northwest of here. He called upon Everett Sanders, Secretary to the President, but said he would not see Mr. Coolidge.

A delegation of St. Paul and Minneapolis men headed by H. C. Briggs, past president of the St. Paul Association of Commerce, missed an engagement with Mr. Coolidge today. They flew here from the Twin Cities, but were delayed and landed in Superior after Mr. Coolidge had left his offices for the lodge.

Poincare Survives Socialist Onslaught

Paris, June 29 (A.P.).—Raymond Poincare emerged victorious today from the most bitter and the best planned attack that his government has been called on to face since he assumed power in 1926. The chamber of deputies voted confidence in the cabinet by 445 to 126.

As the chamber will adjourn within a few days for the summer recess, the opposition has been tamed until parliament reconvenes in October

There were really two pro-government votes. After the Radical Left had presented approval of the ministerial declaration as the order of the day, the Socialists tried to gain priority for a parliamentary program of their own. They came out at the small end of a 460 to 120 ballot.

PEER GETS 4 YEARS; TOOK CLIENTS' FUNDS

Lord Terrington Admits His Guilt; Sum Involved Is $350,000.

London, June 29 (A.P.).—Lord Terrington today pleaded guilty to charges of fraudulent conversion of money entrusted to him by clients and was sentenced to four year's penal servitude. The plea was offered when he was brought up for trial at Old Bailey. He has been in prison since his extradition from France last spring, bail having been denied him.

Lord Terrington was charged with converting funds amounting to $350,000. The funds belonged to a number of his clients.

A warrant for his arrest was first issued in March, 1927, but by this time he had gone to the continent having announced that he was ordered there by his physicians. He was arrested at Boulogne, but was sent to a hospital having suffered a relapse. He was extradited in April.

SENATOR CURTIS CITES G. O. P. AID TO VETERANS

Tells Rhode Island Foreign Wars Men Republicans Backed Wilson.

FOUGHT CLEVELAND RULE

Pawtucket, R. I., June 29 (A.P.).—Making his first public address since his nomination for the Vice Presidency at the Republican national convention at Kansas City, Senator Charles Curtis tonight appeared before the first annual encampment of the Rhode Island Veterans of Foreign Wars.

"When I tell you that I am the son of a Civil War soldier you know why I am here tonight," he said. "When I tell you that as a young Congress representative 30 years ago, I had the honor of leading the fight in the House of Representatives against the infamous order of Grover Cleveland striking thousands of men from the Civil War pesion roll, you know why I am here."

Senator Curtis said he never had failed to answer the call of the Union soldiers of the Civil War, or of the veterans of the Spanish-American and World Wars. He said that while speaking at Memorial Day exercises at the Arlington National Cemetery during the war he had turned to President Wilson and assured him that in war measures he had the support of the Republican members of Congress.

"And we kept that pledge," he exclaimed.

Other speakers were Gov. Norman S. Case of Rhode Island, United States Senator Jesse H. Metcalf, Representative Clark Burdick and Louis Monast, of Rhode Island, and Representative Hamilton Fish, of New York.

FRAZIER RENOMINATED; DRY REPEAL IN DOUBT

Prohibition Lead in North Dakota Falls Sharply, Then Gains Again.

SHAFER FOR GOVERNOR

Fargo, N. Dak., June 29 (A.P.).—Doubt as to the outcome of efforts to repeal the prohibition clause in North Dakota's constitution, defeat for the Nonpartisan League in the Republican gubernatorial race and victory in the senatorial contest was shown tonight when more than three-fourths of the State's precincts had reported on Wednesday's primary election.

After seeing a lead of 5,000 cut to 1,000 when half the State had reported, drys were jubilant when additional precincts sent their advantage past the 6,000 mark as precincts in the eastern part of the State returned majorities against repeal.

When 1,430 precincts of the State's 2,192 had reported, the vote stood 73,769, against repeal and 67,728 for.

George F. Shafer, Independent, led T. H. Thoresen, Nonpartisan, for the gubernatorial nomination. Returns from 1,745 precincts gave Shafer 82,307, against 68,270 for Thoresen.

United States Senator Lynn J. Frazier's plurality over R. A. Nestos, Independent, probably will be in excess of 15,000. In reports already received, 1,794 precincts give him 79,535, against 67,643 for Nestos.

The Independents also nominated J. S. Kitchen, incumbent, as Commissioner of Agriculture and Labor and held a lead for Attorney General. This means that they will control the State industrial commission which has charge of North Dakota's industries as these two officers and the governor form the commission. Nomination on the Republican ticket in North Dakota is considered equivalent to election

For Congress, O. B. Burtness, independent incumbent, won the nomination in the first district, and J. H. Sinclair, Nonpartisan incumbent, in the third. In the Second District Hall, Independent, was leading Olson, Nonpartisan by 2,908 votes, with 251 precincts still to report. The figures were Hall 24,416, Olson, 21,508.

The Independents will regain control of the legislature.

—Take Two Ordinary Dining Room Chairs

THEY look apparently alike, but differ in price. On close inspection, it is found that the box frame of the seat of one is simply doweled (or pegged), the back post or leg cut and shaped from a board parallel with the grain of the wood. A chair made in this manner is liable to breakaway at the joints or the legs will snap off when strain is put upon them.

THE other chair has the frame mortised and tenoned and held together with corner blocks, the back legs cut from a straight strip but steam-bent into shape.

FURNITURE rightly made will show that it has been put together with care and deliberation.

Ohio G. O. P. Convention Urges Need of Unity

Columbus, Ohio, June 29 (A.P.).—Ohio Republicanism today turned toward the 1928 State campaign inspired by pleas for party harmony and solidarity and guided by a platform of "constructive measures." With the adjournment this afternoon of the State convention the party prepared itself for the primary battle in August when its candidates for State office will be nominated, and for the contest with the Democratic party in November.

But, to all appearances, it is a dif-

PROHIBITION.

Gov. Smith with his habitual directness, has made clear his position in regard to prohibition. In his telegram to Senator Robinson, intended for the information of the Houston convention and the country at large, Gov. Smith states that he will, if elected, execute his oath to support the Constitution and the laws without reservation or evasion. But he adds that he believes there should be "fundamental changes in the present provisions for national prohibition, based on the fearless application to the problem of the principles of Jeffersonian Democracy." He remarks that he feels it to be "the duty of the chosen leader of the people to point the way to a sane, sensible solution of a condition which I am convinced is entirely unsatisfactory to the great mass of the people."

The principles of Jeffersonian Democracy to which Gov. Smith refers are States' rights and local self-government. Since Gov. Smith believes that there must be "fundamental changes," it is reasonable to assume that he favors the restoration of State authority over prohibition enforcement. He does not attack the eighteenth amendment, but confines his suggestion to the "present provisions," and therefore it may be inferred that he would not recommend the repeal of the prohibition amendment, but would urge modification of the enforcement law.

Confirmed drys will immediately take issue with Gov. Smith, but those among them who voted to nominate him did so well knowing that he favors modification of the Volstead act. If they take him at his word when he intimates that he will recommend modification, they must take him at his word when he promises to enforce the law. There is no inconsistency in obeying and enforcing a law and at the same time seeking to improve or repeal it. That was Abraham Lincoln's attitude in the Dred Scott case. It would be dishonest in Gov. Smith to pretend that he favors the Volstead act merely because it is a law.

Does the present prohibition law create a condition "entirely unsatisfactory to the great mass of our people," as asserted by Gov. Smith? That remains to be proved. That there is increasing dissatisfaction with conditions is undeniable. It is proved by the increasing number of votes favoring a change, wherever the people have an opportunity to express themselves. The latest instance is that of North Dakota, where a proposal to repeal the prohibition clause in the State constitution has received a very heavy vote. Such a vote would have been out of the question ten years ago.

Probably a long time must elapse before Congress will undertake to modify the Volstead act, because of the fixed opinion on the part of the drys that if the law is ever opened to amendment it will be made weaker or even be destroyed as a means of enforcing the eighteenth amendment. Individuals who favor extinction of the liquor traffic and yet are dissatisfied with the workings of the Volstead act are not yet numerous or aggressive enough to make headway against radical drys on one side and radical wets on the other. Progress toward betterment of the law will be slow, even if a President should be elected who would urge betterment. Thus Mr. Hoover's statement that prohibition should be dealt with "constructively" and Gov. Smith's notice that he favors "fundamental changes" do not necessarily mean that either of them, if elected, would be called upon to do more than enforce the law as it stands. The people must thrash out this question in States and congressional districts before it can become a matter of legislation in Congress.

TWEEDLEDUM AND TWEEDLEDEE.

The contention, by no means new, that there is little in the way of political theory by which the voters may distinguish between the Nation's two great parties has been made increasingly apparent in the platform adopted by the Democrats at Houston. At Kansas City the resolutions committee labored and brought forth a document in which the Republicans were praised for their administration of the Government and certain principles were set forth, in many instances in language not perfectly clear. At Houston the platform framers substituted denunciation of the Republicans for praise of them, and then drafted a set of principles so closely resembling those of their opponents that the difference defies detection in plank after plank.

What, for instance, has become of the fundamental divergence that once existed between the two parties on the tariff and foreign affairs? There is no concrete statement in the Democratic declaration on the tariff to which a Republican might not subscribe. The Democratic platform, it is true, does not praise the protective tariff system, but only by implication do the words of the Houston document convey the idea that the Democrats would make any radical changes in the existing schedules. If the Democratic party intends in the event of triumph to draft a tariff bill "for revenue only," the purpose is carefully concealed in a mass of verbiage.

The sharp and decided division between the Republicans and Democrats with respect to the foreign policy of the United States no longer exists. Eight years ago and four years later the two parties were definitely divided on this issue. The League of Nations of Woodrow Wilson was the beacon light which led the Democrats. This year no references to it nor to the World Court remain in the platform, and instead the party declares for "freedom from entangling political alliances with foreign nations." The Democrats offer nothing as a substitute for their old faith. They accept the Republican viewpoint by their silence on this question.

It would be possible to go further in illustration of this meeting of minds. In most instances the phraseology alone is different. The platforms are of as little actual use in determining the difference between the two political entities as the keynote speeches of a national convention. The latter are not binding upon the convention. A platform is not binding upon a candidate. The final and definite party doctrine lies in the declarations of the nominees during the campaign.

ROBINSON FOR VICE PRESIDENT.

The nomination of Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas for the Vice Presidency on the Democratic ticket constitutes a decided parallel to the action taken by the Republicans at Kansas City in the selection of Senator Charles Curtis. Not only have the two men much in common in their public lives, but the causes that led up to their nomination are in many respects similar. The leaders of the Kansas City convention conceived it to be their duty to select as Mr. Hoover's running mate a Western man who could appeal to the farmers. The Democratic chieftains considered it good policy to do the same thing. The two choices were made with a view to burying factional differences and assuring party harmony.

The resemblance of the two men goes further than this. Both are members of the United States Senate. The leadership of the majority which Senator Curtis holds is matched by the minority leadership which has been entrusted to Senator Robinson. Each earned his honors by long and faithful party service in both branches of Congress. Both are judicious and temperate in legislative affairs, and expert in composing differences.

The nomination of Senator Robinson is an asset to the Democratic ticket. The rumored opposition of Southern States to his selection did not develop when the balloting began. There was hardly a State that did not give him some support when the roll was called. Changes in the vote before it had been tabulated made the approval of the convention virtually unanimous. The fitness of Senator Robinson as a teammate of Gov. Smith is obvious.

SALE OF GOVERNMENT SHIPS.

The Shipping Board has ordered its ship sales committee to investigate the matter of selling the United States Lines and submit recommendations. Chairman O'Connor has stated that the board will entertain any reasonable bid. What would constitute a "reasonable bid," however, he did not indicate.

The new shipping act is rapidly vindicating itself. The vessels comprising the United States fleet can not be disposed of overnight, but the sale of the lines is now only a matter of time.

The ship sales committee is composed of Chairman O'Connor and the two new members of the board, Commissioners Cone and Sandberg, all of whom are in favor of the early disposal of the Government-owned merchant fleet. Several groups of shipping men have indicated interest in the proposed sale. Upon what basis the lines can be evaluated is a complex problem. The committee has to work this out, after which its recommendations must be approved by the full membership of the board.

The important consideration is that the United States Lines be placed in hands that will energetically round out the fleet so that it can offer real competition to British, French and Italian lines.

The new shipping legislation liberalizing the construction loan clause of the shipping act and providing for long-term mail contracts at attractive rates ought to enable the Government to retire from the shipping business and to encourage the rapid development of a privately owned and operated merchant marine capable of meeting foreign competition.

MORE FIRES EVERY YEAR.

For all the attention that is being paid to fire reduction the annual national conflagration loss is increasing. The public insists on being careless. A match discarded before it is completely extinguished can cause a $1,000,000 fire. A cigarette tossed out of a window can lay a city block low. In schools, by posters and through lectures fire insurance companies and municipal officials are struggling valiantly to drive home the story of fire prevention. Yet each year there are more fires than during the preceding year.

Figures recently compiled by the Fidelity-Phenix Fire Insurance Co. comparing the number of fires occurring in 1920 with the number that occurred last year in 63 of the larger cities of the country show that on the average the number of fires increased about 52 per cent as against a 19 per cent average increase of the number of residents. In other words, the number of fires is increasing much more rapidly than the population. Possibly this is a natural development, for the more persons there are in a city, since fires generally originate from some human action, the greater will be the number of fires. But where are those preaching fire prevention? What about the much vaunted American fireproof building?

In explanation of the report it is pointed out that the number of fires in each place is taken for the survey rather than the aggregate of fire losses, because one or two sizable blazes might swell a yearly total abnormally, thus giving a false picture of conditions. It seems reasonable to conclude, the report continues, "that the American people are becoming more heedless of fire hazards and that fire insurance companies may expect to handle a larger and larger number of loss claims, while the fire departments have more work to do each year."

MISUSE OF SPEECH.

The "plague of words" with which the delegates to a national convention are afflicted must be manifest to a Nation that has been able to listen to every word spoken during the deliberations of the Republicans and Democrats. There are apparently only a few, rare individuals who know when they have said enough; so that millions of utterly useless words have come through the air from the two convention halls. The same verbosity existed, in all probability, before radio was made practical, but the use of this means of transmission has magnified the nuisance and made it possible to abuse the public patience.

Several speeches at Houston could have been made for no other reason than to take advantage of the advertising facilities which the far-flung network of radio stations afforded. They were not the sort of speeches on which a line would have been wasted in any newspaper dispatches. The pressure of time and space would have consigned them to the scrapheap at once. The radio picked them up and carried them to every corner of the Nation. Listeners beside their loud speakers were bored with one speech in which the orator dealt with the climatic conditions of Florida, the opportunities it afforded in the real estate field, and the desirability of a visit within its borders. Later the air was shattered with a statistical review of Wisconsin's glories as a dairy State. "Wisconsin," said the speaker, "produces more butter, cheese and cream than any other State in the Union. Therefore, I second the nomination of the Hon. Joseph T. Robinson, of Arkansas."

It ought certainly to be within the powers of party leaders to prevent booster speeches such as these at a convention. If there is no way to suppress such orators, it should at least be possible for the chairman to cut them off the radio. Enough tiresome and stupid talk is wasted during the normal proceedings of a political convention, without making it the vehicle for impudent advertising.

LEAVING THE SERVICE.

The resignation from the Army Air Service of Lieut. Eric H. Nelson, round-the-world flier, effective tonight, is to be deplored. One of the outstanding aviators of the country, he is of the type that the Army needs. Lieut. Nelson, however, is a victim of the World War "hump." He has been an Army flier for ten years, and yet has attained only the rank of lieutenant, and would have been able to rise no higher than captain before his retirement. Lieut. Nelson would like to stay in the Army, but since he sees no opportunity for advancement he is not to be criticized for resigning to enter the field of commercial aviation, in which he will have opportunity to advance himself.

The World War promotion "hump" has been much talked about. There exists general agreement that it is "too bad" that such a situation exists. That is about as far as interest in the matter goes. The resignation of an outstanding officer because of justifiable dissatisfaction with his lot should serve to bring the situation home to Congress.

The "hump" has been studied on several occasions and suggestions advanced for its removal. In every case, however, a group has come forward to demonstrate that in one respect or another the suggested reform would work hardship on other officers. Somewhere there must be a method of rectifying conditions that will react against no other group. Lieut. Nelson's resignation should bring about a genuine and comprehensive investigation. Let the "hump" be ironed out before other able and valuable air service officers find it necessary to leave the service.

AMBULANCE CHASING.

The ambulance-chasing lawyer is apparently ably aided and abetted by the ambulance-chasing physician. In a New York court on Thursday last one doctor testified that he had referred about 30 accident cases to one lawyer, and three other doctors proved that, acting independently, they had yet all agreed, through the working of some extraordinary miracle of telepathy, in sending injured persons to another lawyer, who would make claims for damages for these new clients and look after their interests until either a settlement was effected or a verdict obtained. Fortunately, there is reason to believe that the individuals who thus bring discredit on two noble professions are very few in number. As far as the law is concerned, Henry W. Taft, chairman of the joint committee whose petition brought on the investigation now being conducted into the matter, is of opinion that the proportion of the legal profession tainted by this evil is less than one-tenth of one per cent; and it may safely be assumed that the proportion among the medical men is no higher.

It is satisfactory to note that the very fact of the inquiry being on has already reduced in one year the number of negligence actions by 43 per cent. Various methods have been suggested for stamping out the objectionable practice entirely. Among these is the enactment of a law to curb unscrupulous members of the bar by placing a limitation on the maximum fees they may charge in such cases. A change in the law pertaining to perjury, so as to make it easier for the courts to inflict punishment for this offense so common in accident cases, was also recommended. Perhaps, however, the best remedy, if it could be only universally employed, would be that one, now so strenuously urged, whereby steps should be taken to exclude from the legal profession those who are lacking in education, training, and character. In that way, its standing would be efficiently guarded, at least for the future.

Not a few may become dizzy if they attempt to follow all the activities that the summer will offer in the realm of sports, using that term in its broader sense. There is aviation, for instance. Despite the great achievements of 1927 and the recent notable feat of the Southern Cross, which preempted many of the "first places," the competition is keen for new records and still unwon laurels, and flying will be one of the headliners of the busy summer schedule. Under the more limited meaning of sports, there will come the Davis Cup matches, the Olympics and one more "Battle of the Century" to vie in interest with baseball. And there is politics, to many Americans the greatest sport of all. The elephant and the donkey, now being metamorphosed into the tiger, promise lively entertainment. In the good old circus phrase, there will be "something doing every minute."

To Conceal Thought.
Detroit News: A lexicographer cites a word in our noble language which has no less than 36 meanings. By a judicious arrangement of four or five thousand such words, one produces what is known as a party platform.

A New Orchid.
Christian Science Monitor: Report comes from the royal horticultural show in London of a new orchid that can not be seen by the naked eye. Usually it is the price, and not the orchid, however, that is out of sight.

Happy Marines.
Baltimore Sun: There is a very happy corporal of the marines in China who, while serving as a member of the Shanghai defense force, was informed that he had fallen heir to a fortune in Seattle valued at $1,000,000. Naturally, he will remain with the marines no longer than is necessary. And while thinking of good luck among the marines in China it is natural to think of those other marines in Nicaragua. Perhaps this recent occurrence will prove to be an inspiring thing to them. They haven't yet caught Sandino and they aren't likely to. But isn't it just possible that if they wait long enough they too may be fortune's favorite. That is, maybe they will inherit him.

You Can Move the Furniture to Escape a Leak, but Why Not Patch the Roof?

By ROBERT QUILLEN

THE man who has a headache seldom is content to await discovery of the cause. He wants something to relieve the pain.

The discovery and correction of causes is a slow business and requires more patience than ordinary men possess. If immediate relief is impossible, men continue to suffer rather than exert themselves to obtain relief on some distant tomorrow.

Because the harvest will be a long time coming, men refuse to plant the seed.

The ills and wrongs that trouble mankind can not be corrected in a day. Well, then; why bestir ourselves? Let us sit still and complain.

Throughout the ages laboring men have complained of poverty and hardship. What explains the ills they suffer? The simple fact that laboring men are many. If they were fewer, the world would bid against itself for their services and their purses would be full.

The solution of their problem is obvious. Bear fewer children; reduce their numbers, and the thing is done. But relief thus obtained would be a long time coming. They can't think in terms of tomorrow. The pain is now. If there is no present relief, why trouble about tomorrow. Tomorrow belongs to posterity; let it solve its own problems.

If imbeciles and criminals are not permitted to produce their kind, the world of tomorrow will be free of imbeciles and criminals. But that will not mend matters today. Let us relieve the pain as best we can and leave the cause undisturbed. There's no fun in long-range firing; you can't see results.

The institution of marriage is threatened. Young people marry lightly; tire of the experiment, and separate. In a little while they may be mating for a season, as cattle do.

What can society do? Well, laws can relieve the pain. If tomorrow doesn't matter, society can cover the sore and pretend it isn't there.

But there is another way. Those who will marry tomorrow are children now. They are pottery in the making, to be shaped this way or that. They are fertile ground to receive the seed of decent morality or sex-ridden folly.

If the old dog kills sheep, there's nothing you can do except chain him. But you can train the pups.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

An American Abroad.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Being an American abroad, my interest in American affairs continues with enthusiasm despite delayed news of the trend of events. I am glad to state that a great deal of news comes to me from the columns of The Post.

Cartagena, Colombia, June 11.

Boy, 11, Gets Fifteen Years.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I note in your issue of today the headline, "Boy, 11, Given Fifteen Years for Killing Playmate."

Is it possible in this supposedly most enlightened age of the world's existence such a thing could be?

An 11-year-old orphan boy sentenced to a term of fifteen years in the penitentiary! To my mind there could be no circumstances connected with the killing of his companion, at the age of 11 years, that could justify such a verdict. An orphan boy, born with we know not what inherited traits from his parents, and evidently no friend to help this unfortunate and unhappy child. At the end of fifteen years in a penitentiary, necessarily associated with those steeped in crime, he will be released at the age of 26, broken in heart and spirit, embittered at the cruel injustice of such a sentence—and be prepared in such a school, in every way, then to be a menace to his fellow men.

Is there not some one to show the "quality of mercy" and have this child placed where and with whom he may be made to understand the horror of the deed, not by cruelty, but with kindness, gentleness and love? The jury deliberated one hour and a half! Was there a father among them? Surely executive clemency should be brought to intervene.

Growth Of Air Mail.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The Washington Post is to be congratulated on sponsoring the airplane model contest, which is arousing such a healthy interest in aviation, which will come into its fullness before your boy contestants reach their majority.

This youthful interest in aviation is encouraging and much of it has centered around the air mail service, backbone of our civil aviation. Some figures of what air mail is accomplishing today may prove interesting to the boy contestants and the public generally.

Within the next 24 hours airplanes on 23 routes will traverse 38 States, fly 25,000 miles (around the world each day). These mail planes carry an average of three tons of mail, or 240,000 letters, daily. Air mail averages 100 miles an hour. Planes are flown night and day. There are now 7,500 miles of lighted airways whose beacons guide the pilots from the Pacific to the Atlantic and from the Twin Cities to the Gulf. Since the air mail service was inaugurated the planes have flown 21,000,000 miles. The mail planes have a record of "on time" arrivals comparable to that of trains, and the United States air mail is the only successful nonsubsidized air mail system in the world.

Air mail and express are working some revolutionary changes in American business methods. For instance, within the next 24 hours air mail will transport $24,000,000 in checks and negotiable securities from all parts of the country to New York, one to three days' delivery time saved. Along with such valuables go a wide diversity of commodities ranging from millinery to 350-pound metal shipments.

Achievements of air mail around which this country is building its aviation development prompted Lindbergh to write: "I am proud to have done it for America. My reward will be your continued use of air mail."

However, air mail is not rapidly increasing its volume because of sentiment, but because the public recognized that 100 miles an hour mail transportation is the rule of the day.

HAROLD CRARY,
American Air Transport Association.

SMART SHEEP DOGS.

Probably the most intelligent dog in the world is the real Scotch collie. He is not the long-nosed, brown and white type popular in America, but of a sturdier build, black and white in color and with a head resembling that of a St. Bernard or a fine setter.

What can he do? Almost anything except talk, keep book and wash the dishes. Read, for instance, this description in the Farm Journal of an exhibition of sheep herding given by the four prize dogs of James Scott, famous Highland trainer:

"First, eight white-faced ewes were turned loose at one end of the field. One dog was released at the other end. He went the length of the field and brought the ewes back to the point he started from.

"The dog didn't stop at that. He took the ewes back to the end of the field where they were first released, then to the center of the field and penned them.

"Again the ewes were released and ten black-faced ewes were mixed with them. The dog separated blacks and whites and penned each bunch in the center of the field.

"Once more the blacks and whites were mixed and the dog was called to cut one sheep and keep it from joining the flock—a tough job for a dog. But the dog did it without trouble.

"Then Scott called upon three dogs to drive the flock—a fourth dog crept in front to set the pace for the ewes.

"Not once did a dog bark during the trial. And not once did Scott yell at a dog. When directions were necessary, he would whistle, or wave his hand, or make a sort of hissing noise."

JUSTICE SUPPRESSES MRS. COLBY'S MOTION

Affidavit Assailing Former Secretary "Scandalous," Says His Lawyer.

New York, June 29 (A.P.).—An affidavit of Mrs. Nathalie S. Colby in a suit to collect $16,500 back alimony from Bainbridge Colby, former Secretary of State, was ordered suppressed by Supreme Court Justice Valente today, after Nathan Burkan, Colby's counsel, characterized the instrument as "scandalous and irrelevant."

The justice pointed out that Colby's counsel had offered to provide Mrs. Colby with a bill of particulars of the case, but that she had "chosen to ventilate her grievances against the defendant at great length under pretext of a motion for a bill of particulars."

In his answer to the alimony suit which began last March, Colby declared that their separation agreement was voided by his wife when she wrote a novel in which one of the characters, he said, was clearly meant for himself and held him up in an unfavorable light. Mrs. Colby then moved for a bill of particulars.

TWO FLY TO LINER, STARTING WORLD RACE

Plane Taken With Mears and Collyer; Return in 23 Days Is Goal.

New York, June 29 (A.P.).—John Henry Mears and Capt. Charles B. D. Collyer, skywriting pilot, were bound for Europe tonight on the first lap of what they hope will be a new speed record circling the Globe.

Mears and Collyer took off from New York Harbor in a seaplane at 5 a. m. today and landed at sea beside a pilot boat, which placed them on board the liner Olympic at 5:45 a. m.

Unlike the present record holders, Edward Evans, Detroit sportsman, and Linton Wells, newspaper man, and two Japanese travelers who raced each other around the world, going in opposite directions, Mears and Collyer are taking an airplane with them. The others used ships, planes, trains and whatever other means they could engage along the route.

Evans and Wells circled the Globe in 28 days 14 hours 36 minutes and 5 seconds in 1926, bettering Mears' 1913 record by 7 days. Mears hopes to be back in New York in 23 days.

"It took my lawyers about two years to complete the legal arrangements for establishing this trust fund. I believe it is the first fund of its kind."

Since the failure of his publishing venture young Vanderbilt has continued in newspaper work despite the disapproval of his parents, Gen. and Mrs Cornelius Vanderbilt. He has been writing for syndicates and magazines and has also been working on several books. Although his family home is in New York, young Vanderbilt has been living on a ranch near Reno, Nev.

Didn't Visit Family.

"I was in New York the other day," he said, "but my parents expressed no desire to see me, so I did not visit with the family. I do want to say, though, that in this whole matter my sister, Mrs. Henry G. Davis, has been very kind and sympathetic."

The legal details of the million-dollar trust fund have been worked out by Attorney Max Steuer, of New York, and Attorney John G. Mott, of Los Angeles, Mr. Vanderbilt said.

According to the arrangements, all of the original stockholders are to be paid practically 100 per cent on their shares. The shares had a par value of $100 each.

UTILITIES PUBLICITY BOUGHT IN MICHIGAN, WITNESS TESTIFIES

Editorial Service Was Paid $150 Monthly, A. Fischer Tells Investigators.

STATE GRANGE FOUGHT ON MUNICIPAL PLANTS

Letter Read States Small-Town Stations Were Dropping by Wayside Fast.

(Associated Press.)

Financial support given an editorial service by the Consumers Power Co. of Michigan to secure favorable public utility comment in small newspapers and to aid the power companies' fight against municipally owned power plants was revealed yesterday in the Federal Trade Commission's public utility investigation.

Alfred Fischer, of New York, former director of the Michigan committee on public utility information, testified that the Consumers Power Co. paid $150 a month to Fred D. Keister, of Ionia, to enlist the support of his editorial service, which goes to a large number of small Michigan newspapers.

Keister had written editorials on subjects suggested by him, Fischer testified.

Attack on Resolution.

One subject was an attack on a resolution adopted by the Michigan State Grange favoring municipally owned utilities, he said.

Dissemination of public utility publicity through press associations newspapers and other publications was testified to by Fischer, who wrote in one letter introduced into the record that he did some "very interesting work with officers of the Michigan Press Association," to get wider circulation of his publicity in 100 leading county weeklies.

A letter from F. A. Newton, of the Hodenpyl, Hardy Co., Inc., of Jackson, written January 7, 1925, was introduced, in which it was stated that the only real outstanding municipally owned plants in Michigan were at Lansing and Holland.

One Plant Was Success.

Newton wrote that the less said about the Holland plant the better, as it is a "successful municipally owned plant and there is no use of denying the fact."

Relative to the Lansing plant he said no information could be obtained about it, but he predicted it would eventually come to a bad end. He related how the extension of the Kalamazoo street lighting plant had been defeated by the public utilities two to one, but said the fight probably would come up again in twelve or fifteen years. The letter added that the smaller municipality-owned plants were dropping by the wayside fast.

Denies Receiving Funds.

Columbia, Mo., June 29 (A.P.).—J. S. Hubbard, executive secretary of the Missouri Press Association, in a statement today, denied the testimony of J. B. Sheridan, secretary of the Missouri committee on public utilities information before the Federal Trade Commission, that the association had received funds from Missouri utilities.

Concerning entertainment funds of the association for two conventions in St. Louis, Hubbard said in 1923 a $1,300 fund was raised by the St. Louis entertainment committee, and that $550.95, left over, was turned over to the press association. This money, he said, was contributed by paper companies and other publishers' supply concerns, one individual and three bankers. Sheridan was vice chairman of the entertainment committee.

In 1925 there were two contributions, one of $100 and one of $50, by utility companies, but after the entertainment was paid for, the unspent balance was returned to the contributors and no money was received by the press association, Hubbard said.

Mr. Sheridan, like several other former newspaper men, has carried an individual associate membership in the Missouri Press Association, and has always been regarded as a loyal friend of the newspapers, Hubbard said.

"While it is true that he has obtained many columns of publicity, it also is true that through his suggestion to managers of utilities the paid space in newspapers of the State has run into many thousands of dollars."

HEALTH HEAD STOPS DANCE "MARATHON"

460th Hour of Competition Is "Deadline;" 9 Couples Still Seek $5,000 Prize.

New York, June 29 (A.P.).—An ultimatum from Dr. Louis I. Harris, city health commissioner, tonight brought an agreement that a "marathon" in which dancing couples have participated in Madison Square Garden for nineteen days should end at 2 o'clock Saturday morning, the 460th hour.

Nine couples of the 91 which started June 10 still were shuffling along more or less languidly when Milton E. Crandall, promoter, and Harold Dillee, booking agent for the Garden, agreed to end the contest.

Dr. Harris' decision resulted from information that Frank M. Quinn, who dropped out of the marathon June 21, was unconscious in a Wilkes-Barre, Pa., hospital.

Crandall said that he had not decided what disposition would be made of the $5,000 prize offered to the last couple to remain on the floor.

Millard Rice, Head Of Disabled Veterans

HALLIGAN IS ASSIGNED SARATOGA COMMAND

Rear Admiral Will Succeed Capt. Harry E. Yarnell Aboard Aircraft Vessel.

Rear Admiral John Halligan, jr., chief of the Bureau of Engineering, Navy Department, has been appointed to succeed Capt. Harry E. Yarnell as commanding officer of the new naval aircraft carrier Saratoga, and will go to Pensacola, Fla., for a course of instruction in aviation at the Naval Air Station July 5. Capt. Yarnell's next assignment is not announced.

Rear Admiral Halligan was appointed chief of the Bureau of Engineering in October, 1925. He was born in South Boston in 1876, and was appointed a naval cadet from Massachusetts in 1894. He was graduated at the head of his class in 1898, and saw active service on the Brooklyn during the battle of Santiago de Cuba in the Spanish-American War.

During the World War he served as aid on the staff of the commander of the patrol force of the Atlantic Fleet, and later as chief of staff to the commander of the United States naval forces in France.

From 1909 to 1912 he served in the design division of the Bureau of Engineering and during that period was ordered to England for special duty in connection with the study of turbine machinery. He was engineer of the Atlantic Fleet 1914-1915, and was head of the engineering post graduate school at the Naval Academy.

In November, 1920, he was assigned to duty in charge of the naval engineering experimental station at Annapolis, Md., until 1923. He later attended the Naval War College, Newport, R. I.

Courtney's Sea Hop Now Set for Today

Horta, Island of Fayal, Azores, June 29 (A.P.).—A broken part in the dynamo, which gives power to the wireless equipment of Capt. Frank T. Courtney's Dorner-Napier Whale, today caused postponement until tomorrow of the second leg of his transatlantic flight from Portugal to the United States via Halifax.

The crew had found the wireless so all-important as a direction finder yesterday when they were flying above the clouds, that they felt there must be no possibility of failure in this part of their apparatus on the long hop to Halifax. The broken part was only a small piece of metal, but a duplicate could not be obtained here.

AMBASSADOR MORROW DEPARTS FOR MEXICO

Concludes Ten-Day Visit to U. S.; Confers With Kellogg and Borah.

Mr. Morrow has been closeted with Secretary Kellogg for the last two days, but took time yesterday to visit Secretary Hoover to pay his respects and to callon Senator Borah, chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee, with whom he discussed Mexican affairs.

Mr. Morrow came to Washington about ten days ago and served with Secretary Kellogg as host to Capt. Carranza, the Mexican aviator, who flew from the Mexican capital to this city. Mr. Morrow's visit here was made the occasion for submitting some first-hand reports to Secretary Kellogg about United States-Mexican relations, which have materially improved since the New York financier was appointed Ambassador.

Rev. Dr. John E. Briggs Will Talk on Candidates to Fifth Church Parishioners.

Union Vesper Devotions Arranged by Protestants at Chevy Chase.

The chances of Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover, a Quaker, and Gov. Alfred E. Smith of New York, a Catholic, being elected to the Presidency of the United States, as seen by a Baptist minister, will be enumerated tomorrow evening by the Rev. John E. Briggs, pastor of the Fifth Baptist Church.

As a prelude to his evening sermon, Dr. Briggs will briefly review the political question of the hour, under the title of "Hoover vs Smith." In a recent sermon, the pastor denounced the New York Governor on account of the "wetness" of the Democratic standard bearer. Dr. Briggs who recently returned from the Baptist World Alliance at Toronto, Canada, will recount the happenings at the convention at the morning service. The evening service will be held at 8 o'clock Following his address on the political situation, Dr. Briggs will preach on the topic, "The Two Anointings at Simon's House."

The second of a series of outdoor Sunday evening song services will be held at 7 o'clock tomorrow evening in the Sylvan Theater of the Washington Monument Grounds, under the auspices of the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church. The ceremonies will consist of a half hour's song service, a brief address by the Rev. Joseph R. Sizoo, pastor of the church, and a musical program.

Dr. Sizoo will also preach at the 11 o'clock service in the church. He will have as the theme of his sermon, "Who Owns America?"

Pastors to Exchange Pulpits.

The Rev. Harvey Smith, pastor of Columbia Heights Christian Church, and the Rev. Benjamin H. Melton, pastor of the Ninth Street Christian Church, will exchange pulpits for the morning service. Before accepting the call of the Columbia Heights Church, Dr. Melton was for many years connected with the Ninth Street Church.

"Do Washington Women, Young and Old, Tire of Being Loved by Men?" will be answered by the Rev. E. Hez Swem, the pastor, at the evening service of the Centennial Baptist Church. Dr. Swem will also occupy the pulpit at the morning service and will preach on the subject, "Taken."

The Rev. Ralph E. Bailey, of Omaha, Nebr., who has just accepted the pastorate of a Cambridge, Mass., church, will fill the pulpit at the morning service in the All Souls' Unitarian Church. His subject will be "The Pattern in the Mount." A musical program will be given by Mrs. Walter K. Wilson, soprano; Charles Trowbridge Tittmann, basso, and Lewis Atwater, organist.

A celebration of the Lord's Supper will be included in the morning service at the Takoma Park Baptist Church. The sermon will be preached by the pastor, the Rev. William Earl LaRue. His topic will be "The Shrewd Stewart." Evening services of the church have been discontinued during the summer months.

The Rev. Ashley C. Chappell, pastor of the Central Church of Asheville, N. C., will preach at the morning service of the Mount Vernon Place M. E. Church South. His subject will be "Are We Making Progress?" At the evening service, the pulpit will be filled by the pastor, the Rev. William A. Lambeth, who will have as his sermon theme, "Interpreters of Christ." The meeting of the Junior Congregation in the Sunday School auditorium will be addressed by Barber C. Palmer, whose subject will be "God's Plan for the Young Life."

Pastor of Largest Church Visitor.

The minister of the largest Congregational church in the world, the Rev. J. Percival Huget, of the Tompkins Avenue Church, Brooklyn, N. Y., will occupy the pulpit at the morning and evening services of the First Congregational Church. His morning address will be on the topic, "The Call for Night." In the evening, his sermon subject will be "It Can Be Helped."

Dr W. L. Darby, executive secretary of the Washington Federation of Churches, will address the meeting of the Young Men's Class of Cavalry Methodist Episcopal Church, in the absence of the regular instructor, Dr. J. Christie. Dr. Darby will also preach at the 11 o'clock service of the Mount Pleasant Congregational Church, on the topic, "The Great Adventure."

At the morning service of the Church of the Covenant, Presbyterian, the Rev. William A. Eisenberger, acting pastor, will preach on the topic, "The Glory of Our Strength." The evening services of the church have been discontinued for the summer months.

The Rev. W. Clyde Howard, pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church, of Chicago, will be the guest preacher at 11 o'clock services of the First Presbyterian Church.

The service will be conducted by the pastor, the Rev. N. P. Patterson. Dr. Howard is regarded as one of the outstanding orators of the church's clergymen in this country. Although but 38 years old, Dr. Howard's services are in constant demand and he has delivered addresses at the leading colleges and universities of the West and Southwest.

At Other Churches.

The Rev Fay C. Martin, pastor of the Church of God, who recently returned from officiating at revival services in Indiana, will fill the pulpit at the afternoon and evening services. At the 2:30 o'clock service, he will speak on the subject, "Praying in the Holy Spirit" and at the 7:30 o'clock service, his topic will be "The Lost Christ."

"Seventy Times Seven" will be the sermon topic of the Rev. Harold Beatty, pastor of Georgetown Lutheran Church, at the morning service. At the evening worship, Dr Beatty will preach on "Getting a Fresh Look." Communion will be celebrated at both services. The Christian Endeavor society will meet at 7 o'clock.

At the Grace Lutheran Church, the Rev Gerhard E Lenski, the pastor, will preach at both the morning and evening services. His first address will be on the topic, "Other People's Faults." In the evening he will have for his subject, "Our Intentions." Dr Lenski has announced that the evening services of the church will be continued throughout the summer and that visiting preachers will fill the pulpit at these services.

A union vesper service of the Protestant churches in the vicinity of Chevy Chase Circle northwest, will be held at 7 o'clock tomorrow evening on the [illegible] of the Chevy Chase Presbyterian [illegible].

[illegible]orning service of the Chevy [illegible] Church, the ordinance of the Lord's Supper will be a part of the ceremonies. The Rev. Edward O Clark, pastor, will deliver a brief address on the topic, "He Never Quit."

The Rev. C. B. Austin, pastor, will fill the pulpit at both the morning and evening services of the West Washington Baptist Church.

standard bearer a man with a known record throughout his entire public career against measures for prohibition enforcement and who now favors the modification of the prohibition law. Because of this fact the dry forces will meet the challenge he presents in his telegram to the convention immediately following his nomination."

Raymond Robins' Statement.

Col. Raymond Robins, New York City, field representative of the Citizens Committee of 1,000, authorized the following statement:

"The results of the Democratic convention present a supreme challenge to the dry forces and all those who believe in the integrity of the Constituion of the United States. While declaring for an effort to enforce the eighteenth amendment in the platform, this convention nominated for the office of chief magistrate of the nation the leading official nullificationist under the flag.

"Alfred E. Smith is the incarnation of the forces of nullification, evasion and betrayal of the eighteenth amendment and as governor of the State of New York he has been the consistent servant of the liquor traffic of the world in its death grapple with the moral forces that wrote the eighteenth amendment into the Constitution of the United States."

"The action of the Democratic convention will be unsatisfactory to the friends of prohibition in every section of the country.

"The climax was reached when Gov. Smith indicated to the convention in his telegram of acknowledgement that he understood the way to be open for fundamental changes in the law, which he would recommend. Drys will know as well as wets how to interpret that. In our judgment he will lose ten prohibition votes for every wet he will gain whom he did not already have."

"Queers" the Situation.

"The Democratic party did the morally right and politically wise thing on the liquor question, but upon the eve of adjournment Gov. Smith did his best to 'queer the situation,'" said Edwin C. Dinwiddie, the associate chairman and executive secretary of the National Conference on Prohibition Enforcement Planks and Dry Candidates, at the adjournment of the convention today.

"The Republicans at Kansas City responded by incorporating in their platform a strong, unequivocal declaration pledging the party to such a course of action and nominating candidates for President and Vice President in complete harmony with that promise by their 'utterances, acts and records.'

Democrats' Plank Praised.

"The Democrats adopted without serious opposition a splendid deliverance and pledge on the enforcement of the eighteenth amendment and supporting legislation, and then nominated a candidate for President, whose sympathies, acts, utterances and record are against the policy his party pledges itself to enforce, and then—too late for the convention to speak further upon it—took upon himself to interpret the party promise in a way which would at least say to the enemies of prohibition that the whole force of the Presidency would be directed in favor of the return of beverage intoxicants, should he succeed at the polls in November."

The first formal action following the delivery of the Smith message to the delegates came from the two spokesmen for the Protestant churches of the South, two Democrats, who have been in the forefront of their party battle this year from its inception, Bishop James Cannon, jr., representing the Methodist Church of the South, and Dr. Arthur J. Barton, head of the Southern convention of the Baptist Church.

They issued a call for a Southern dry conference at which their anti-Smith fight will be begun actively.

The call read as follows:

"We are greatly gratified that the Democratic convention at Houston has pledged itself in specific terms to the enforcement of the eighteenth amendment and all laws enacted pursuant thereto, which of necessity includes the Volstead law.

"But, we deeply regret that the proliquor wing of the party, led by Tammany Hall, has disregarded all warnings and has challenged indeed defied the dry Democracy of the South by the nomination for President of Gov. Alfred E. Smith, the openly declared foe of existing prohibition laws as revealed by his repeated utterances and his lifelong record and reaffirmed in his telegram of acceptance to the convention.

"The only hope of preserving the ideals and the unity of Southern Democracy is for Southern Democrats to organize at once for the election of dry Democratic senatorial, congressional and State nominees for public office and for the defeat of the wet Tammany candidate for President, Gov. Smith.

"To this end a conference will be held at Asheville, N. C., between July 11 and July 18. Information as to exact date, special railroad rates and other particulars will be announced promptly."

Moody Declines to Comment.

Bishop Cannon is a resident of Richmond, Va., and Dr. Barton, of Atlanta, Ga.

Gov. Dan Moody, of Texas, who threatened for a time to present a minority prohibition plank to the convention, declined to comment on Gov. Smith's telegram.

"I haven't had time to study it carefully yet," he said, "and I shall want to consult with some of my associates before discussing it."

Other expressions from dry leaders were as follows:

Mrs. J. T. Bloodworth, former national committeewoman from Texas:

"I am confident that 98 per cent of the women of Texas will refuse to vote for Smith. During this convention women from the Methodist, Baptist and Presbyterian churches throughout the State sounded a warning to the Democratic party. Those who might have been willing enough to go along with the candidate last night, have changed now that he has seen fit to issue that statement, in direct defiance of so many Democrats."

Threat by Mrs. Nicholson.

Mrs. Jesse W. Nicholson, of Maryland, president of the National Woman's Democratic Law Enforcement League: "We dry women, and we are tens and hundreds of thousands strong, will never support a nullificationist. Whether we will vote for candidate in another party, or start a constitutionalist party, holding sacred the Constitution, we have not yet decided. But we are aroused, and we feel that talk of modification has sounded the death knell of a vigorous party."

Mrs. Larry Mills, Dallas, president Texas Women's Democratic Association: "Party can never come before principle with these dry women of my State. We can not and we will not support a candidate who, by his very telegram to the convention, thrusts up a question mark in front of his own devotion to the Constitution of his country.

"We shall call an executive meeting of the organization in Houston very soon to formulate our plans."

Oppose Modificationist.

Mrs. George Jones, San Antonio, corresponding secretary of the Texas Women's Democratic Association: "Before this convention the people of Texas declared themselves, in definite terms, against the nomination of a nullificationist or of a modificationist. Since the party has chosen to ignore those wishes and since the convention's candidate, in his first statement, has trampled under foot our cherished principles, the Democratic party need not be surprised if it does not get the support of the women of Texas."

NORWAY STARTS INQUIRY INTO SIGHTING OF PLANE

Oslo, Norway, June 29 (A.P.).—The ministry of defense tonight started a keen inquiry into a story told by fishermen who returned to Harstad from Bear Island today. They said they had seen a plane on June 18, believed to be the Latham piloted by Rene Guilbaud and carrying Roald Amundsen to the rescue of the Nobile expedition. The fishermen said the plane was flying very low and was about 24 miles northwest of Bear Island.

The government department has asked the local authorities at Harstad to question these fishermen closely. There is a possibility that the machine which they saw was the Italian seaplane piloted by Maj. Maddalena. If, however, it develops that they really sighted the Latham machine, the fact will be regarded as important because it will show that Amundsen was heading for Kings Bay instead of the eastern portions of the Spitzbergen Archipelago.

Moscow, June 29 (A.P.).—A wireless report from the Russian ice breaker Maligin said that for the third successive day bad weather had prevented scouting flights by the airplane which the vessel carries in its quest for members of the Nobile party and the missing Norwegian explorer, Roald Amundsen. The report said two attempts at flights were made today, but both had to be abandoned because of low clouds and snowstorms.

London, June 29 (A.P.).—An Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Copenhagen said that fog today rendered futile the efforts of Arctic searchers to find trace of Roald Amundsen and the five other men who flew toward Spitzbergen in a French naval seaplane on June 18. Three vessels were circling about Bear Island, the Norwegian cruiser Tordenskjold on the northwest, the Michael Sars on the northeast and the French auxiliary Quentin Roosevelt on the southeast. All reported that fog was hampering their efforts.

Young Flier Meets Death.

Mount Pleasant, Iowa June 29 (A.P.).—Roy Kauffman, 21, of Wayland, Iowa, was killed and Charles Payol, of Lomax, Ill., a pilot, was injured perhaps fatally when their plane went into a tail spin and fell 1,500 feet near Wayland late yesterday

Pepper Heads State Bar.

BOARD STARTS STUDY OF SUBMARINE SAFETY

Calls on Navy Department for List of Appliances It Now Has in Use.

The board of experts selected by Secretary of the Navy Wilbur to consider and pass on more than 4,000 ideas presented the Navy Department relative to submarine safety and salvage, convened yesterday at the Navy Building; organized by electing Dr. W. R. Whitney, Schenectady, N. Y., as temporary chairman, and arranged for secretarial assistance. Full information was requested of the Navy Department on the following subjects for investigation by members of the board

1. Methods and appliances adopted and used by the Navy in operation of submarines to protect lives of officers and crews.

2. Those adopted and used by the Navy in operation of submarines to prevent collisions.

3. Those adopted and used by it to salvage submarines in case of disaster.

The board also considered and adopted methods and forms for classification from detailed study by its individual members of the 4,150 separate papers and suggestions relative to submarines received by Secretary Wilbur and turned over yesterday to the board.

PEACE SHIP BACKER GRANTED CITIZENSHIP

Chicago, June 29 (A.P.).—Mme. Rosika Schwimmer, organizer of Henry Ford's peace ship, today won her fight for American citizenship. The United States Circuit Court of Appeals reversed a previous decree by Judge George A. Carpenter which denied her application.

The Court of Appeals ordered the granting of the petition, ruling that "a petitioner's rights are not to be determined by putting conundrums to her."

The "conundrum" was Judge Carpenter's question "If you were a nurse during a war and an enemy soldier was about to attack an American in your presence, would you take a gun and kill the enemy before he killed the American?"

Mme. Schwimmer replied that she would caution the American soldier and would even grapple with the enemy, but that she would not kill him. "I would not kill him even if he were about to kill me," she said.

"That's all," ordered Judge Carpenter. "The petition is denied."

You Need Your Church Today, Tomorrow and Every Day

MANY VISITING PASTORS TO FILL CITY'S PULPITS

Rev. Dr. T. A. Cheatem Is to Preach Sermon to Congregation at Bethlehem Chapel

OTHER CHURCH SERVICES

Visiting preachers will occupy the pulpits at services tomorrow in many of the Episcopal churches of the Capital.

The Rev. Gideon C. Montgomery, of Jessups, Md., will officiate and preach the sermon at the morning service of the Church of the Advent. Dr. Montgomery will also officiate at a morning communion service at 7:30 o'clock.

At the morning service in Bethlehem Chapel of the Washington Cathedral the Rev. Traddeus A. Cheatam, of Pinehurst, N. C., who has become temporarily associated with the cathedral as representative of the National Cathedral Association's summer work in Michigan, will preach the sermon.

The Rev. Anson Phelps Stokes, canon of the cathedral, will preach at the people's open-air evensong service at the foot of Peace Cross on the cathedral grounds at 4 o'clock. Other services of the cathedral are morning prayer and litany at 10 o'clock, preceded by a communion celebration at 7:30 o'clock in Bethlehem Chapel.

The Rev. Clarence Prentice Parker, rector of St. John's Church, Bethesda, will officiate at a communion celebration in the Chapel of the Redeemer, Glen Echo, Md., at 7:30 o'clock.

The rector also will officiate at a communion service at the Bethesda church at 8 o'clock and will preach the sermon at the regular 11 o'clock morning service.

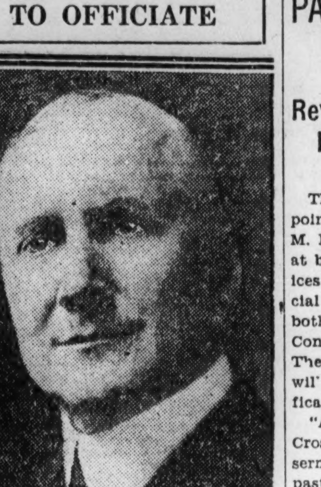
During the summer months, junior worship will be held by the rector at 9:30 o'clock on Sunday morning. Mrs. William Griffith has accepted the appointment of organist and choir director of the junior worship.

Gospel Tabernacle To Hold Celebration

An all-day celebration of the first year in the church home at North Capitol and K streets will be celebrated tomorrow by the Full Gospel Tabernacle. The pastor, the Rev. Harry L Collier, will preach sermons at the 11 o'clock and 7:30 o'clock services and the Rev. E. M. Staudt, of Baltimore, will preach at the 3 o'clock service.

Since the church moved into the North Capitol street edifice the membership has greatly increased. Numerous revival services, which have been held almost continuously during the year, have attracted hundreds of tourists to the church. The aim of the church is to convert it to a national evanglistic center and to promote missionary enterprises of every kind.

TO OFFICIATE



THE REV. HARRY L. COLLIER, pastor of the Full Gospel Tabernacle, who will officiate at anniversary services tomorrow, marking the first year that the church has been housed in its edifice at North Capitol and K streets.

ST. STEPHEN'S TO LAY ITS CORNER STONE

Bishop James E. Freeman to Officiate at Ceremonies Thursday Afternoon.

The corner stone of the new St Stephen's and Incarnation Episcopal Church, now under construction at Sixteenth, Newton and Center streets northwest, will be laid at 2:30 o'clock Thursday. The Right Rev. James E. Freeman, Bishop of Washington, will officiate at the services and deliver the address.

The church is being constructed at an approximate cost of $150,000. A campaign to raise funds for the building is now in progress. The committee in charge of the campaign reported yesterday that members of the congregation have pledged a substantial sum for the building project.

The teams, captained by the men, were reported to be leading the teams captained by the women, in gaining subscriptons. J. Elvan Mayfield's team is in the lead, with the team led by E. S. Dawson a close second and the team captained by Mrs. Charles Shaffer, third.

The Rev. George F. Dudley, rector of the church, is in charge of the building campaign. Work on the construction is progressing rapidly. It is expected that the parish hall will be completed in September and the church, in time for Christmas services.

Miss Boll Takes Ship; Plans Westward Flight

New York, June 29 (A.P.).—Miss Mabel Boll, who abandoned a projected transatlantic flight at Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, when Miss Amelia Earhart flew to Wales, has booked passage on the French liner Ile de France, sailing at midnight. Miss Boll is going to Paris, where she will seek a plane and crew for a westward flight across the Atlantic.

Boy Born at Sea Named for Liner.

S. S. Mauretania, June 29 (A.P.).—A boy was born to a Polish mother aboard the Mauretania on Wednesday night and the next noon was formally baptized Herman Maurtania Pierre Malinowski. Purser Johnson said it was the first sea christening he had known in his 24 years of experience. The rite was performed by a Roman Catholic priest.

PASTOR IS TO PREACH IN HIS NEW PULPIT

Rev. Dr. H. D. Tillman Will Lead Services Today at John Wesley Church.

The Rev. H. D. Tillman, newly appointed pastor of the John Wesley A. M. E. Zion Church, will fill the pulpit at both the morning and evening services of the church tomorro , and a special musical program will be given at both services. At the service of Lincoln Congregational Temple in the Lincoln Theater the Rev. R. W. Brooks, pastor, will preach on "Can I Believe in the Efficacy of Prayer?"

"A Clarion Call to the Soldiers of the Cross" will be the text of the morning sermon of the Rev. J. Milton Waldron, pastor, at the Shiloh Baptist Church. In the evening Dr. Waldron will officiate at a communion celebration and the admission of new members of the church. The Rev. J. A. Dames, pastor, will preach at the morning service of Campbell A. M. E. church, and the Rev. George A. Fisher, rector of St. Monica's Episcopal Church, will deliver the address in the evening.

At the Second Baptist Church the Rev. J. L. S. Holloman, the pastor, will resume his pulpit and preach at the morning and evening worships, after an absence of two weeks from the city. The Rev. George O. Bullock, pastor of the Third Baptist Church, will preach on "Behold the Man" at the morning service. In the afternoon at 3:30 o'clock Dr. Bullock will preach at McKinley Baptist Church. The Rev. William D. Jarvis, pastor, will conduct the services of the new Bethel Baptist Church.

Endeavorers' Union To Install Officers

The following officers of the District of Columbia Christian Endeavor Union will be installed at a meeting of the organization in the Fifteenth Street Christian Church at 8 o'clock Monday night: D. Roland Potter, president; Stewart Smith, vice president; Miss Thelma Spitzer, general secretary; Miss Ruth Jarvis, recording secretary; T. R. Hosick, treasurer; Mrs. L. C. Greene, intermediate superintendent; Mrs. Fred Klein, junior superintendent; A. T. Minor and Miss Olga Newquist, publicity superintendents, and Miss Helen Smith, literature superintendent.

The installation service will be conducted by the Rev. Walter F. Eagleson, pastor of Sherwood Presbyterian Church.

Bible School Enrolls Over 150 Children

More than 150 children were enrolled in the seventh annual vacation Bible School of the Central Presbyterian Church, Sixteenth and Irving streets northwest, which yesterday completed its first week. The school is open for children of the community between the ages of 4 and 16 years.

In connection with the school work the large playground maintained by the church supplies entertainment for the children in leisure hours. The playing is supervised by Claude W. Kniseley, Paul B. Selbe, Floyd Owen and Marvin Noell.

Albright Memorial Services at Milton

Members of the Albright Memorial Evangelical Church and officers and teachers of its Sunday school will attend outdoor religious exercises at Central Oak Heights, West Milton, Pa., on July 28 until July 30. Central Oak Heights is the scene of religious exercises of the church each summer.

The local party will leave the Albright Church, Fourth and Rittenhouse streets northwest, by motor. On July 29, they will participate in exercises marking the dedication of a new building at the heights, at which addresses will be made by Bishop L. H. Seager and E. W. Praetorious. E. H. Pullman and Emmet Jester have been appointed to oversee arrangements for the local excursion.

Catholic Pilgrimage To Canada July 19

The annual pilgrimage of Washington Catholics to the Shrine of St. Anne de Beaupre, in Quebec, Canada, will leave the Union Station at 6 o'clock on the evening of July 19. The party is scheduled to visit Buffalo and attend mass at the Shrine of Our Lady of Victory, of which the Rev. Mgr. Neilson H. Baker is in charge.

The party will then visit Niagara Falls, Toronto and Montreal, where a service will be conducted by Brother Andre, known to thousands as "The Miracle Man of Montreal." The feast day of St. Anne, July 26, will be spent at the Shrine of St. Anne de Beaupre. H S. O'Neill, of 1407 W street northwest, is in charge of arrangements for the pilgrimage.

Clergymen to Tell Of Recent Convention

Reviews of the Northern Baptists' recent convention at Detroit and the Baptist World Alliance, which was held in Toronto, Canada, will be given by clergymen who attended the meetings at a meeting of the Baptist Ministers Conference at 11 o'clock Monday morning in Calvary Baptist Church.

The Rev. William Earl La Rue, president of the conference, will serve as chairman. The Rev. Perry L. Mitchell is secretary. The meeting will be the last assembly of the conference until the fall.

Three Churches Join In River Excursion

Parishoners of the Nativity, the Resurrection and Annunciation Episcopal Chapels and the Grace Episcopal Church, will hold excursions to Marshall Hall today. The programs will be in charge of the clergymen of the various parishes, the Rev. Enoch M. Thompson, the Rev. C. K. P. Cogswell and the Rev Meade Bolton MacBryde

The proceeds will go to benefit the mission chapel of the Resurrection at Fifteenth and Gales streets northeast.

Rival Boxing Promoters At War

...ommission to Settle Controversy on Tuesday.

By JACK FARRELL.
...ial to The Washington Post.

NEW YORK, June 29.—Another clash impends between those two rival fistic impresarios, Tex ...ard and Humbert J. Fugazy, over ...rity rights to the services of Tommy ...ghran, the industrious world's light ...yweight champion. It is due to be ...ght out on the floor of the New ...rk State Athletic Commission next Tuesday.

Fugazy wants Loughran to fight Leo Lomski on August 8, at Ebbets Field, Brooklyn. Rickard, through Jess McMahon, his matchmaker, will demand that Tom fulfill his contract to box Jimmy Slattery for the title before he discharges his obligations to Fugazy. The champion says, and quite emphatically, that he will not box Slattery before September and that the Lomski fight must get the right of way.

Loughran is signed o meet Pete Latzo, the Scranton miner, in a title fight at Wilkesbarre, Pa., on July 16. He will point out to the commission that he has not only whipped Slattery already, but that he was all set to fight him again this week and Jimmy, claiming an injured hand, withdrew from the bout, Armand Emanuel substituting.

"I don't think," said Loughran today, "that the commission will take sides against me in this matter because I think I proved that I have never tried to duck a fight and that I have been as active as, if not more so than any other man who ever held the title."

The commission's insistence that Loughran fight Slattery has aroused much curiosity along Tin Ear Row, ...nce the Buffalo lad has had two shots ...the 175-pound title already and has ...n down badly on his assignment ...h time. He was knocked out by Ber...ach and defeated by Loughran. ...has done little or nothing since the ...ughran defeat but wait for a return bout.

Loughran, incidentally, collected $4,000 for defeating Emanuel last night. This is the smallest purse he has ever received since becoming champion.

Matchmaker McMahon tried to arrange a match between Emanuel and Leo Lomski today, but Armand's father-manager refused to talk terms. He thinks the boys can do much better, financially, out on the Pacific Coast than they can here.

Jockey Knight Hurt Badly at Fairmount

Collinsville, Ill., June 29 (A.P.).—Jockey Melvin Knight, 17, of Gooding, Idaho, was critically injured today when his horse, Bond Slave, turned a somersault in the fifth race at the Fairmount track. Hospital attendants said he suffered a severe concussion of the brain.

G. U. NET PAIR IN COLLEGE FINALS

Pare-Mesmer Play for Title; East vs. West Clash in Singles.

PHILADELPHIA, June 29 (A.P.).—Ben Gorchakoff, a youth from the Far West, wearing the colors of Occidental College, Los Angeles, and a lad from the East, Julius Seligson, Lehigh University, clash tomorrow in the final of the singles of the national intercollegiate tennis championships, as a result of semifinal victories today.

The doubles final will bring together the Georgetown University team of Fred Mesmer and Emmett Pare, and the winner of the match between Ralph McElvenny and Alan Herrington, of Stanford and T. Clines and W. Clines, of St. Xavier College, of Cincinnati. The Stanford pair was leading the St. Xavier team, 6—1, 6—1, 3—1, when a torrential rainstorm halted play today. It will be played off tomorrow before noon.

Gorchakoff entered the final round when he defeated the agile Berkele Bell, of the University of Texas, 6—3, 8—6, 6—2, while Seligson scored a sensational five-set triumph over John Van Ryn, of Princeton, who was seeded No. 1 in the tournament. The scores were 2—6, 6—3, 6—4, 2—6, 6—3.

Mesmer and Pare advanced to the doubles final by defeating the Harvard team of H. B. Whitbeck, jr., and M. T. Hill, 6—3, 8—6, 6—2.

The Seligson-Van Ryn tussle was by far the most hotly contested of the tournament. It was a duel between two players who counted on steadiness as their most deadly weapon. Seligson, the steadier player, won.

Bartlett Plays Winter In Transmississippi

Wakonda Club, Des Moines, Iowa, June 29 (A.P.).—Arthur Bartlett, Ottumwa, today won the semifinal match from Jimmie Manion, St. Louis, by 2 up, in the transmississippi golf championship tourney. Bartlett shot the record score of 71, or 3 under par, going out in 32 and overcoming a lead of 3 up gained by Manion in the morning round.

Wills Is Equal To Hardest Net Test

WIMBLEDON, England, June 29 (A.P.).—Ever since Helen Wills arrived in Europe and tales of the wonderful improvement in her prowess circulated from one tennis center to another, Great Britain has waited for just such a test as featured the American girl's victory in the Wimbledon championships today.

Faced by an unexpected combination of speed, grit and determination in Miss E. H. Harvey, sturdy English girl, the Californian called on all her marvelous stroking power to smash through to the quarter finals of the women's singles competition by a count of 6—2, 6—3.

Although Miss Harvey had not been expected to take more than the five games she won, the tenacity with which she stuck to Helen's pace forced the champion to the limit. Particularly in the first set, the thousands of spectators jammed about the center court broke into repeated bursts of applause as Miss Harvey shot fine recoveries from all parts of her own court, although they usually ended with Helen's smashing returns for winning points.

Miss Wills' drive into the last eight of the women's singles was clouded a bit, from the American viewpoint, by the unexpected defeat of Miss Penelope Anderson, of Richmond, Va., seventh ranking player, by Miss Naomi Trentham, of London, 3—6, 6—4, 6—4.

After a fine start, Miss Anderson's control lapsed before Miss Trentham's forceful driving. An adverse decision by the umpire with the games 2-all in the third set seemed to upset the American.

There was added satisfaction for the American ranks, however, in the spectacular straight-set victory of smiling John Hennessey, Indianapolis star, over the big German, Franz Frenz, 6—4, 6—1, 6—3, and Miss Elizabeth Ryan's crushing defeat of Miss Esna Boyd, of Australia, 6—0, 6—2.

Big Bill Tilden, captain of the American Davis Cup forces and the only other hope of his country in the individual tests, did not play singles today, but with his partner, Francis T. Hunter, steamed through a doubles match against the Irish pair, Scroope and O'Callaghan, winning, 6—3, 6—3, 6—2. Wilbur (Junior) Coen, of Kansas City, teamed with Norman Brookes, the veteran Australian, put out the Englishmen, Holthouse and Walcott, 6—3, 6—4, 7—5.

Keeping pace with Miss Wills in reaching the finals, Hennessey conquered the physical marvel of the tournament in Frenz, a blond German with the height and reach of Bill Tilden and the general build and power of Gene Tunney.

The tennis racket at the end of Frenz's long arm looked like a ping-pong bat. His smashing service and terrific driving had Hennessey on the dead run for a few games, but the American's all-round brilliancy dazed the German in the second set and the remainder of the match was quite easy.

As the field narrows in both divisions of the singles, Eileen Bennet, the British hope, Cecelie Aussem, of Germany, and Daphne Akhurst, Australian miss, who eliminated Helen Jacobs yesterday, all reached the last eight in the women's event along with Miss Wills and Elizabeth Ryan.

King Alfonso of Spain arrived at the courts just in time to encourage Senorita Elia de Alvarez to victory over Evelyn Colyer, the English girl, 6—4, 6—4.

In addition to Hennessey, Jacques Brugnon, one of the seven Frenchmen still in the singles combat, broke into the quarter finals with a keenly-fought victory over Gerald Patterson, veteran Australian, who won the singles title ten years ago, 6—3, 5—7, 6—4, 6—2. Henri Cochet, defending champion, advanced to the final sixteen by trouncing the Argentine, Ronald Boyd, 6—4, 6—1, 6—3.

Feature matches on the center court tomorrow will bring together Tilden and Landry, while Austin plays Lacoste. Miss Wills engages Mrs. M. Holcroft Watson and Senorita de Alvarez meets Miss L. Bickerson, conqueror of Mrs. Molla Mallory.

The Jewish Community Center has designated tonight as boys' night at the center, where a program of athletics has been arranged for the junior members and their guests.

The feature of the program will be the presentation of the famous First National moving picture, "When Babe Comes Home," starring Babe Ruth, slugging outfielder of the New York Yankees.

After the picture is run the youthful guests will witness the semifinals and the finals of the junior boxing championship of the center.

Before the entertainment begins there will be a big swim for all the boys in the pool.

Yankees' "Luck" Ascribed To Huggins' Management

Team Is Powerful Enough to Make "Breaks." Pilot Has Developed Rookies—Likely to Draw Cards as World's Series Foes.

By ALAN J. GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor).

NEW YORK, June 29 (A.P.).—Do the Yankees get the breaks? Yes, and how, you will hear it said around the rest of the American League circuit with pronounced accent. But the metropolitan experts who peek intently at the proceedings in the Yankee Stadium, attribute the team's "luck" to good management.

Probably there's a little of both. It was a break last season, for example, to have Wilcy Moore blossom forth in his first season, first as the best relief hurler in the league and then as a full-fledged moundsman. It was a break for the league that Ruth and Gehrig were able to put on a home-run act that helped divert customers when they had nothing in the pennant chase to keep them aroused.

This year George Pipgras has stepped into the box to fulfill all the nice things predicted of him after the way he curved the Pirates to a standstill in the last world's series. George has filled not only one, but two or three gaps in the Yankee pitching staff.

His sucess is attributable more to good handling and natural developments than any breaks. So it was with Lazzeri, Koenig, Gehrig and the others who have become important cogs in this championship machine.

Now, while Ruth is on a greater rampage than ever, another young hurler, Henry Johnson, is justifying the confidence and patience of diminutive Miller Huggins. Henry will help George do the heavy box work the rest of the year, if he continues to improve as he has this spring. This will give Pennock a needed rest. It seems like another break, on top of the way such reserves as Durocher, Paschal and a few others stepped in to keep things moving along earlier. But a team such as the Yankees is powerful enough to make its own breaks. Their opposition has an inferority complex.

It begins to look very much like a return engagement next October between the Yankees and St. Louis Cardinals. If so, the American League can begin preparing now for a lot of trouble.

The Pirates may have been over-awed by Ruth and company last fall but the Red Birds won't. Not with an array of boxmen led by confident and crafty old Alex, plus a defense featured by the acrobatic Mr. Frisch.

Alexander's brilliant box work was a big factor in the Cardinals' victory over the Yankees two years ago in a series that went the limit of seven games and saw the Red Birds finish with a flourish. They weren't a bit discouraged by Ruth's cannonading at St. Louis or Pennock's crafty pitching.

Alexander, Haines and Sherdel all had the stuff to keep the maulers of Manhattan pretty well in check and they will be back again with the same hooks and control, anxious to repeat, if given the opportunity.

The Yankees are a better team than they were in 1926. They weren't hitting the pace then that they have been since. But the Cardinals also seem improved. With the halfway mark in sight, they look like the best-rounded outfit in the older circuit in spite of keen opposition at every hand.

S. California Officials, Here, Seek Navy Game

Los Angeles, June 29 (A.P.).—A Christmas Day gridiron game between the United States Naval Academy and the University of Southern California at the Coliseum here this year appeared in the offing today.

It was learned that Gwinn Wilson, graduate manager of Southern California, and Warren Bovard, comptroller of the institution, now are in Washington negotiating with the Navy for a two-year agreement. The Naval Team would come West this fall and Southern California would go East under the agreement sought by the University of Southern California.

Secretary Wilbur of the Navy was reported as being favorable to such an East-West game if the Annapolis officials decide that the Midshipmen can make the trip within ten days, the holiday furlough allowed the Navy Academy undergrads.

Mrs. Horn-Mrs. Hill Reach Golf Finals

Minneapolis, Minn., June 29 (A.P.).—Mrs. Miriam Burns Horn, of Kansas City, defending champion, advanced to the final round of the women's transmississippi golf tournament by eliminating Miss Marion Turpie, of New Orleans, Southern champion, by a 5 and 4 score today.

Miss Turpie gave the champion a great struggle on the outward nine, turning two down, but found her strong game too sound on the incoming journey.

Mrs. O. S. Hill, of Kansas City, North and South champion, eliminated Patricia Stephenson, 17-year-old Minneapolis player, in the other semifinal match. She won, 8 and 6, and will meet Mrs. Horn for the title Saturday.

Cards, Outhit, Beat Pirates; Hafey Idle

St. Louis, June 29 (A.P.).—In spite of a 13-to-11 advantage in hits, the Pittsburgh Pirates lost, 9 to 4, here today, due to the timely array of extra-base wallops credited to the St. Louis Cardinals. All of the Pirates' runs came in the ninth, when P. Waner connected for a home run with the bases loaded.

The Cards collected five doubles and a triple batting Kremer out of the box in the first inning. Harper hit a pair of doubles, while Roettger slugged out the triple. Hafey was not in suit today, due to a thumb injury of yesterday.

Collett-Payson Gain Finals in Buffalo Golf

Buffalo, N. Y., June 29 (A.P.).—Glenna Collett, former national champion, and Helen Payson, of Portland, Me., will meet in the finals of the Country Club's eighth annual women's invitation golf tournament tomorrow.

Miss Collett today decisively defeated Beatrice Gottlieb, of New York, 6 and 5, while Miss Payson's opponent in the semifinal, Peggy Wattles, of Buffalo, went down to defeat, 3 and 1.

Miss Collett won the first three holes and reached the turn 4 up on her opponent. On the thirteenth Glenna placed a beautiful iron shot to within 8 feet of the pin to win the hole and the match.

Mat Champ Thrown; Foe Knocks Self Out

Boston, June 29 (A.P.).—Gus Sonnenberg was knocked unconscious in his bout with Ed ("Strangler") Lewis, heavyweight wrestling champion of the world, tonight when he sailed through the ropes and landed on his head on the floor. Sonnenberg had won the first fall, but when he was unable to continue the bout, the referee declared Lewis the winner of the match by default.

The match came to its abrupt end within a minute after the wrestlers had returned to the ring after the first fall. Sonnenberg attempted to get his famous flying tackle hold on the champion, but Lewis sidestepped, and the former Dartmouth athlete hurled over the ropes and beyond the row of newspaper men. He landed on his head and was picked up unconscious.

He was given fifteen minutes to return to the ring and continue the match, but at the end of that time he was still unconscious, and Lewis was given the fall and the match.

Sonnenberg was examined by physicians and found to be suffering from concussion of the brain. He was taken to the Trumbull Hospital.

Reds Jump on Root To Trounce Cubs, 4-2

Cincinnati, Ohio., June 29 (A.P.).—The Cincinnati Reds, who have been something like poison ivy to Charlie Root all season, took a deep breath after a short vacation and beat the Chicago Cubs today, 4 to 2.

The victory put them back into the fourth place. Three hits in the first inning and three more in the second netted three runs and enough to win while Luque held the Cubs scoreless until the eighth when they scored twice on a single, a triple by Hack Wilson and an infield out.

Barnard Disallows Nats' Protest; Twin Bill Scheduled Here Sunday

CHICAGO, June 29 (A.P.).—President E. S. Barnard, of the American League, today disallowed Washington's protest of Boston's victory in the first game of their double header Wednesday.

Washington protested the game because Phil Todt, Boston first baseman, batted out of turn. Examination of the official batting order revealed Todt's name had been listed twice, once instead of Taitt, Red Sox outfielder.

Hence Barnard refused to allow the protest, scoring the carelessness in naming the official batting order instead.

For the second time in the history of major league baseball in Washington a double-header will be played here on Sunday. The Nats and the Red Sox will clash in a twin bill tomorrow, starting at 2 p. m., this arrangement being necessitated by cancellation of the two games in Boston yesterday on account of rain.

Because the Nats were not scheduled to appear in Boston again this season, the transfer of the two games rained out yesterday was necessary. The only open dates on the schedule of both teams are from September 11 to 14, inclusive, but President Griffith of the Nationals deemed it inadvisable to further postpone the two games. One game will be played off during September, however. Two years ago, Washington and Cleveland engaged in a double-header here on Sunday, marking the first twin bill played here on a Sabbath.

G. U. Golf Star In College Finals

Beats Harvard Ace in Semifinals; Is Favored to Win.

By F. G. VOSBURGH
(Associated Press Sports Writer).

RYE, N. Y., June 29.—The battle for the national intercollegiate golf championship, in quest of which 86 collegians from all parts of the country started out on Tuesday, simmered down tonight to a duel between Maurice J. McCarthy, jr., Georgetown student from Brooklyn, and Jack Roberts, Yale star from Utica.

This pair alone survived today's gruelling play, part of which was held in a drenching rain. Tomorrow they will fight it out for the championship in a 36-hole match over the tricky, well-trapped fairways of the Apawamis Club.

While McCarthy was shooting exactly par golf to eliminate Joe Morrill, Harvard, 4 and 3, Roberts put out Mark Stuart, of St. John's College, Brooklyn, by 2 and 1.

Earlier in the day McCarthy entered the semifinal round by decisively defeating John Ames, captain and sole remaining representative of the championship Princeton Team, by 5 and 3.

Morrill had earned the right to play McCarthy by downing Alfred G. Sargent, of Ohio State, the last surviving non-Easterner in the tournament, 3 and 2.

Roberts gained the semifinal by scoring over J. S. Beale, of Schenectady and Union College, 3 and 2, while Stuart produced a sensation in crushing John Williams, of Williams College, 6 and 5. It was Williams who yesterday gained a reputation by eliminating the defending champion, Watts Gunn, of Georgia Tech.

McCarthy, a sophomore of Georgetown, had never competed for this intercollegiate crown before, but played with all the coolness of a veteran campaigner despite the handicaps of rain and puddle-strewn fairways. He has had more than his share of golfing experience, however, as his father is the professional at the old Flatbush Club, and he has been swinging the clubs ever since he can remember. A few days ago he was runner-up to Eugene Homans, for the Metropolitan amateur championship.

Roberts learned his golf at the Yahnundasis Club in his home town of Utica. He will be a senior at Yale next year. Never before did he get so far in a tournament that meant so much.

McCarthy today was matched against the most powerfully built golfer of all those who entered. Joe Morrill, of Harvard, 200-pound husky, who was an end on the Crimson Football Squad and one of the best goal guards in the history of Harvard hockey, carried a tremendous wallop from the tee, but it was not enough to offset McCarthy's deadly accuracy.

McCarthy, too, is strongly built and he conceded very little to his opponent in heavy hitting.

McCarthy started off fast with a 15-foot putt for a birdie 3 on the first hole and played the first nine in 36 strokes, exactly par, to lead 1 up at the turn. On the next two holes Morrill was erratic and the lead quickly increased to 3 up. After McCarthy had taken the fourteenth with the aid of a perfect approach he was dormie 4 and the best Morrill could do on the next was a half, which was not enough.

Indians Win in 9th As Wild Throws Aid

Chicago, June 29 (A.P.).—Three successive hits, a wild throw by Barrett and a wild pitch by Connally enabled Cleveland to score three runs in the ninth inning and defeat the White Sox, 9 to 8, today.

George Grant, Cleveland's youthful right-hander, was hit hard by the White Sox and retired in the ninth inning, but was accredited with his seventh straight victory. He also got a single and a double. Barrett hit a homer for Chicago in the second inning with two men on and the White Sox scored six runs in the inning. Hudlin stopped the Chicago threat in the last inning after one run had been scored.

GROVE HALTS YANKEES IN NINTH

Relieves Ehmke in 6-4 Victory; Pennock Batted Out.

PHILADELPHIA, June 29 (A.P.).—The Athletics had to put down a ninth-inning rally by the Yankees here today to win the final clash of the series, 6 to 4. The game closed out the 1928 engagements of the champions at Shibe Park, with the New Yorkers having won nine out of eleven, including two out of three in the series just ended.

Combs' single, Koenig's home run and a pass to Ruth cut short Howard Ehmke's reign with one out in the ninth. Bob Grove, who has lost five out of six to the Yankees this season, entered the box to fan Gehrig and Lazzeri. Meusel slipped to first on a fumble by Hale between the two strike outs.

Only about 1,000 fans paid to see the farewell of the Yankees. The Athletics pummeled Herb Pennock for fourteen safe hits, but with clean support in the field the Yankee star would have entered the last half of the ninth with a lead of 4 to 3. The victory broke a six-game losing streak for the Athletics and reduced the Yankee lead to a mere eleven games.

Manager Ired At Catcher's Demands

Tate's Conduct Henceforth to Determine His Status.

By FRANK H. YOUNG
(Staff Correspondent of The Post).

BOSTON, June 29.—The conduct of Catcher Bennie Tate will determine whether or not he will remain a member of the Nationals. Manager Harris stated tonight in discussing the case of the little backstop, who was sent back to Washington yesterday charged with the heinous crime of asking to be allowed to work in a game.

"I rate both Muddy Ruel and Ed Kenna as Tate's superior," said Boss Bucky, "and Tate simply will have to accept this as a fact and wait for his chance. If he is willing to do this, I would be glad to have him stick with us, for I have already shown I have confidence in him as a batter by using him as a pinch hitter. On the other hand, if Tate is not satified to take conditions as he finds them, there is nothing left for me to do but get rid of him. I will see Tate in Washington when we reach there Sunday and a decision as to his future will be made then, but, as I stated before, it's distinctly up to Tate."

Tate was sent home because, according to Manager Harris, he asked permission to start behind the bat in the second game yesterday in an obnoxious manner in front of most of the players, making Harris feel, he declares, that drastic action was necessary in the interests of discipline.

In the hotel, later, Tate explained that his request was merely because he was anxious to play and was not intended as an affront, but the Nats' pilot would not accept the explanation and ordered Tate back to Washington to "cool off."

Tate's case is a sad one and has caused considerable discussion among members of the team, who agree with him that he has not received a square deal with the Nationals. Since the spring of 1924 the little receiver has given his best to the club and has had one hope after another dashed to the ground. The most recent one was the crowding of Kenna ahead of him in the ranks.

Manager Harris agrees that Tate has been unfortunate with the Washington Club, but claims that, as manager, it is up to him to use the players whom he considers best, and Tate simply has not been as good as his competitors for the job. Harris does not hold the fact that Tate is ambitious to play against him; in fact, he admired him for it, but he declares that Bennie did not make his bid in the proper manner.

There is, of course, a possibility that Tate will insist that Manager Harris either give him hope that he will be used occasionally or send him away, for Tate has been chafing at his inactivity at times ever since he joined the club.

If this proves to be the result of his Sunday conference with Boss Bucky, it is not likely that Bennie will be allowed to get out of the American League, as waivers must be obtained on him and there are several clubs who, no doubt, would be glad to grab the peppery youngster.

The Nationals left here for Philadelphia tonight, where they will play a single game with the Mackmen tomorrow before returning to their home heath for a long stay. Manager Harris had planned to call on Milton Gaston to do the flinging against the Athletics, but as today's double-header was declared off because of rain, stated tonight that it is possible he will switch to Garland Braxton, who was to have performed on the hill against the Red Sox today.

The Nationals were greatly disappointed at their showing here against Carrigan's clan. They had visions of gaining some ground in the pennant race in this series, but the best they drew from the quartet of games played was one victory.

Manager Bill Carrigan of the Red Sox this morning was advised by telegraph by President E. S. Bernard that he has been suspended for three days. He was coaching at first yesterday when Myer was chased to the showers for too strongly protesting a decision of Umpire Ormsby on a Washington twin-killing in the sixth inning of the twilight game.

The league head had said that Carrigan's actions incited the fans and were responsible for the pop-bottle throwing which followed. Heinie

Choice Leads From Start Of Race

Track Conditions Result in Cancellation of 5th, 6th Races.

AQUEDUCT RACE TRACK, June 29 (A.P.).—The Carlton Stable's Soult, odds-on favorite, had no difficulty in annexing first money in the St. James Purse, which featured a very ordinary card here today. The program was made up of claiming events and cheap horses competed. The heavy rains of the early morning converted the track into a sea of mud, and the program was reduced by many scratches.

In the St. James Purse only four competed, with Soult a heavy favorite. He was ridden by McCoy, and the boy got him away in front. He let the colt gallop along lengths in front and won by two lengths. Single Star took the place by six lengths from Anthony. The time was 1:20.

Latonia Race Track, Ky., June 29 (A.P.).—J. B. Respess' filly by Busy American—Angeline, Belle of America, showed her heels to four others in the fourth race, the best race left on the program after two others, the original fifth and sixth, had been declared off because of track conditions. The winner stamped herself as being much better than average. She beat Ben Machree four lengths, leading from the start to finish. Ben Machree was closest to her during the running of the 5½ furlongs and finished second. Gladys McClain was third.

The race was named the American Automobile Association, which organization is holding its national convention in Cincinnati, across the river. An association representative presented the filly's owner with a silver cup and the usual bouquet was handed to Jockey D. Dubois.

LATONIA, KENTUCKY, CHART, JUNE 29, 1928

WEATHER, CLEAR; TRACK, MUDDY.

FIRST RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,500. For 3-year-olds and upward; claiming. Start good. Won easily. Place driving. Went to post at 2:04. Off at 2:06. Winner, J. C. Ellis' b. g. (6), by Ormondale—Postmark. Trained by Belleu. Value to winner, $1,150; second, $294; third, $171. Time, 0:23 4-5, 0:48 2-5, 1:16 1-5.

MISS LEE	104	2	1	1^{nk}	2^{nk}	4	4	Dubois	3.10

Two-dollar mutuels paid—STAMPDALE, $3.80, $2.46, out; THE BAT, $3.78, out; GOLDEN RACKET, out.

STAMPDALE, racing in best form and well ridden, disposed of MISS LEE on first turn and, continuing gamely through stretch, was never seriously threatened. THE BAT raced restrained first part of it, came to outside through stretch and, closing well, was much the best of the others. GOLDEN RACKET made a determined bid on far turn, but began dropping back after reaching stretch. MISS LEE quit.

SECOND RACE—Five and one-half furlongs. Purse, $1,500. For 2-year-olds; claiming. Start good. Won driving. Place same. Went to post at 2:32. Off at 2:33. Winner, W. W. Williamson's br. c. (2), by Torchbearer—Lady Rachel. Trained by O. A. Bianchi. Value to winner, $1,150; second, $259.50; third, $148. Time, 0:23 4-5, 0:49, 1:03 3-5, 1:10 3-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—ST. IGNATIUS, $8.80, $4.58, $3.70; TUBEROSE, $5.90, $3.92; DOLTAIRE, $5.40.

ST. IGNATIUS, showing a liking for the footing, worked his way up strongly after first three-sixteenths and, taken to inside through stretch, rapidly wore down TUBEROSE. Latter took command immediately afer start, shook off LADY WITT on stretch turn, but weakened in final sixteenth. DOLTAIRE raced well up throughout and held on courageously in final furlong. MY HOBBY tired badly after racing close to pace midway of the stretch. COURIER raced wide for entire trip. LADY WITT retired after first half.

THIRD RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,500. For maiden 3-year-olds; claiming. Start good. Won easily. Place driving. Went to post at 3:00. Off at 3:03. Winner, Audley Farm's ch. f. (3), by Ormondale—Miss Marcella. Trained by K. S. Pence. Value to winner, $1,150; second, $225; third, $125. Time, 0:24 3-5, 0:49 2-5, 1:17 1-5, 1:46, 1:53 3-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—BETTY BUX, $7.76, $5.10, $2.96; POLLYWOG, $5.84, $3.42; HENGIST, $2.66.

BETTY BUX, away fast and escaping early interference, raced into a long lead first half and, holding on well in final quarter, won as her rider pleased. POLLYWOG suffered much interference on first turn, raced well when clear and, saving ground last two turns, was much the best of others. HENGIST forced the winner's early pace, was allowed to drop back when tiring on far turn, but came again in final furlong to outgame FIRE BIN in final stretch. Latter tired through stretch. SPOTLIGHT had no excuses. ALL RIGHTIE fell near five furlong pole.

FOURTH RACE—Five and one-half furlongs. Purse, $1,500. The American Auto Association. For 2-year-olds; fillies. Start good. Won easily. Place driving. Went to post at 3:26. Off at 3:27. Winner, J. B. Respess' b. f. (2), by Busy American—Angeline. Trained by owner. Value to winner, $1,150; second, $328.50; third, $194. Time, 0:23, 0:49 4-5, 1:03 2-5, 1:10 2-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—BELLE OF AMERICA, $2.80, $2.42, out; BEN MACHREE, $2.72, out; GLADYS McCLAIN, out.

BELLE OF AMERICA, much the best, took the lead soon after start and, opening up a gap on stretch turn, was never in danger. BEN MACHREE, always in closest pursuit of the winner, made a game bid on far turn, but was not good enough. GLADYS McCLAIN closed with a rush in final furlong to overhaul FRANCES MILWARD near end. Latter tired in stretch. NEMORE was always outpaced.

FIFTH RACE—(SUBSTITUTE RACE—One mile and seventy yards. Purse, $1,500. For 3-year-olds and upward; claiming. Start good. Won driving. Place same. Went to post at 3:53. Off at 3:58. Winner, D. D. Canfield's ch. g. (4), by Hanbridge—Nan Knocher. Trained by T. P. Hayes. Value to winner, $1,150; second, $225; third, $125. Time, 0:24, 0:49 3-5, 1:17 3-5, 1:47 4-5, 1:52 3-5.

* Field.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—WOLFY, $7.42, $4.44, $3.30; UPDIKE, $6.18, $4.38; Linger (field), 4.74.

WOLFY worked his way up on outside, appeared to have sulked after reaching the front on stretch turn but, under punishment, held on well in final drive. UPDIKE fell out of it first half, moved up slowly entering stretch and was slowly closing on winner near finish. LINGER tired in final furlong after racing to the front. KUBLAI KHAN made a good effort. GINESTRA closed well after a slow beginning. DINGO tired badly after showing most early foot. FUSS AND FEATHERS was pulled up after being beaten badly.

SIXTH RACE, (SUBSTITUTE).—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,500. For 3-year-olds and upward; claiming. Start good. Won handily. Place driving. Went to post at 4:27. Off at 4:29. Winner, Shoe String Stable's b. f. (3), by Upset—Green Pepper. Trained by J. M. Goode. Value to winner, $1,150; second, $225; third, $125. Time, 0:23 3-5, 0:48 4-5, 1:17 4-5.

* Field.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—RUNAWAY PRINCESS, $9.48, $5.66, $4.00; PERFECT MODEL, $17.14, $8.20; BEST SPADE, $3.56.

RUNAWAY PRINCESS, at home in the mud and hard hustled from start, slowly worked her way to the front and, holding on better than usual, finished with something left in reserve. PERFECT MODEL met some early interference, moved up with a rush when clear through stretch and, although going strongly, could not threaten winner. BEST SPADE was much used forcing early pace and tired at head of the stretch. SON OF MIDWAY raced well throughout. BOB JOHNSTON also met with early interference and closed strongly through stretch. SEMINOLA showed early speed, but tired badly in final stretch.

SEVENTH RACE—One and three-sixteenths miles. Purse, $1,500. For 4-year-olds and upward; claiming. Start good. Won driving. Place same. Went to post at 5:00. Off at 5:01. Winner, J. G. Chinn's b. c. Two-dollar mutuels paid—VOLE, $5.80, $4.44, $3.52; ERIC, $16.78, $7.78; PEGGY BLEDSOE, $5.04.

VOLE, far out of it in early stages, saved all possible ground on inside, continued well through stretch and outlasted ERIC in a long drive. Latter, also away slowly, worked way up swiftly on outside, near half-mile ground, cut sharply across on field when taking command on far turn, but hung in final strides. PEGGY BLEDSOE raced forwardly from start, suffered interference on far turn, came to outside through stretch and held on gamely. RAVING LADY closed more ground in final stretch. MARY CARR tired in final furlong. CLOVER CLUB was slowing up in stretch run. NANI HAWAII swerved before early footing.

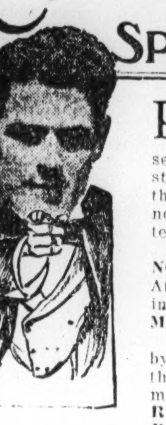
COLLYER'S COMMENT on the SPORT of KINGS

BY BERT E. COLLYER



PRETTY RUN.

Here comes the devil. Is placed in the proper spot down Latonia way, and it would seem as though another benefit affair is to be staged. Goes in the third spasm and will carry the two slugs of yours truly. If this "bird" does not score, toss the dope sheet into the lake and tell your troubles to Capt. Kinnerney.

Milt Rieser may knock out a heat with SEMINOLA in the opener, but she is a quitting hound. At a longer route, GRAND KING would be a kick in the slats. BIG SANDY is favored over MASTER in the second.

For the fourth, DOWNCAST will not be bothered by the weight and should roll home. String with the McLEAN ENTRY in the stake. BROADSIDE may upset the dope in the sixth by beating RHINOCK. The same applies to SOUTHLAND BOY in the final dash in which SUSAN REBECCA will rule the favorite.

Fair racing cards prevail in Canada. "Heimey" Neustetter, heir to something less than a million, will shoot both barrels with NICK CULLOP at Hamilton and is due to be in the pay-off line after the race.

SANTA SWEEP is also going to be hard to beat in the opening heat.

At Kenilworth, one should wait until the closing race of the aft. and then set in the works on VILLAGER. This one has a 5-point call over the opposition. The Bell Farm entry looks like ready money in the fifth, this being the feature race of the day.

"Dutch" Reuther has just wired Old Boy Waltah that ROY GIBSON will hurl a wicked set of heels over at the Fairmount Park. This seems like a genuine XXX special, as the Dutchman makes few mistakes.

Ye wekkum!

RED SOX HEA[D] SUSPENDED 3 DAYS

Shortstop Bob Reeves reported [to]day that, between the heat and added duties as "assistant left[ield]er," he is worn to a frazzle. Ma[nager] Harris planned to rest him i[n] game had this afternoon's doubl[e] header been staged.

Tate in Regretful Mood; Griffith Supports Harris

Catcher Bennie Tate told President Clark Griffith, of the Nationals, that there was nothing personal in his remarks to Manager Bucky Harris in Boston Thursday which led to the temporary suspension of the catcher and his return to Washington yesterday ahead of the team.

Tate was in a regretful mood yesterday, according to Griffith. The Washington owner was in communic[a]tion with Harris by telephone yest[er]day and announced his support [of] Harris in any disciplinary move th[at] his manager might take against Tate.

Summertime Menu Suggestions

ummer time is the season of light ds for two reasons. First, from a alth standpoint. Second, from the t that it does away with the neces y of keeping a hot oven going for or more hours a day.

uring this period of the year many r cold drinks. Milk is fast becom popular drink, both with young —in fact, it may be added to any successfully and, though there e food combinations where it is isable, they are the exceptions than the rule. Milk, butter, d green vegetables should fre all menus.

is an attractive meat for the midday meal at this time of ar. A leg of lamb should be with vegetables, sufficient vege that is, for the dinner rather ist enough to flavor the meat cooks. For cooking lamb low necessary—in exact contrast cooking of beef. Use a double roasting pan that is self-basting, and after it has partly cooked surround it with vegetables and continue the cooking until the vegetables are tender.

This may be done Saturday evening after the sun has gone down and the day has lost some of its intensity of heat.

Menu.

Iced Fruit Cup.
Vegetable in Pan.
String Beans.
Heart of Lettuce Salad with French Dressing.
Chilled Chocolate Pudding.
Whipped Cream. Cafe Noir.

The string beans will, of course, be cooked on the top of the stove, while the rest of the dinner is heating thoroughly on another burner. The accompaniments of the dinner are simple to construct, and all may be considered "hot weather food." The recipe for chilled chocolate pudding will round out the menu.

Chilled Chocolate Pudding.

Put two square of unsweetened chocolate into a double boiler and add two cups of milk. Mix a fourth cup of sugar, a fourth teaspoon of salt and three tablespoons of corn starch and when these materials are well blended add a fourth cup of milk. Add this mixture to the milk and chocolate mixture in the double boiler and cook fifteen minutes, stirring constantly until thickened and then occasionally. Add a half teaspoon of vanilla, place in sherbet glasses, chill and cover before serving with whipped cream and, if desired, a sprinkling of chopped walnuts.

Pineapple Fruit Salad.

1 apple (large)
3 oranges
1 grapefruit (fresh or canned)
2 bananas
3 peaches (if in season)
1 small bottle maraschino cherries

Cut pineapple in half (lengthwise), cut out as much of the center as possible, then place the empty halves of pineapple on a large platter so that they form two bowls, with the tops placed at opposite ends.

Mix together all the fruits with the exception of the maraschino cherries, add as much of the salad dressing as desired, place this in the pineapple bowls and then garnish the platter with crisp lettuce leaves and the cherries.

Summer Chicken Salad.

1 very small head of cabbage
½ teaspoon of celery seed
Mayonnaise dressing

Shred cabbage very fine. Wash in cold salt water, drain thoroughly and place in salad bag (or wrap in tea towel), which must be placed directly on the ice, with unopened can of chicken. These should remain on ice at least two hours. Since no marination is necessary the ingredients are combined quickly, as follows: Sprinkle celery seed over cabbage, add diced chicken and toss together lightly with at least three tablespoons of mayonnaise. Place in lettuce-lined bowl and garnish with sections of tomato radish roses, sweet pepper or pimiento strips, or sliced stuffed olives. This will serve four persons.

MONEY AT 8 PER CENT FAILS TO HALT ADVANCE

Special to The Washington Post.

New York, June 29.—Impressive gains were recorded throughout the list early in today's active stock market but the advance was checked abruptly shortly after noon by the announcement of the advancement of the call money rate from the renewal of 7½ per cent to 8 per cent, its highest level since June 2, 1921.

Many of the gains which had been piled up during the morning were reduced in a brief but active selling wave, but the recession was shallow and the forward movement soon was resumed. In the final hour almost everything on the list pointed upward and closing prices approximated the day's best. Trading was more active than at any other time this week, the day's turnover exceeding 2,200,000 shares. The more active stocks registered gains up to 8½ points.

The 7½ per cent call money renewal was not in keeping with expectations prevailing in market circles, but, while disappointing, it failed to dampen enthusiasm. Stocks were bid up with more celerity than at any previous period this week. Sentiment was influenced favorably by the further sharp contraction in brokerage loans and little interest was shown in the latest rise in rediscount holdings of the Federal Reserve system or the resumption of government bond sales.

The heaviest buying of the day was concentrated principally in the speculative leaders, notably stocks like General Motors, Allied Chemical, Du Pont, American Can, Radio, General Electric, Chrysler, Montgomery Ward, Wright, Curtiss and a few others, and in this group the largest net gains were scored. Some of these stocks lost ground after the 8 per cent money announcement, but were moving forward again strongly at the close.

General Motors had moved up to 191½ but when the shock came it soon dropped to 187¼, then turned about and moved up to close at 188, a net advance of 1½. The turnover in this stock aggregated 345,500 shares. Radio moved over a wide range in a heavy turnover, closing with a net advance of 8⅜ points. Du Pont gained 8½ points net.

Although the rails were comparatively quiet and trading among them was considerably mixed, most of them showed substantial gains on the day. Texas & Pacific scored to a new peak price of 162, a net gain of nine points. Other active stocks in this group to score good gains included Wabash, Western Maryland, Norfolk & Western, Missouri Pacific, Lehigh, Erie, Kansas City Southern, Chicago & Northwestern, St. Paul and Atchison.

The independent steels were strong in rather quiet trading, Ludlum gaining 4 points net. On the other hand, United States Steel common lost 1½. Oils, utilities, merchandising and sulphurs were strong, the rubbers steady and the coppers weak.

Atlantic Refining was twirled to a new peak at 141, holding an advance of 2½. Various rumors, including reported bids for certain holdings of this stock recently have been heard, but its rise undoubtedly is explained amply by the remarkable improvements that has taken place in the gasoline situation, looked upon as foreshadowing a prosperous year for the company. One of the rumors in circulation today had it that the Fisher Bros. were picking up all the stock they could with a view of winning control of the company from the Rockefeller group.

In foreign exchange trading conditions in sterling were changed because of the advance in call money here, compelling a widening of the difference between sterling demand and cables to ½ cent to the pound. Demand was quoted 3-16 lower at 4.87 3-16 while cables were down 1-16 to 4.87 11-16. Most of the trading was in demand bills. Slight declines occurred also in French, Belgium and German, while Dutch and Scandinavians improved. Canadian moved up a point to 99.76.

NEW YORK COTTON.

New York, June 29 (A.P.).—After making new high records for the season on new crop months early today, the cotton market eased off under realizing and selling for a reaction. October declined from 22.87 to 22.51, and closed at that figure, compared with 22.69 at the close of the previous day. The general market closed barely steady at net declines of 15 to 20 points.

Orders appeared to be fairly well divided between a continuation of the recent buying movement, and a disposition to take profits on long cotton at the start. The opening was steady at a decline of 3 points to an advance of 4 points, but early offerings were absorbed by the demand promoted by unfavorable weather and crop reports.

July soon sold up to 22.70 and December to the same price, net advances of 17 to 20 points on the more active positions, but these figures met increased offerings from one source or another.

Another private crop report was issued, placing the condition of the crop at 68.7, against 76.7 last year and the increase in acreage at 5 per cent. These figures attracted bullish comment, but appeared to have been discounted, and there may have been some selling during midday on the hope that better weather conditions would develop in the South over Sunday. Reports of high temperatures and hot winds in some sections of the Southwest brought in another spurt of buying during early afternoon, but it was supplied on rallies of 10 or 20 points. The market weakened again later under a renewal of selling for a reaction and week-end realizing. Prices reached the lowest levels of the day in late trading, July selling at 22.27 and December at 22.35, or 13 to 19 points net lower. The close was within a point or two of the lowest.

Trade interests were credited with buying some cotton as October approached the 22½ cent level during the afternoon. Reactionary sentiment was more or less in evidens during the day, attributed chiefly to the extent and rapidity of recent advances.

Exports today were 9,967 bales, making 7,446,156 so far this season. Port receipts, 5,653. U. S. port stocks, 892,005.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, June 29 (A.P.).—Harvest weather improvement led to lower prices today for wheat. Likelihood that monthly unofficial crop estimates due on Monday will prove bearish counted also as a selling incentive to the wheat trade.

Closing quotations on wheat were easy, ¾c to 1c net lower. Corn finished irregular at ⅛c decline to ½c decline, oats ⅛c to ¼c off to ¼c up, and provisions varying from 5c setback to a rise of 17c.

Influenced by nearly a complete letup in the long continued rains which have been holding back the harvest Southwest, wheat values tended downward today the greater part of the time. Showers predicted for tonight helped bring about a transient rally and so likewise did a temporary bulge in corn prices, but with export demand again slow for wheat from North America, and with the corn market flattening out in the late dealings, wheat closed at virtually the day's bottom level.

Contributing to the downward trend of the wheat market were favorable crop advices from Canada and from the American Northwest as well. In some Canadian districts wheat was reported to be already in the shot blade stage. Houses with connections Northwest were conspicious on the selling side of the market. Incidentally, news of welcome showers in the Pacific Northwest attracted notice, some dispatches current here having asserted that crops were deteriorating in that section and that the out-turn of wheat there might be much less than last year's total.

Evening up of open speculative accounts in the July delivery of corn was largely responsible for sharp advances at times in the corn market. Continued wet weather preventing cultivation of the new crop was also a bullish factor. Besides, receipts of corn were small. Price upturns, however, induced extensive profit-taking sales, and in the end the advances were about nullified. Oats fluctuated within a narrow range.

OND PRICES STEADIER IN BROADENED TRADING

tilities Issues Among Day's Strong Spots; Industrials Rather Quiet.

FOREIGN LIST IS FIRM

New York, June 29 (A.P.).—Bond prices became firmer today as trading grew in volume and held their ground when in the afternoon stocks eased off upon increase of the call money rate to 8 per cent for the first time in seven years. Time money ruled around 5¾ per cent.

Volume of sales exceeded $11,000,000, the total being one of the largest of the week, but it represented chiefly accumulated bits of trading in a wide variety of issues.

Market observers are awaiting the action of the money market after the first of the month, when interest and dividend payments shall have been made, banks will have ceased "window dressing" for a call from the Comptroller and additional funds will be available. It is expected money rates will be easier, although Nation-wide demand for Fourth of July spending money will require large funds and no great change may be noticed until the end of next week.

Utilities were among the strong spots in the list today. Public Service of New Jersey 4½s rose nearly 5 points to a new top at 124¾, closing at 123 after sagging to around 120. A feature was an 11-point advance by Brooklyn Union Gas Debenture 5½s.

Industrials were rather lightly dealt in. Dodge Brothers 6s advanced about 2 points on buying probably encouraged by denial of an injunction which would have prevented merger with Chrysler.

Grand Trunk Railway of Canada 5s, Atlanta & Birmingham 4s, Seaboard-Florida 6s and other secondary issues attracted most buying in the railroad group.

The foreign list was firm.

Bankers' Council Meets.

A meeting of the council of administration of the District Bankers Association was held yesterday, with Robert V. Fleming, president Riggs National Bank, who was elected president of the association early in the month, presiding.

The president outlined many of the plans which it is proposed will be whipped into shape by the various committees early this year and a general discussion of the work ahead was entered into by the council members.

It is understood that Mr. Fleming has selected his chairmen and vice chairmen of all committees and that he will shortly announce their appointment in order that all committees may be organized and the work which they will do get under way at the earliest possible date.

Exchange Prices Strong.

The closing session of the week on the Washington Stock Exchange was less active than on the preceding days, but the trading was interesting and prices continued strong.

While numerous odd-lot sales of bank stocks were recorded in Thursday's session, these scattered shares must have been pretty well cleaned out, for offerings yesterday were held shares of three banks. Riggs starting at 525⅛ for a lot o advanced to 527 on a follo a single share, with a tion in 1 share at 527 National Bank sold 4 shares at 257, whil Trust Co. sold

Wall Street Briefs

New York, June 29 (A.P.).—Directors of Savage Arms Co. will put into effect on July 12 the recapitalization plan approved by stockholders April 3 by which its subsidiary, the J. Stevens Arms Co. will manufacture sporting weapons and a new subsidiary will be formed to take over the electric products department. Application has been made for listing the new shares on the stock exchange.

Foreign and domestic sales of passenger cars by Dodge Bros. this year to June 23 showed a gain of 20.2 per cent over the corresponding 1927 period. Retail sales gained 57 per cent in the week ended June 23 compared with a year ago.

Operating income of the New York, Chicago & St. Louis (Nickel Plate) for May decreased $86,515 compared with a year ago to $999,315 and for five months this year was $4,453,726, a drop of $276,-702 under the same period of 1927.

Tidewater Associated Oil Co. plans expenditure of $250,000 on terminal and transshipment facilities on 5 acres of shore front property purchased on Curtis Bay, Baltimore, Md. The plant is expected to produce substantial economies in freight and handling charges.

Sales of Jewel Tea Co. for the first 24 weeks this year were $7,156,787 against $6,663,346 in the corresponding 1927 period.

The Robert Gair Co. will receive from the Container Corporation of America 20,000 shares of Class B common stock and about $3,500,000 cash for long time leases on plants, machinery, equipment and inventories of the Chicago coated board plant.

The projected merger of American Linseed Co. and the Gold Dust Corporation is expected to be delayed for a while. The right of the preferred stock to accumulated dividends is in question, and the two groups interested have not yet been able to agree on terms.

Sale of a New York stock exchange membership has been arranged for $325,000, a drop of $15,000 from the preceding transaction.

About $28,000,000 more gold from the $100,000,000 recently "earmarked" here by the Bank of France is scheduled to leave New York late tonight and tomorrow, increasing to about $257,000,000 total shipments to France since last September. French purchases of gold in this country since September, including exports and ear markings, are figured at $315,000,000.

Curb Review

New York, June 29 (A.P.).—The curb market showed renewed life today, and while a rapid upturn was checked by 8 per cent call money announced at midday, wide gains predominated at the close.

Bancitaly made a spurt of 16 points at 126½ and closed at 125. Safeway Stores gained 25 and Pines Winter Front 15 points on a small turnover. Deere soared 20 points, but lost half its gain, and Tubize was bid up 15 points, but closed 2 points net lower.

Mines were a strong feature. Noranda touched a new top at 45⅜ on a turnover of 65,000 shares. Hudson Bay Mining & Smelting had a turnover almost as large and made a small gain.

Bendix A sold up 8 points to a new high, at 132, and Evans Auto Loading A and B touched new tops. Melvine Shoe, recently active on recapitalization plans, touched a new high price at 208½, but later lost 4 points. Aluminum Limited, Sparks Withington, Palmolive and U. S. Gypsum made good gains.

Activity in the utility group was resumed. New England Public Service touched a new high, at 74, and Southwest Power & Light made a gain of 4½. United Light & Power A declined fractionally under heavy trading. Oils were sluggish.

FLOUR QUOTATIONS.

I Can Recommend---
Says University Professor

In commenting on the effect of the six-line advertisement inserted in these columns under the classification of "Wanted to Rent," Mr. E. Paulus, of 1520 H St. N.W., has this to say: "The results were entirely satisfactory. I can recommend The Post as a medium for any one desiring prompt and efficient service."

Men and women in all walks of life praise the efficacy of Post Want Ads. A stranger to the city four years ago secured his first job in Washington through The Post Help Wanted columns—today the same man gave us an advertisement to run for 30 times—he is no longer an employe, he owns the business. Read and use Post Want Ads.

Rival Boxing Promoters At War

Commission to Settle Controversy on Tuesday.

By JACK FARRELL.
Special to The Washington Post.

NEW YORK, June 29.—Another clash impends between those two rival fistic impressarios, Tex Rickard and Humbert J. Fugazy, over priority rights to the services of Tommy Loughran, the industrious world's light heavyweight champion. It is due to be fought out on the floor of the New York State Athletic Commission next Tuesday.

Fugazy wants Loughran to fight Leo Lomski on August 8, at Ebbets Field, Brooklyn. Rickard, through Jess McMahon, his matchmaker, will demand that Tom fulfill his contract to box Jimmy Slattery for the title before he discharges his obligations to Fugazy. The champion says, and quite emphatically, that he will not box Slattery before September and that the Lomski fight must get the right of way.

Loughran is signed o meet Pete Latzo, the Scranton miner, in a title fight at Wilkesbarre, Pa., on July 16. He will point out to the commission that he has not only whipped Slattery already, but that he was all set to fight him again this week and Jimmy, claiming an injured hand, withdrew from the bout, Armand Emanuel substituting.

"I don't think," said Loughran today, "that the commission will take sides against me in this matter because I think I proved that I have never tried to duck a fight and that I have been as active as, if not more so than any other man who ever held the title."

The commission's insistence that Loughran fight Slattery has aroused much curiosity along Tin Ear Row, since the Buffalo lad has had two shots at the 175-pound title already and has fallen down badly on his assignment each time. He was knocked out by Berlenbach and defeated by Loughran. He has done little or nothing since the Loughran defeat but wait for a return bout.

Loughran, incidentally, collected $4,000 for defeating Emanuel last night. This is the smallest purse he has ever received since becoming champion.

Matchmaker McMahon tried to arrange a match between Emanuel and Leo Lomski today, but Armand's father-manager refused to talk terms. He thinks the boys can do much better, financially, out on the Pacific Coast than they can here.

Jockey Knight Hurt Badly at Fairmount

Collinsville, Ill., June 29 (A.P.).—Jockey Melvin Knight, 17, of Gooding, Idaho, was critically injured today when his horse, Bond Slave, turned a somersault in the fifth race at the Fairmount track. Hospital attendants said he suffered a severe concussion of the brain.

G. U. NET PAIR IN COLLEGE FINALS

Pare-Mesmer Play for Title; East vs. West Clash in Singles.

PHILADELPHIA, June 29 (A.P.).—Ben Gorchakoff, a youth from the Far West, wearing the colors of Occidental College, Los Angeles, and a lad from the East, Julius Seligson, Lehigh University, clash tomorrow in the final of the singles of the national intercollegiate tennis championships, as a result of semifinal victories today.

The doubles final will bring together the Georgetown University team of Fred Mesmer and Emmett Pare, and the winner of the match between Ralph McElvenny and Alan Herrington, of Stanford and T. Clines and W. Clines, of St. Xavier College, of Cincinnati. The Stanford pair was leading the St. Xavier team, 6—1, 6—1, 3—1, when a torrential rainstorm halted play today. It will be played off tomorrow before noon.

Gorchakoff entered the final round when he defeated the agile Berkele Bell, of the University of Texas, 6—3, 8—6, 6—2, while Seligson scored a sensational five-set triumph over John Van Ryn, of Princeton, who was seeded No. 1 in the tournament. The scores were 7—6, 6—3, 6—4, 2—6, 6—3.

Mesmer and Pare advanced to the doubles final by defeating the Harvard team of H. B. Whitbeck, jr., and M. T. Hill, 6—3, 8—6, 6—2.

The Seligson-Van Ryn tussle was by far the most hotly contested of the tournament. It was a duel between two players who counted on steadiness as their most deadly weapon. Seligson, the steadier player, won.

Bartlett Plays Winter In Transmississippi

Wakonda Club, Des Moines, Iowa, June 29 (A.P.).—Arthur Bartlett, Ottumwa, today won the semifinal match from Jimmie Manion, St. Louis, by 2 up, in the transmississippi golf championship tourney. Bartlett shot the record score of 71, or 3 under par, going out in 32 and overcoming a lead of 3 up gained by Manion in the morning round.

WIMBLEDON, England, June 29 (A.P.).—Ever since Helen Wills arrived in Europe and tales of the wonderful improvement in her progress circulated from one tennis center to another, Great Britain has waited for just such a test as featured the American girl's victory in the Wimbledon championships today.

Faced by an unexpected combination of speed, grit and determination in Miss E. H. Harvey sturdy English girl, the Californian called on all her marvelous stroking power to smash through to the quarter finals of the women's singles competition by a count of 6—2, 6—3.

Although Miss Harvey had not been expected to take more than the five games she won, the tenacity with which she stuck to Helen's pace forced the champion to the limit. Particularly in the first set, the thousands of spectators jammed about the center court broke into repeated bursts of applause as Miss Harvey shot fine recoveries from all parts of her own court, although they usually ended with Helen's smashing returns for winning points.

Miss Wills' drive into the last eight of the women's singles was clouded a bit, from the American viewpoint, by the unexpected defeat of Miss Penelope Anderson, of Richmond, Va., seventh ranking player, by Miss Naomi Trentham, of London, 3—6, 6—4, 6—4.

After a fine start, Miss Anderson's control lapsed before Miss Trentham's forceful driving. An adverse decision by the umpire with the games 2-all in the third set seemed to upset the American.

There was added satisfaction for the American ranks, however, in the spectacular straight-set victory of smiling John Hennessey, Indianapolis star, over the big German, Franz Frenz, 6—4, 6—1, 6—3, and Miss Elizabeth Ryan's crushing defeat of Miss Esna Boyd, of Australia, 6—0, 6—2.

Big Bill Tilden, captain of the American Davis Cup forces and the only other hope of his country in the individual tests, did not play singles today, but with his partner, Francis T. Hunter, steamed through a doubles match against the Irish pair, Scroope and O'Callaghan, winning 6—3, 6—3, 6—2. Wilbur (Junior) Coen of Kansas City, teamed with Norman Brookes, the veteran Australian, put out the Englishmen, Holthouse and Walcott, 6—3, 6—4, 7—5.

Keeping pace with Miss Wills in reaching the finals, Hennessey conquered the physical marvel of the tournament in Frenz, a blond German with the height and reach of Bill Tilden and the general build and power of Gene Tunney.

The tennis racket at the end of Frenz's long arm looked like a ping-pong bat. His smashing service and terrific driving had Hennessey on the dead run for a few games, but the American's all-round brilliancy dazed the German in the second set and the remainder of the match was quite easy.

As the field narrows in both divisions of the singles, Eileen Bennet, the British hope, Cecelie Aussem, of Germany, and Daphne Akhurst, Australian miss, who eliminated Helen Jacobs yesterday, all reached the last eight in the women's event along with Miss Wills and Elizabeth Ryan.

King Alfonso of Spain arrived at the courts just in time to encourage Senorita Elia de Alvarez to victory over Evelyn Colyer, the English girl, 6—1, 6—4.

In addition to Hennessey, Jacques Brugnon, one of the seven Frenchmen still in the singles combat, broke into the quarter finals with a keenly-fought victory over Gerald Patterson, veteran Australian, who won the singles title ten years ago, 6—3, 5—7, 6—4, 6—2. Henri Cochet, defending champion, advanced to the final sixteen by trouncing the Argentine, Ronald Boyd, 6—4, 6—1, 6—3.

Feature matches on the center court tomorrow will bring together Tilden and Landry, while Austin plays Lacoste. Miss Wills engages Mrs. M. Holcroft Watson and Senorita de Alvarez meets Miss L. Bickerson, conqueror of Mrs. Molla Mallory.

Yankees' "Luck" Ascribed To Huggins' Management

By ALAN J. GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor).

NEW YORK, June 29 (A.P.).—Do the Yankees get the breaks? Yes, and how, you will hear it said around the rest of the American League circuit with pronounced accent. But the metropolitan experts who peek intently at the proceedings in the Yankee Stadium, attribute the team's "luck" to good management.

Probably there's a little of both. It was a break last season, for example, to have Wiley Moore blossom forth in his first season, first as the best relief hurler in the league and then as a full-fledged moundsman. It was a break for the league that Ruth and Gehrig were able to put on a home-run act that helped divert customers when they had nothing in the pennant chase to keep them aroused.

This year George Pipgras has stepped into the box to fulfill all the nice things predicted of him after the way he curved the Pirates to a standstill in the last world's series. George has filled not only one, but two or three gaps in the Yankee pitching staff.

His sucess is attributable more to good handling and natural developments than any breaks. So it was with Lazzeri, Koenig, Gehrig and the others who have become important cogs in this championship machine.

Now, while Ruth is on a greater rampage than ever, another young hurler, Henry Johnson, is justifying the confidence and patience of diminutive Miller Huggins. Henry will help George do the heavy box work the rest of the year, if he continues to improve as he has this spring. This will give Pennock a needed rest. It seems like another break, on top of the way such reserves as Durocher, Paschal and a few others stepped in to keep things moving along earlier. But a team such as the Yankees is powerful enough to make its own breaks. Their opposition has an inferiority complex.

It begins to look very much like a return engagement next October between the Yankees and St. Louis Cardinals. If so, the American League can begin preparing now for a lot of trouble.

The Pirates may have been overawed by Ruth and company last fall but the Red Birds won't. Not with an array of boxmen led by confident and crafty old Alex, plus a defense featured by the acrobatic Mr. Frisch.

Alexander's brilliant box work was a big factor in the Cardinals' victory over the Yankees two years ago in a series that went the limit of seven games and saw the Red Birds finish with a flourish. They weren't a bit discouraged by Ruth's cannonading at St. Louis or Pennock's crafty pitching.

Alexander, Haines and Sherdel all had the stuff to keep the maulers of Manhattan pretty well in check and they will be back again with the same hooks and control, anxious to repeat, if given the opportunity.

The Yankees are a better team than they were in 1926. They weren't hitting the pace then that they have been since. But the Cardinals also seem improved. With the halfway mark in sight, they look like the best-rounded outfit in the older circuit in spite of keen opposition at every hand.

S. California Officials, Here, Seek Navy Game

Los Angeles, June 29 (A.P.).—A Christmas Day gridiron game between the United States Naval Academy and the University of Southern California at the Coliseum here this year appeared in the offing today.

It was learned that Gwinn Wilson, graduate manager of Southern California, and Warren Bovard, comptroller of the institution, now are in Washington negotiating with the Navy for a two-year agreement. The Naval Team would come West this fall and Southern California would go East under the agreement sought by the University of Southern California.

Secretary Wilbur of the Navy was reported as being favorable to such an East-West game if the Annapolis officials decide that the Midshipmen can make the trip within ten days, the holiday furlough allowed the Navy Academy undergrads.

Mrs. Horn-Mrs. Hill Reach Golf Finals

Minneapolis, Minn., June 29 (A.P.).—Mrs. Miriam Burns Horn, of Kansas City, defending champion, advanced to the final round of the women's transmississippi golf tournament by eliminating Miss Marion Turpie, of New Orleans, Southern champion, by a 5 and 4 score today.

Miss Turpie gave the champion a great struggle on the outward nine, turning two down, but found her strong game too sound on the incoming journey.

Mrs. O. S. Hill, of Kansas City, North and South champion, eliminated Patricia Stephenson, 17-year-old Minneapolis player, in the other semifinal match. She won, 8 and 6, and will meet Mrs. Horn for the title Saturday.

Cards, Outhit, Beat Pirates; Hafey Idle

St. Louis, June 29 (A.P.).—In spite of a 13-to-11 advantage in hits, the Pittsburgh Pirates lost, 9 to 4, here today, due to the timely array of extra-base wallops credited to the St. Louis Cardinals. All of the Pirates' runs came in the ninth, when P. Waner connected for a home run with the bases loaded.

The Cards collected five doubles and a triple, batting Kremer out of the box in the first inning. Harper hit a pair of doubles, while Roettger slugged out the triple. Hafey was not in suit today, due to a thumb injury of yesterday.

Collett-Payson Gain Finals in Buffalo Golf

Buffalo, N. Y., June 29 (A.P.).—Glenna Collett, former national champion, and Helen Payson, of Portland, Me., will meet in the finals of the Country Club's eighth annual women's invitation golf tournament tomorrow.

Miss Collett today decisively defeated Beatrice Gottlieb, of New York, 6 and 5, while Miss Payson's opponent in the semifinal, Peggy Wattles, of Buffalo, went down to defeat, 3 and 1.

Miss Collett won the first three holes and reached the turn 4 up on her opponent. On the thirteenth Glenna placed a beautiful iron shot to within 8 feet of the pin to win the hole and the match.

Mat Champ Thrown; Foe Knocks Self Out

Boston, June 29 (A.P.).—Gus Sonnenberg was knocked unconscious in his bout with Ed ("Strangler") Lewis, heavyweight wrestling champion of the world, tonight when he sailed through the ropes and landed on his head on the floor. Sonnenberg had won the first fall, but when he was unable to continue the bout, the referee declared Lewis the winner of the match by default.

The match came to its abrupt end within a minute after the wrestlers had returned to the ring after the first fall. Sonnenberg attempted to get his famous flying tackle hold on the champion, but Lewis sidestepped, and the former Dartmouth athlete hurled over the ropes and beyond the row of newspaper men. He landed on his head and was picked up unconscious.

He was given fifteen minutes to return to the ring and continue the match, but at the end of that time he was still unconscious, and Lewis was given the fall and the match.

Sonnenberg was examined by physicians and found to be suffering from concussion of the brain. He was taken to the Trumbull Hospital.

Cincinnati, Ohio, June 29 (A.P.).—The Cincinnati Reds, who have been something like poison ivy to Charlie Root all season, took a deep breath after a short vacation and beat the Chicago Cubs today, 4 to 2.

The victory put them back into the fourth place. Three hits in the first inning and three more in the second netted three runs and enough to win while Luque held the Cubs scoreless until the eighth when they scored twice on a single, a triple by Hack Wilson and an infield out.

CHICAGO, June 29 (A.P.).—President E. S. Barnard, of the American League, today disallowed Washington's protest of Boston's victory in the first game of their double header Wednesday.

Washington protested the game because Phil Todt, Boston first baseman, batted out of turn. Examination of the official batting order revealed Todt's name had been listed twice, once instead of Taitt, Red Sox outfielder.

Hence Barnard refused to allow the protest, scoring the carelessness in naming the official batting order instead.

For the second time in the history of major league baseball in Washington a double-header will be played here on Sunday. The Nats and the Red Sox will clash in a twin bill tomorrow, starting at 2 p. m., this arrangement being necessitated by cancellation of the two games in Boston yesterday on account of rain.

Because the Nats were not scheduled to appear in Boston again this season, the transfer of the two games rained out yesterday was necessary. The only open dates on the schedule of both teams are from September 11 to 14, inclusive, but President Griffith of the Nationals deemed it inadvisable to further postpone the two games. One game will be played off during September, however. Two years ago, Washington and Cleveland engaged in a double-header here on Sunday, marking the first twin bill played here on [illegible]

G. U. Golf Star In College Finals

By F. G. VOSBURGH
(Associated Press Sports Writer).

RYE, N. Y., June 29.—The battle for the national intercollegiate golf championship, in quest of which 88 collegians from all parts of the country started out on Tuesday, simmered down tonight to a duel between Maurice J. McCarthy, jr., Georgetown student from Brooklyn, and Jack Roberts, Yale star from Utica.

This pair alone survived today's gruelling play, part of which was held in a drenching rain. Tomorrow they will fight it out for the championship in a 36-hole match over the tricky, well-trapped fairways of the Apawamis Club.

While McCarthy was shooting exactly par golf to eliminate Joe Morrill, Harvard, 4 and 3, Roberts put out Mark Stuart, of St. John's College, Brooklyn, by 2 and 1.

Earlier in the day McCarthy entered the semifinal round by decisively defeating John Ames, captain and sole remaining representative of the championship Princeton Team, by 5 and 3.

Morrill had earned the right to play McCarthy by downing Alfred G. Sargent, of Ohio State, the last surviving non-Easterner in the tournament, 3 and 2.

Roberts gained the semifinal by scoring over J. S. Beale, of Schenectady and Union College, 3 and 2, while Stuart produced a sensation in crushing John Williams, of Williams College, 6 and 5. It was Williams who yesterday gained a reputation by eliminating the defending champion, Watts Gunn, of Georgia Tech.

McCarthy, a sophomore of Georgetown, had never competed for this intercollegiate crown before, but played with all the coolness of a veteran campaigner despite the handicaps of rain and puddle-strewn fairways. He has had more than his share of golfing experience, however, as his father is the professional at the old Flatbush Club, and he has been swinging the clubs ever since he can remember. A few days ago he was runner-up to Eugene Homans, for the Metropolitan amateur championship.

Roberts earned his golf at the Yahnundasis Club in his home town of Utica. He will be a senior at Yale next year. Never before did he get so far in a tournament that meant so much.

McCarthy today was matched against the most powerfully built golfer of all those who entered. Joe Morrill, of Harvard, 200-pound husky, who was an end on the Crimson Football Squad and one of the best goal guards in the history of Harvard hockey, carried a tremendous wallop from the tee, but it was not enough to offset McCarthy's deadly accuracy.

McCarthy, too, is strongly built and he conceded very little to his opponent in heavy hitting.

McCarthy started off fast with a 15-foot putt for a birdie 3 on the first hole and played the first nine in 36 strokes, exactly par, to lead 1 up at the turn. On the next two holes Morrill was erratic and the lead quickly increased to 3 up. After McCarthy had taken the fourteenth with the aid of a perfect approach he was dormie 4 and the best Morrill could do on the next was a half, which was not enough.

Indians Win in 9th As Wild Throws Aid

Chicago, June 29 (A.P.).—Three successive hits, a wild throw by Barrett and a wild pitch by Connally enabled Cleveland to score three runs in the ninth inning and defeat the White Sox, 9 to 8, today.

George Grant, Cleveland's youthful right-hander, was hit hard by the White Sox and retired in the ninth inning, but was accredited with his seventh straight victory. He also got a single and a double. Barrett hit a homer for Chicago in the second inning with two men on and the White Sox scored six runs in the inning. Hudlin stopped the Chicago threat in the last inning after one run had been scored.

GROVE HALTS YANKEES IN NINTH

Relieves Ehmke in 6-4 Victory; Pennock Batted Out.

PHILADELPHIA, June 29 (A.P.).—The Athletics had to put down a ninth-inning rally by the Yankees here today to win the final clash of the series, 6 to 4. The game closed out the 1928 engagements of the champions at Shibe Park, with the New Yorkers having won nine out of eleven, including two out of three in the series just ended.

Combs' single, Koenig's home run and a pass to Ruth cut short Howard Ehmke's reign with one out in the ninth. Bob Grove, who has lost five out of six to the Yankees this season, entered the box to fan Gehrig and Lazzeri. Meusel slipped to first on a fumble by Hale between the two strike outs.

Only about 1,000 fans paid to see the farewell of the Yankees. The Athletics pummeled Herb Pennock for fourteen safe hits, but with clean support in the field the Yankee star would have entered the last half of the ninth with a lead of 4 to 3. The victory broke a six-game losing streak for the Athletics and reduced the Yankee lead to a mere eleven games.

Manager Ired At Catcher's Demands

By FRANK H. YOUNG

BOSTON, June 29.—The conduct of Catcher Bennie Tate will determine whether or not he will remain a member of the Nationals, Manager Harris stated tonight in discussing the case of the little backstop, who was sent back to Washington yesterday charged with the heinous crime of asking to be allowed to work in a game.

"I rate both Muddy Ruel and Ed Kenna as Tate's superior," said Boss Bucky, "and Tate simply will have to accept this as a fact and wait for his chance. If he is willing to do this, I would be glad to have him stick with us, for I have already shown I have confidence in him as a batter by using him as a pinch hitter. On the other hand, if Tate is not satified to take conditions as he finds them, there is nothing left for me to do but get rid of him. I will see Tate in Washington when we reach there Sunday and a decision as to his future will be made then, but, as I stated before, it's distinctly up to Tate."

Tate was sent home because, according to Manager Harris, he asked permission to start behind the bat in the second game yesterday in an obnoxious manner in front of most of the players, making Harris feel, he declares, that drastic action was necessary in the interests of discipline.

In the hotel, later, Tate explained that his request was merely because he was anxious to play and was not intended as an affront, but the Nats' pilot would not accept the explanation and ordered Tate back to Washington to "cool off."

Tate's case is a sad one and has caused considerable discussion among members of the team, who agree with him that he has not received a square deal with the Nationals. Since the spring of 1924 the little receiver has given his best to the club and has had one hope after another dashed to the ground. The most recent one was the crowding of Kenna ahead of him in the ranks.

Manager Harris agrees that Tate has been unfortunate with the Washington Club, but claims that, as manager, it is up to him to use the players whom he considers best, and Tate simply has not been as good as his competitors for the job. Harris does not hold the fact that Tate is ambitious to play against him; in fact, he admired him for it, but he declares that Bennie did not make his bid in the proper manner.

There is, of course, a possibility that Tate will insist that Manager Harris either give him hope that he will be used occasionally or send him away, for Tate has been chafing at his inactivity at times ever since he joined the club.

If this proves to be the result of his Sunday conference with Boss Bucky, it is not likely that Bennie will be allowed to get out of the American League, as waivers must be obtained on him and there are several clubs who, no doubt, would be glad to grab the peppery youngster.

The Nationals left here for Philadelphia tonight, where they will play a single game with the Mackmen tomorrow before returning to their home heath for a long stay. Manager Harris had planned to call on Milton Gaston to do the flinging against the Athletics, but as today's double-header was declared off because of rain, stated tonight that it is possible he will switch to Garland Braxton, who was to have performed on the hill against the Red Sox today.

The Nationals were greatly disappointed at their showing here against Carrigan's clan. They had visions of gaining some ground in the pennant race in this series, but the best they drew from the quartet of games played was one victory.

Manager Bill Carrigan of the Red Sox this morning was advised by telegraph by President E. S. Bernard that he has been suspended for three days. He was coaching at first yesterday when Myer was chased to the showers for too strongly protesting a decision of Umpire Ormsby on a Washington twin-killing in the sixth inning of the twilight game.

The league head had said that Carrigan's actions incited the fans and were responsible for the pop-bottle throwing which followed. Heinie

Choice Leads From Start Of Race

Track Conditions Result in Cancellation of 5th, 6th Races.

AQUEDUCT RACE TRACK, June 29 (A.P.).—The Carlton Stable's Soult, odds-on favorite, had no difficulty in annexing first money in the St. James Purse, which featured a very ordinary card here today. The program was made up of claiming events and cheap horses competed. The heavy rains of the early morning converted the track into a sea of mud, and the program was reduced by many scratches.

In the St. James Purse only four competed, with Soult a heavy favorite. He was ridden by McCoy, and the boy got him away in front. He let the colt gallop along lengths in front and won by two lengths. Single Star took the place by six lengths from Anthony. The time was 1:20.

Latonia Race Track, Ky., June 29 (A.P.).—J. B. Respess' filly by Busy American—Angeline, Belle of America, showed her heels to four others in the fourth race, the best race left on the program after two others, the original fifth and sixth, had been declared off because of track conditions. The winner stamped herself as being much better than average. She beat Ben Machree four lengths, leading from the start to finish. Ben Machree was closest to her during the running of the 5½ furlongs and finished second. Gladys McClain was third.

The race was named the American Automobile Association, which organization is holding its national convention in Cincinnati, across the river. An association representative presented the filly's owner with a silver cup and the usual bouquet was handed to Jockey D. Dubois.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—STAMPDALE, $3.80, $2.46, out; THE BAT, $3.78, out; GOLDEN RACKET, out.

STAMPDALE, racing in best form and well ridden, disposed of MISS LEE on first turn and, continuing gamely through stretch, was never seriously threatened. THE BAT raced restrained first part of it, came to outside through stretch and, closing well, was much the best of the others. GOLDEN RACKET made a determined bid on far turn, but began dropping back after reaching stretch. MISS LEE quit.

SECOND RACE—Five and one-half furlongs. Purse, $1,500. For 2-year-olds; claiming. Start good. Won driving. Place same. Went to post at 2:32. Off at 2:33. Winner, W. W. Williamson's br. c. Two-dollar mutuels paid—ST. IGNATIUS, $8.80, $4.58, $3.70; TUBEROSE, $5.90, $3.92; DOLTAIRE, $5.40.

ST. IGNATIUS, showing a liking for the footing, worked his way up strongly after first three-sixteenths and, taken to inside through stretch, rapidly wore down TUBEROSE. Latter took command immediately after start, shook off LADY WITT on stretch turn, but weakened in final sixteenth. DOLTAIRE raced well up throughout and held on courageously in final furlong. MY HOBBY tired badly after racing close to pace midway of the stretch. COURIER raced wide for entire trip. LADY WITT retired after first half.

THIRD RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,500. For maiden 3-year-olds; claiming. Start good. Won easily. Place driving. Went to post at 3:00. Off at 3:03. Winner, Audley Farm's ch. f. Two-dollar mutuels paid—BETTY BUX, $7.76, $5.10, $2.96; POLLYWOG, $5.84, $3.42; HENGIST, $2.66.

BETTY BUX, away fast and escaping early interference, raced into a long lead first half and, holding on well in final quarter, won as her rider pleased. POLLYWOG suffered much interference on first turn, raced well when clear and, saving ground last two turns, was much the best of others. HENGIST forced the winner's early pace, was allowed to drop back when tiring on far turn, but came again in final furlong to outgame FIRE BIN in final stretch. Latter tired through stretch. SPOTLIGHT had no excuses. ALL RIGHTIE fell near five furlong pole.

FOURTH RACE—Five and one-half furlongs. Purse, $1,500. The American Auto Association. For 2-year-olds; fillies. Start good. Won easily. Place driving. Went to post at 3:26. Off at 3:27. Winner, J. B. Two-dollar mutuels paid—BELLE OF AMERICA, $2.80, $2.42, out; BEN MACHREE, $2.72, out; GLADYS McCLAIN, out.

BELLE OF AMERICA, much the best, took the lead soon after start and, opening up a gap on stretch turn, was never in danger. BEN MACHREE, always in closest pursuit of the winner, made a game bid on far turn, but was not good enough. GLADYS McCLAIN closed with a rush in final furlong to overhaul FRANCES MILWARD near end. Latter tired in stretch. NEMORE was always outpaced.

FIFTH RACE—(SUBSTITUTE RACE)—One mile and seventy yards. Purse, $1,500. For 3-year-olds and upward; claiming. Start good. Won driving. Place same. Went to post at 3:53. Off at 3:58. Winner, D. Two-dollar mutuels paid—WOLFY, $7.42, $4.44, $3.30; UPDIKE, $6.18, $4.38; Linger (field), 4.74.

WOLFY worked his way up on outside, appeared to have sulked after reaching the front on stretch turn but, under punishment, held on well in final drive. UPDIKE fell out of it first half, moved up slowly entering stretch and was slowly closing on winner near finish. LINGER tired in final furlong after racing to the front. KUBLAI KHAN made a good effort. GINESTRA closed well after a slow beginning. DINGO tired badly after showing most early foot. FUSS AND FEATHERS was pulled up after being beaten badly.

SIXTH RACE, (SUBSTITUTE)—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,500. For 3-year-olds and upward; claiming. Start good. Won handily. Place driving. Went to post at 4:27. Off at 4:29. Winner, Shoe String Stable's b. f. (3), by Upset—Green Pepper. Trained by J. M. Goode. Value to winner, $1,150; second, $225; third, $125. Time, 0:23 3-5, 0:48 4-5, 1:17 4-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—RUNAWAY PRINCESS, $9.48, $5.66, $4.00; PERFECT MODEL, $17.14, $8.20; BEST SPADE, $3.56.

RUNAWAY PRINCESS, at home in the mud and hard hustled from start, slowly worked her way to the front and, holding on better than usual, finished with something left in reserve. PERFECT MODEL met some early interference, moved up with a rush when clear through stretch and, although going strongly, could not threaten winner. BEST SPADE was much used forcing early pace and tired at head of the stretch. SON OF MIDWAY raced well throughout. BOB JOHNSTON also met with early interference and closed strongly through stretch. SEMINOLA showed early speed, but tired badly in final stretch.

SEVENTH RACE—One and three-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,500. For 4-year-olds and upward; claiming. Start good. Won driving. Place same. Went to post at 5:00. Off at 5:01. Winner, J. G. Chinn's b. c. (4), by Prince Hal—Winter Blossom. Trained by owner. Value to winner, $1,150; second, $225; third, $125. Time, 0:25, 0:50, 1:17 2-5, 1:46 4-5, 2:01, 2:08 1-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—VOLE, $5.80, $4.44, $3.52; ERIC, $16.78, $7.78; PEGGY BLEDSOE, $5.04.

VOLE, far out of it in early stages, saved all possible ground on inside, continued well through stretch and outlasted ERIC in a long drive. Latter, also away slowly, worked way up swiftly on outside near half-mile ground, cut sharply across on field when taking command on far turn, but hung in final strides. PEGGY BLEDSOE raced forwardly from start, suffered interference on far turn, came to outside through stretch and held on gamely. RAVING LADY closed more ground in final stretch. MARY CARR tired in final furlong. CLOVER CLUB was slowing up in stretch run. NANI HAWAII swerved before early footing.

COLLYER'S COMMENT on the SPORT of KINGS

PRETTY RUN.

Here comes the devil. Is placed in the proper spot down Latonia way, and it would seem as though another benefit affair is to be staged. Goes in the third spasm and will carry the two slugs of yours truly. If this "bird" does not score, toss the dope sheet into the lake and tell your troubles to Capt. Kinnerney.

Milt Rieser may knock out a heat with SEMINOLA in the opener, but she is a quitting hound. At a longer route, GRAND KING would be a kick in the slats. BIG SANDY is favored over MASTER in the second.

For the fourth, DOWNCAST will not be bothered by the weight and should roll home. String with the McLEAN ENTRY in the stake. BROADSIDE may upset the dope in the sixth by beating RHINOCK. The same applies to SOUTHLAND BOY in the final dash in which SUSAN REBECCA will rule the favorite.

Fair racing cards prevail in Canada. "Heimey" Neustetter, heir to something less than a million, will shoot both barrels with NICK CULLOP at Hamilton and is due to be in the pay-off line after the race.

SANTA SWEEP is also going to be hard to beat in the opening heat.

At Kenilworth, one should wait until the closing race of the aft. and then set in the works on VILLAGER. This one has a 5-point call over the opposition. The Bell Farm entry looks like ready money in the fifth, this being the feature race of the day.

"Dutch" Reuther has just wired Old Boy Waltah that ROY GIBSON will hurl a wicked set of heels over at the Fairmount Park. This seems like a genuine XXX special, as the Dutchman makes few mistakes.

Ye wekkum!

TIFFIN, much the best, broke slowly, rushed into a long lead and won galloping. KINKAJOU was hard ridden and had no excuse. ALWAYS had early speed and was next best. Others were outrun.

FIFTH RACE—Five furlongs. Purse, $1,000. The Peter Pan. Allowances. For 2-year-olds. Start good. Won easily. Place driving. Went to post at 4:30. Off at 4:34. Winner, D. Lederer's br. c. (2), by Chatterton—Balm. Trained by A. Walker. Value to winner, $700; second, $200; third, $100. Time, 1:02 3-5.

CHATFORD, away well, showed a decided liking for the going, drew away and won easily. KING AT ARMS, well up all the way, had no excuse. GREY COAT was in close quarters in the final furlong. COMSTOCKERY ran a poor race. SCALAWAG can do better.

SIXTH RACE—One mile. Purse, $1,000. For 3-year-olds and upward; claiming. Start poor. Won driving. Place same. Went to post at 5:00. Off at 5:04. Winner, Norman Stable's b. g. (4), by Assagai—Midge. Trained by C. Koerner. Value to winner, $700; second, $200; third, $100. Time, 0:23 3-5, 0:48 2-5, 1:14, 1:41 2-5.

RED SOX HEAD SUSPENDED 3 DAYS

Wagner, veteran coach, has been named as acting leader.

Tate in Regretful Mood; Griffith Supports Harris

Catcher Bennie Tate told President Clark Griffith, of the Nationals, that there was nothing personal in his remarks to Manager Bucky Harris in Boston Thursday which led to the temporary suspension of the catcher and his return to Washington yesterday ahead of the team.

Tate was in a regretful mood yesterday, according to Griffith. The Washington owner was in communication with Harris by telephone yesterday and announced his support of Harris in any disciplinary move that his manager might take against Tate.

Summertime Menu Suggestions

Summer time is the season of light foods for two reasons. First, from a health standpoint. Second, from the fact that it does away with the necessity of keeping a hot oven going for one or more hours a day.

During this period of the year many prefer cold drinks. Milk is fast becoming a popular drink, both with young and old—in fact, it may be added to any menu successfully and, though there are some food combinations where it is not advisable, they are the exceptions rather than the rule. Milk, butter, eggs and green vegetables should frequent all menus.

Lamb is an attractive meat for the Sunday midday meal at this time of the year. A leg of lamb should be cooked with vegetables, sufficient vegetables, that is, for the dinner rather than just enough to flavor the meat as it cooks. For cooking lamb low heat is necessary—in exact contrast with the cooking of beef. Use a double roasting pan that is self-basting, and after it has partly cooked surround it with vegetables and continue the cooking until the vegetables are tender.

This may be done Saturday evening after the sun has gone down and the day has lost some of its intensity of heat.

String Beans

Heart of Lettuce Salad with French Dressing.

Whipped Cream. Cafe Noir.

The string beans will, of course, be cooked on the top of the stove, while the rest of the dinner is heating thoroughly on another burner. The accompaniments of the dinner are simple to construct, and all may be considered "hot weather food." The recipe for chilled chocolate pudding will round out the menu.

Chilled Chocolate Pudding.

Put two square of unsweetened chocolate into a double boiler and add two cups of milk. Mix a fourth cup of sugar, a fourth teaspoon of salt and three tablespoons of corn starch and when these materials are well blended add a fourth cup of milk. Add this mixture to the milk and chocolate mixture in the double boiler and cook fifteen minutes, stirring constantly until thickened and then occasionally. Add a half teaspoon of vanilla, place in sherbet glasses, chill and cover before serving with whipped cream and, if desired, a sprinkling of chopped walnuts.

Pineapple Fruit Salad.

1 apple (large)
3 oranges
1 grapefruit (fresh or canned)
2 bananas
3 peaches (if in season)
1 small bottle maraschino cherries

Cut pineapple in half (lengthwise), cut out as much of the center as possible, then place the empty halves of pineapple on a large platter so that they form two bowls, with the tops placed at opposite ends.

Mix together all the fruits with the exception of the maraschino cherries, add as much of the salad dressing as desired, place this in the pineapple bowls and then garnish the platter with crisp lettuce leaves and the cherries.

Summer Chicken Salad.

1 very small head of cabbage
½ teaspoon of celery seed
Mayonnaise dressing

Shred cabbage very fine. Wash in cold salt water, drain thoroughly and place in salad bag (or wrap in tea towel), which must be placed directly on the ice, with unopened can of chicken. These should remain on ice at least two hours. Since no marination is necessary the ingredients are combined quickly, as follows: Sprinkle celery seed over cabbage, add diced chicken and toss together lightly with at least three tablespoons of mayonnaise. Place in lettuce-lined bowl and garnish with sections of tomato radish roses, sweet pepper or pimiento strips, or sliced stuffed olives. This will serve four persons.

MONEY AT 8 PER CENT FAILS TO HALT ADVANCE

Special to The Washington Post.

New York, June 29.—Impressive gains were recorded throughout the list early in today's active stock market but the advance was checked abruptly shortly after noon by the announcement of the advancement of the call money rate from the renewal of 7½ per cent to 8 per cent, its highest level since June 2, 1921.

Many of the gains which had been piled up during the morning were reduced in a brief but active selling wave, but the recession was shallow and the forward movement soon was resumed. In the final hour almost everything on the list pointed upward and closing prices approximated the day's best. Trading was more active than at any other time this week, the day's turnover exceeding 2,200,000 shares. The more active stocks registered gains up to 8½ points.

The 7½ per cent call money renewal was not in keeping with expectations prevailing in market circles, but, while disappointing, it failed to dampen enthusiasm. Stocks were bid up with more celerity than at any previous period this week. Sentiment was influenced favorably by the further sharp contraction in brokerage loans and little interest was shown in the latest rise in rediscount holdings of the Federal Reserve system or the resumption of government bond sales.

The heaviest buying of the day was concentrated principally in the speculative leaders, notably stocks like General Motors, Allied Chemical, Du Pont, American Can, Radio, General Electric, Chrysler, Montgomery Ward, Wright, Curtiss and a few others, and in this group the largest net gains were scored. Some of these stocks lost ground after the 8 per cent money announcement, but were moving forward again strongly at the close.

General Motors had moved up to 191½ but when the shock came it soon dropped to 187¼, then turned about and moved up to close at 188, a net advance of 1½. The turnover in this stock aggregated 345,500 shares. Radio moved over a wide range in a heavy turnover, closing with a net advance of 8⅜ points. Du Pont gained 8½ points net.

Although the rails were comparatively quiet and trading among them was considerably mixed, most of them showed substantial gains on the day. Texas & Pacific scored to a new peak price of 162, a net gain of nine points. Other active stocks in this group to score good gains included Wabash, Western Maryland, Norfolk & Western, Missouri Pacific, Lehigh, Erie, Kansas City Southern, Chicago & Northwestern, St. Paul and Atchison.

The independent steels were strong in rather quiet trading, Ludlum gaining 4 points net. On the other hand, United States Steel common lost 1½. Oils, utilities, merchandising and sulphurs were strong, the rubbers steady and the coppers weak.

Atlantic Refining was twirled to a new peak at 141, holding an advance of 26. Various rumors, including reported bids for certain holdings of this stock, recently have been heard, but its rise undoubtedly is explained amply by the remarkable improvements that has taken place in the gasoline situation, looked upon as foreshadowing a prosperous year for the company. One of the rumors in circulation today had it that the Fisher Bros. were picking up all the stock they could with a view of winning control of the company from the Rockefeller group.

In foreign exchange trading conditions in sterling were changed because of the advance in call money here, compelling a widening of the difference between sterling demand and cables to ⅛ cent to the pound. Demand was quoted 3-16 lower at 4.87 3-16 while cables were down 1-16 to 4.87 11-16. Most of the trading was in demand bills. Slight declines occurred also in French, Belgium and German, while Dutch and Scandinavians improved. Canadian moved up a point to 99.76.

NEW YORK COTTON.

New York, June 29 (A.P.)—After making new high records for the season on new crop months early today, the cotton market eased off under realizing and selling for a reaction. October declined from 22.87 to 22.51, and closed at that figure, compared with 22.69 at the close of the previous day. The general market closed barely steady at net declines of 15 to 20 points.

Orders appeared to be fairly well divided between a continuation of the recent buying movement, and a disposition to take profits on long cotton at the start. The opening was steady at a decline of 3 points to an advance of 4 points, but early offerings were absorbed by the demand promoted by unfavorable weather and crop reports.

July soon sold up to 22.70 and December to the same price, net advances of 17 to 20 points on the more active positions, but these figures met increased offerings from one source or another.

Another private crop report was issued, placing the condition of the crop at 68.7, against 76.7 last year and the increase in acreage at 5 per cent. These figures attracted bullish comment, but appeared to have been discounted, and there may have been some selling during midday on the hope that better weather conditions would develop in the South over Sunday. Reports of high temperatures and hot winds in some sections of the Southwest brought in another spurt of buying during early afternoon, but it was supplied on rallies of 10 or 20 points. The market weakened again later under a renewal of selling for a reaction and week-end realizing. Prices reached the lowest levels of the day in late trading, July selling at 22.27 and December at 22.35, or 13 to 19 points net lower. The close was within a point or two of the lowest.

Trade interests were credited with buying some cotton as October approached the 22½ cent level during the afternoon. Reactionary sentiment was more or less in evidens during the day, attributed chiefly to the extent and rapidity of recent advances.

Exports today were 9,967 bales, making 7,446,156 so far this season. Port receipts, 8,653. U. S. port stocks, 892,005.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, June 29 (A.P.)—Harvest weather improvement led to lower prices today for wheat. Likelihood that monthly unofficial crop estimates due on Monday will prove bearish counted also as a selling incentive to the wheat trade.

Closing quotations on wheat were easy, ⅜c to 1c net lower. Corn finished irregular at ⅜c decline to ⅞c decline, oats ⅛c to ¼c off to ⅛c up, and provisions varying from 5c setback to a rise of 17c.

Influenced by nearly a complete letup in the long continued rains which have been holding back the harvest Southwest, wheat values tended downward today the greater part of the time. Showers predicted for tonight helped bring about a transient rally and so likewise did a temporary bulge in corn prices, but with export demand again slow for wheat from North America, and with the corn market flattening out in the late dealings, wheat closed at virtually the day's bottom level.

Contributing to the downward trend of the wheat market were favorable crop advices from Canada and from the American Northwest as well. In some Canadian districts wheat was reported to be already in the shot blade stage. Houses with connections Northwest were conspicuous on the selling side of the market. Incidentally, news of welcome showers in the Pacific Northwest attracted notice, some dispatches current here having asserted that crops were deteriorating in that section and that the outturn of wheat there might be much less than last year's total.

Evening up of open speculative accounts in the July delivery of corn was largely responsible for sharp advances at times in the corn market. Continued wet weather preventing cultivation of the new crop was also a bullish factor. Besides, receipts of corn were small. Price upturns, however, induced extensive profit-taking sales, and in the end the advances were about nullified. Oats fluctuated within a narrow range.

FOREIGN LIST IS FIRM

New York, June 29 (A.P.).—Bond prices became firmer today as trading grew in volume and held their ground when in the afternoon stocks eased off upon increase of the call money rate to 8 per cent for the first time in seven years. Time money ruled around 5¾ per cent.

Volume of sales exceeded $11,000,000, the total being one of the largest of the week, but it represented chiefly accumulated bits of trading in a wide variety of issues.

Market observers are awaiting the action of the money market after the first of the month, when interest and dividend payments shall have been made, banks will have ceased "window dressing" for a call from the Comptroller and additional funds will be available. It is expected money rates will be easier, although Nation-wide demand for Fourth of July spending money will require large funds and no great change may be noticed until the end of next week.

Utilities were among the strong spots in the list today. Public Service of New Jersey 4½s rose nearly 5 points to a new top at 124¾, closing at 123 after sagging to around 120. A feature was an 11-point advance by Brooklyn Union Gas Debenture 5½s.

Industrials were rather lightly dealt in. Dodge Brothers 6s advanced about 2 points on buying probably encouraged by denial of an injunction which would have prevented merger with Chrysler.

Grand Trunk Railway of Canada 5s, Atlanta & Birmingham 4s, Seaboard-All Florida 6s and other secondary issues attracted most buying in the railroad group.

The foreign list was firm.

ACACIA LIFE REPORTS INCREASES IN BUSINES

Gain in Premiums Was 15 Per Cent More Than Last Year; Gas Statement Made.

EXCHANGE PRICES STRONG

By F. W. PATTERSON.

Substantial increases in business for 1928 as compared with the preceding year were reported for the Acacia Mutual Life Association by William Montgomery, president.

Premiums collected for the period January to May, 1928, totaled $3,356,192.42, according to figures made available yesterday. This compares with $2,938,808.36 for the corresponding period of 1927 and represents an increase of 15 per cent.

Business in force June 1 this year aggregated $279,501,551, which is a sharp gain over the $241,562,000 of business in force on that date a year ago. New business for the first [illegible] months of the current year the figures reveal amounted to $27,500,000.

It is interesting to note that of the $1,991,099.25 in mortgage loans made to date during 1928, $933,000 of them were made in Washington and vicinity. "These latter figures aid in showing the definite economic importance of the Acacia Mutual Life Association to the National Capital, its business and its population as a whole," said Mr. Montgomery in discussing this phase of the association's business.

Thoroughly acclimated to its magnificent new home office building recently dedicated on a commanding site at First street and Indiana avenue northwest, the Acacia Mutual Life Association is setting new records with the passing months; and it is regarded as a certainty that 1928 will witness the achievement of new high levels in all departments.

Dividend by Corporation.

The regular semiannual dividend of $3.50 per share has been declared by the directors of the Departmental Securities Corporation, payable July 1. The Departmental Securities Corporation was organized by the officers and directors of the Departmental Bank last year and has made substantial progress in its operations.

Officers of the corporation are Joseph T. Exnicios, president; Raymond B. Dickey, vice president; Joseph Stewart, chairman, executive committee; Clyde Reed, secretary; C. F. McCoy, treasurer, and John L. Copelan, assistant treasurer.

Gas Income Increases.

Net income of Washington Gas Light Co. for May totaled $86,375.18, an increase of $15,672.01 over the corresponding month in 1927, according to report of operations in May filed with the Public Utilities Commission yesterday.

Operating revenues for the month amounted to $488,244.84, compared with $466,341.48 in May a year ago, while operating expenses totaled $310,642.92, against the somewhat smaller figure of $303,086.10 in the corresponding month in 1927.

Net income for the first five months of the current year totaled $420,776.28, an increase of $88,695.29 over the corresponding five-month period a year ago.

Total operating revenues for the period were $2,541,412.63, as against $2,421,809.88 for the five-month period last year. After all deductions the total operating income was $689,310.10, while the total in the corresponding period last year was $590,758.31.

Increase Also for Georgetown.

The Georgetown Gas Light Co. also filed its report for May with the Public Utilities Commission, which showed a net income for the month of $12,543.66, compared with the smaller figure of $10,442.16 in May, 1927.

Operating revenues in May totaled $77,710.67, compared with $69,438.91 in the corresponding month last year, while operating expenses totaled $58,190.39, compared with $53,069.10 in May, 1927. Taxes required $3,696.48, and after deductions the operating income in May reached $15,832.80, as against $13,698 in May last year.

The summary for the first five months of this year shows operating revenues of $399,168.07, as against $338,864.95 in the corresponding five months in 1927, while operating expenses reached $299,695.71, compared with $259,732.17 last year.

Taxes for the first five months of the current year required $22,605.47, compared with $13,314.16 a year ago, and after all deductions a net income of $58,826.83 was reported for the five-month period which compares with the lower figure of $47,759.18 in the corresponding period last year.

Bankers' Council Meets.

A meeting of the council of administration of the District Bankers Association was held yesterday, with Robert V. Fleming, president Riggs National Bank, who was elected president of the association early in the month, presiding.

The president outlined many of the plans which it is proposed will be whipped into shape by the various committees early this year and a general discussion of the work ahead was entered into by the council members.

It is understood that Mr. Fleming has selected his chairmen and vice chairmen of all committees and that he will shortly announce their appointment in order that all committees may be organized and the work which they will do get under way at the earliest possible date.

Exchange Prices Strong.

The closing session of the week on the Washington Stock Exchange was less active than on the preceding days, but the trading was interesting and prices continued strong.

While numerous odd-lot sales of bank stocks were recorded in Thursday's session, these scattered shares must have been pretty well cleaned out, for offerings yesterday were held to the shares of three banks. Riggs National, starting at 525⅛ for a lot of 5 shares, advanced to 527 on a following sale of a single share, with a final transaction in 1 share at 527½. Commercial National Bank sold to the extent of 4 shares at 257, while 4 shares of Union Trust Co. sold at 324.

The weekly call of the unlisted department found few changes in the bid prices, the majority of the stocks remaining firm.

Dividend by Wilkins Co.

The board of directors of the John H. Wilkins Co. at their semiannual meeting yesterday declared the regular semiannual dividend of 4 per cent on the outstanding preferred stock, and a dividend of $1.50 per share on the outstanding no-par common stock. Both dividends are payable July 10, to stockholders of record June 30, according to L. Frank Archambault, secretary.

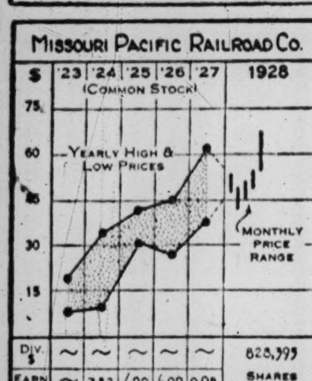
What's Behind Your Stock?



Missouri Pacific Railroad

The Missouri Pacific Railroad operates 7,338 miles of first main track, including leased lines and trackage rights, extending from St. Louis south to New Orleans and west to Omaha and to Pueblo, where connection is made with the Denver & Rio Grande Western, in which the company has a 50 per cent ownership. This gives through the Western Pacific a direct connection to the Pacific Coast. Traffic is unusually well diversified. Bituminous coal is the principal item, but products of forest and of agriculture are almost equally as important.

After reaching in 1926 the highest point of net income, $8,631,000, since 1917, the company experienced a sharp reaction in 1927 with net income of $4,401,000. This was due in part to flood conditions, but also in some measure to unsatisfactory oil trade conditions and recession in general business.

CAPITALIZATION.

Bonds of leased and controlled companies	8,746,000
Preferred stock (5% conv cum.)	71,800,100
Common stock (par $100)	82,839,500

Current data: Under date of May 2, 1928, it was reported that the directors appointed to draft a plan for payment of back dividends on the preferred stock was reported to be completing its work, with the result that the situation might be cleared within the next three months. It was indicated that the committee would recommend resumption of preferred dividends on January 1 or July 1, 1929.

Wall Street Briefs

New York, June 29 (A.P.).—Directors of Savage Arms Co. will put into effect on July 12 the recapitalization plan approved by stockholders April 3 by which its subsidiary, the J. Stevens Arms Co. will manufacture sporting weapons and a new subsidiary will be formed to take over the electric products department. Application has been made for listing the new shares on the stock exchange.

Foreign and domestic sales of passenger cars by Dodge Bros. this year to June 23 showed a gain of 20.2 per cent over the corresponding 1927 period. Retail sales gained 57 per cent in the week ended June 23 compared with a year ago.

Operating income of the New York, Chicago & St. Louis (Nickel Plate) for May decreased $86,515 compared with a year ago to $999,315 and for five months this year was $4,453,726, a drop of $276,762 under the same period of 1927.

Tidewater Associated Oil Co. plans expenditure of $250,000 on terminal and transshipment facilities on 5 acres of shore front property purchased on Curtis Bay, Baltimore, Md. The plant is expected to produce substantial economies in freight and handling charges.

Sales of Jewel Tea Co. for the first 24 weeks this year were $7,156,787 against $6,663,346 in the corresponding 1927 period.

The Robert Gair Co. will receive from the Container Corporation of America 20,000 shares of Class B common stock and about $3,500,000 cash for long time leases on plants, machinery, equipment and inventories of the Chicago coated board plant.

The projected merger of American Linseed Co. and the Gold Dust Corporation is expected to be delayed for a while. The right of the preferred stock to accumulated dividends is in question, and the two groups interested have not yet been able to agree on terms.

Sale of a New York stock-exchange membership has been arranged for $325,000, a drop of $15,000 from the preceding transaction.

About $28,000,000 more gold from the $100,000,000 recently "earmarked" here by the Bank of France is scheduled to leave New York late tonight and tomorrow, increasing to about $257,000,000 total shipments to France since last September. French purchases of gold in this country since September, including exports and car markings, are figured at $315,000,000.

Curb Review

New York, June 29 (A.P.).—The curb market showed renewed life today, and while a rapid upturn was checked by 8 per cent call money announced at midday, wide gains predominated at the close.

Bancitaly made a spurt of 16 points at 126½ and closed at 125. Safeway Stores gained 25 and Pines Winter Front 15 points on a small turnover. Deere soared 20 points, but lost half its gain, and Tubize was bid up 15 points, but closed 2 points net lower.

Mines were a strong feature. Noranda touched a new top at 45⅜ on a turnover of 65,000 shares. Hudson Bay Mining & Smelting had a turnover almost as large and made a small gain.

Bendix A sold up 8 points to a new high, at 132, and Evans Auto Loading A and B touched new tops. Melvine Shoe, recently active on recapitalization plans, touched a new high price at 208½, but later lost 4 points. Aluminum Limited, Sparks Withington, Palmolive and U. S. Gypsum made good gains.

Activity in the utility group was resumed. New England Public Service touched a new high, at 74, and Southwest Power & Light made a gain of 4½. United Light & Power A declined fractionally under heavy trading. Oils were sluggish.

I Can Recommend—— Says University Professor

In commenting on the effect of the six-line advertisement inserted in these columns under the classification of "Wanted to Rent," Mr. E. Paulus, of 1520 H St. N.W., has this to say: "The results were entirely satisfactory. I can recommend The Post as a medium for any one desiring prompt and efficient service."

Men and women in all walks of life praise the efficacy of Post Want Ads. A stranger to the city four years ago secured his first job in Washington through The Post Help Wanted columns—today the same man gave us an advertisement to run for 30 times—he is no longer an employe, he owns the business. Read and use Post Want Ads.

Standards-Lincolns Clash At Legion Field Day Today

Protest Board Names Two Teams for American League Park Game After Many Are Disqualified—Gala Day Is Planned.

THE Boys Club Standards of the Henry C. Spengler Post, No. 13, and the Lincoln Post Team, of Lincoln Post, No. 17, will meet at American League Park today at 3:30 o'clock in the game which will decide which of the two will represent Washington in the junior world series. This game will be the feature of the American Legion field day, a gala occasion starting at 2:30 p. m., which will climax the series, sponsored by the Capital City League and the Washington Post.

These two teams were decided upon by the protest board of the Capital City League in the wee sma' hours of the morning, after a day and night spent in checking the records of all the teams and hearing charges and counter-charges.

Incidentally both teams are of the same section, but the fact that no team of section B could be chosen which apparently had a complete list of eligible players, prompted the members of the board to select Lincoln Post as the team to meet the Boys Club Standards. The Boys Club Team has a clean record, whereas the Lincoln Post team has lost but one game.

The Kelley Midgets, who for a day enjoyed the lead in section B after several protests were decided against the Sam Rices, were dropped from the running late yesterday, when that team in submitting evidence on the age of its players, revealed the fact that one of its boys was over age. Thus down the line, the teams were eliminated in both sections, until the Boys Club Nine and the Lincoln Post teams were left.

Contradictory evidence against one player on the Boys Club Team was introduced, but a birth certificate produced by that team revealed that he was of age. This team also produced evidence satisfactory to the board on all its players, several of whom had been protested against. No protests were lodged against the Lincoln Post Team and the best evidence obtainable shows the players of this team to be of age.

The winner of the game today can not, however, represent Washington if definite proof is forthcoming between now and the time it is to play in the State finals which would prove beyond doubt that any of the evidence on either of the two above teams was perjured evidence.

The game will get underway at about 3:30 o'clock and will be preceded by festivities starting at 2 o'clock in which the 70-piece Army Band, the Boys Independent Band and the Victory, Costello, Schneider-Farmer Post, of Hyattsville and the Alexandria Drum and Bugle Corps will participate.

The legion will be hosts to more than 700 orphans and disabled veterans and the women's organization will provide them with ice cream and other refreshments.

Takoma Tigers Face Auth Tossers Today

The Takoma Tigers begin a five-game schedule for the week-end and holiday by engaging the strong Auth Unlimited Nine today on the Silver Spring Diamond at 3 o'clock.

Arlington Busmen Seek Game Tomorrow

The A. B. & W. Busmen are on the lookout for a game tomorrow, to be played on the Arlington diamond, with a strong unlimited team, in or out of the city.

Silver Spring Nine To Engage Herndon

Two bitter rivals will meet tomorrow when the Silver Spring and Herndon Fair-Lou nines clash on the Wheaton diamond in a double-header beginning at 2 o'clock.

The Springers won out in a previous meeting and the Fair-Lous will be out for revenge. McCormick and McCarthy will probably hurl for Silver Spring with Claude and Havener serving them for the Fair-Lous.

Commerce Netmen Beat Patent Office

Netmen from the Commerce Department scored a victory over the Patent Office in the Departmental Tennis League yesterday on the Monument Courts, 3 to 2.

The match between Pollard and Moncure, of the Commerce Team, and Thomas and Kranauer, of the Patent Office, featured the matches, the former winning in three long drawn out sets.

Pollard and Moncure (Patent), defeated Thomas and Kranauer (Commerce), 6—4, 3—6, 8—6.

Contract Bridge

We will illustrate by showing two hands of opposite types, either of which North might have after South bid three No Trumps and West passed.

	No. 1	No. 2
♠	Q-10-X-X-X-X-X	A-Q
♥	X-X-X-X	J-10-X-X
♦	X-X	K-10-X-X
♣	None	Q-X-X

With No. 1, North would want to bid four Spades and to have the bid announce: "Partner, my hand is of such a character that the trump must be Spades. You are expected to let my Spade bid stand. You are not to rebid your No Trumps, nor are you to bid for a slam in Spades unless your hand is so wonderfully strong that my long Spades will assure such slam."

With No. 2, North would want to bid four Spades but with a very different meaning than No. 1. In this case he would want his four Spades to mean: "My hand is so strong that sitting opposite to your three No Trumps I believe we probably can make a slam. My spade bid tells you that my hand has slam possibilities, if not probabilities, and also that I have the Ace of Spades. Under no circumstances are you to pass my Spade bid; I am not showing you length in Spades. You can bid four No Trumps if my bid does not seem to you to be slam promising, or you can bid five of any other suit to show the Ace of that suit. Should you do that, I will not permit your bid to stand, but will at least bid five No Trumps."

Of course, both of the above meanings can not be given to the overcall of three No Trumps with four Spades and, therefore, the most serviceable meaning should be selected. The further we test Contract bidding, the more important we find it not to sacrifice a game-producing bid for the sake of making a slam-indicator. Furthermore, with a hand of the No. 1 type, there is no way for North to save the situation except by playing upon the basis that the bid shows length; but with a hand of the No. 2 type North may reach the slam contract by jumping his partner's No Trump. Therefore, a Major overcall of partner's game-going No Trumper should be considered as a length-shower.

Next Friday, Minor overcalls will be considered and illustrated.

WIVES OF TOMORROW
By FRANCES M'DONALD

Learn How to Play.

DEAR Miss McDonald: Please tell me frankly what you think of this case and what to do. I have been married for more than 25 years. For a number of years we had to struggle to make ends meet, but we have always had a happy, contented life. We have always been very much in love.

My husband was, and is still, a handsome man. He has always been fond of the ladies and very popular with them. But I have never been jealous, even when I might have been, for I always knew I was first, last and all until just a few months ago. We have become associated with a family of young moderns recently. All they live for is a good time and they have made a great change in my husband. All his views and ideas of life are changed. He has never been at all straightlaced, but he does and approves of things that he would have scorned a few months ago. We have a great many friends, but they no longer interest him. He will not go to visit them and when they come, he is bored, because they are so old-timey and slow. I am included in the list, too. He invents excuses to get out and I know he is not alone, for he has come home with all the tell-tale signs of the evening's experiences.

At first I could scarcely believe the evidence of my own eyes. The whole affair is slowly breaking my heart and wrecking my health and nerves. I do not know what to do.

I feel like going off somewhere alone and hiding myself among strangers, where no one would ever find me.

I have talked to him about leaving, but he is opposed to it and has made threats if I do. I would do it quietly, as I have no desire to harm him. We have a lovely home, every comfort but peace of mind. He is kind to me and provides abundantly. Please advise me, dear Miss McDonald. I am so unhappy and so alone, after all these years of close companionship and a happy married life. I do want to do the right thing, but I feel like I can not go on. It seems if he had not always been so good to me it would not be so hard to bear. I have been reading your column for several years and I never dreamed then that I would have to come to you, and with a heartache.

Please try and help me. I will try and do just as you say. CECILLE.

Most men who devote themselves too closely to work in the first years of marriage, experience a more or less violent reaction and a desire for play, after success has been attained, and the need for work is over.

The "young moderns" you speak of happened along at the critical moment—that's all.

My advice? Start playing yourself! Get some smart, new, daring clothes. Go away to some snappy hotel for a few weeks, meet some modern, jolly people yourself. There is a lot of fun going to waste in this world and a lot of us going through life with a step that is set to a dirge instead of to a dance.

A man's pace is invariably more lively than a woman's. That is woman's error. Wear light colored, light weight clothing. In every respect quicken your pace—and quicken your pulse.

Do not weep a single tear. Just vamp this man back to you. The time is over when he needed a helpmate. Now he wants a playmate.

Learn to play! You'll be surprised how you will like it! Don't be solemn about anything. Have you ever worn a red hat? You have probably always wanted to, but have you worn one? Well, wear one now! Blonde or brunette put on a saucy red hat—and weep if you can!

Just break out yourself, and see how it feels to have some fun. Wear pumps with buckles on them. Spend so much money that you will worry all night over it. That will be the first step in the right direction.

Instead of "hiding" yourself among strangers, dress up and show yourself among friends. Your husband has outgrown middle-aged pastimes. Do likewise. In six months you, too, will think your former friends a bit pokey! This is a fact. Your husband is not to be blamed—and neither are you—unless you go on being pokey, when you are young enough to be firm. Write me again in six months!

HOW TO KEEP WELL
By DR. W. A. EVANS

To the limit of space, questions pertinent to hygiene and prevention of disease will be answered in this column. Personal replies will be made to inquiries, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Evans will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual disease.

DIRT OFTEN CAUSE OF EYE DISORDERS.

DR. N. B. HARMON holds lack of cleanliness and repeated exposure to dirt largely responsible for many of the common eye disorders. New born babies, in addition to the quickly blinding gonococcal infection of the eyes, are subject to mild infections of this organ. They frequently have a little "matter" in the corner of the eye, a little redness, or the lids stick. This is the result of a mild infection which occurs because the face is washed in the same water or with the same cloth used for other parts of the body. Babies would have less eye trouble if nurses were cleaner in their methods.

Older children are subject to mild eye troubles, due also in great measure to a lack of cleanliness. They have red lids, "lids sticking," "matter in the corner." As a rule, this is mild, but occasionally it results in some scar tissue and some opacity of the cornea. Some of this trouble results from the common use of towels and other washing facilities; some of it from lack of cleanliness.

Much of it comes from eye strain due to not wearing glasses when glasses are needed, and to reading in a glare or with too little light. Some of it is due to measles. Considerable eye trouble in children is due to decay of the first teeth. The teeth and the eyes are hooked together rather closely by one of the important face nerves.

The milder eye troubles of older people are also generally avoidable by improving one's environment or habits. Living in dusty air, particularly where there is glare, may be a factor in cataract. At least, the great prevalence of cataract in India points that way. Heat and eye strain are also factors in the formation of cataract.

In nystagmus there is an inability to hold the eyeball steady, which restlessness makes work difficult or impossible. Strain and dirt cause it, and change of habit is the only cure.

Dr. Harmon thinks much of the minor eye trouble in adults is the result of constipation and related bad digestion habits. He attributes much of it to pyorrhea. We may hold on to a pyorrhea tooth at the expense of eye trouble as well as of rheumatism. Living in an atmosphere which reeks with tobacco smoke is given by Dr. Harmon as one cause of minor eye troubles.

Arcus senilis is a condition in which there is a whitish area in what is called "the pupil." This is said to be a sign of age. It is now known that the white cloud called arcus is composed of cholesterin, and the diet may be a factor in causing it to deposit in the eyeball.

VALVULAR HEART.

W. B. writes: 1. Is valvular heart accompanied by slight swelling of ankle, considered dangerous. The patient, a man of 54 years, has not been afflicted long.

2. Would light work be detrimental?

REPLY.

1. Probably so. It is at least serious enough to call for a careful diagnosis, followed by detailed advice as to rest, exercise, work and diet. If possible, he should join a heart class.

2. That is the most important point the physician will have to decide. If compensation is badly broken, work is likely to be painful. Otherwise, it is helpful.

M. K. B. writes: 1. I eat a lot of popcorn. Is it harmful?

2. Is it fattening?

3. How does it rank among other foods?

REPLY.

1. No.
2. Yes.
3. About equal to other cereals.

DEAREST CLARIBEL—Certainly the mode is getting more diversified every minute. Uniformity is dead; femininity with all its inventions is growing cleverer with each experiment it makes—as witness these girdles that I have sketched for you.

The one at the top and the third one down were on little flowered frocks. The first, as you can see, had crossed loops at the back; the front was just knotted. The other was pulled in a smart diagonal line—to the waist on the high side and down to the hip on the other. I see this upward tendency exemplified all about me, and the girdle I sketched struck me as a nice compromise for people like myself who aren't as young in the waist as we'd like to be.

The second sketch from the top—the one with the turned-back skirt—was worn by a girl who wasn't old enough to have to consider inches at all. She had on one of those new, smart, tuck-in blouses in white crepe de chine, and her skirt was of blue wool. I sighed so hard with envy that I wonder that I didn't lose pounds!

Another girdle—this time for the figure with no curves in back—is the one at the bottom. Three panels were looped over the belt of an absinthe-green chiffon evening frock. In front, there was a jewelled buckle. And this, my dear, is an idea that I can adopt, thanks to the fact that I've kept up my rolling exercises!

As ever, EVE.

Conduct and Common Sense
BY ANNE SINGLETON

WHEN WITH TWO WOMEN, WHERE DOES THE MAN WALK?

"DOES a man walk on the outside, the street side, of the ladies when there happen to be two of them? Or does he walk in the middle, between them?" asks N. M. B. "I should think one of the ladies might be insulted if he gave preference to the other. Please answer in the column."

The formal, traditional place for the man to walk with two women is the same that he occupies when he walks with one—the outside, or street side. Ridiculous as it is to suppose that danger can only approach from there, such is still the idea. In narrow, old streets, with vehicles and villains, roistering down the middle, a gallant gentleman kept himself between the shrinking female and harm. Today we "shrinking females" don't shrink so much, and "harm," generally speaking, doesn't come to us on the sidewalk. But social custom keeps our escort where necessity once forced him to be.

If I saw a man walking between two women in sophisticated New York, or any other town, I should suppose that he either did not know the etiquette of social custom or that he knew his companions so well he was choosing to disregard it. That any woman brought up in the great world could conceive it a slight for the man not to sandwich himself between her and another would be impossible. A man between two women is very likely to be at a disadvantage, but, at least, when he can help it, he needn't appear so, and the sandwich position is naturally an awkward one on formal occasions.

A woman between two men is not duly guarded, but a man between two women has rather the look of being "caught." In country roads, where people walk with more freedom, this does not seem to be the case. In streets most men prefer not to do it.

YOUR BOY AND YOUR GIRL
The Parent Counselor.

Dr. Dean will answer all signed letters pertaining to parents' problems with their sons and girls. Writers' names are never printed. Only questions of general interest answered in this column, but all letters will be answered by mail if written in ink and a stamped self-addressed envelope is inclosed. Address Arthur Dean, in care of this paper.

EARNING TO SPEND AND SAVE WISELY.

DEAR DR. DEAN—Last week I sold six jars of jelly, which I made myself, for $3. I cared for three children for two nights and received $3. Another evening I took charge of the check room at a local dance and got $2.60 in tips—but today I'm broke.

I needed a new hat. Good-by, $5. I'm sorry now I didn't make it myself. But where did the other money go? Of course, I had a couple of sodas and some candy and went to a movie and a minstrel. And church took a quarter.

When I asked mother for some money today she became angry and said I had no sense of responsibility. She told me I should give her half of what I earn to help along. But, gosh, I can't even get along with all my earnings.

Can you help me learn to save some of my money? I intend going to college after I finish high school. I shall be a junior next year. I haven't started a bank account yet, but have a penny bank home and in almost 14 years I haven't saved $14. Please help me.

WILLING BUT WEAK.

Had you written me some years ago I should have joined you in singing the blues because I sang the same sad song until I kept a record of the money I earned and the ways in which I spent it.

I am glad you followed the hints on how a girl can earn money which I sent you some time ago in my special helplet. Now you and I must talk over how we can save and spend this money which you earn.

The only way that some of us can save is to put in a savings bank even before we pay our bills, that amount which we decided to save, because, you know, after we have paid our bills and bought "the things we've simply got to have," we never have anything left to save.

Money has a great way of slipping away, hasn't it? Fifteen cents for a soda, "only a quarter for some candy," "club dues are only a dollar," "merely seventy-five cents for a hair cut."

Now the act of putting down on a well-organized sheet all your spending items gives you a kind of psychological reaction which makes you say, "Did I really need these things?" And every time you can put down a savings item you have a feeling of satisfaction. In your letter you say nothing about club dues for the Girl Scouts, Campfire or Girl Reserves; nothing about saving up for some special purposes, like Christmas, birthday gifts and vacation; and nothing about what you are buying to put into your head.

When you go to college you will need a budget plan, and when you get to work you will find that you have to pay for board and room, laundry, dentist, doctor and "miscellaneous."

Your letter, along with a number of others not unlike it, has inspired me to work up a suggestive sheet on which I have printed 24 items as headings and made room for 31 spaces across the page, one for each day of the month. I have given instructions on how to fill out such a sheet. It is not possible to reproduce this in the column, so I am sending it to you and to others who ask for it.

In requesting this sheet mention "Budget Sheet for Young People of Both Sexes, Whether Working or at School." (S. A. S. E. very necessary.)

More Than a Double Dose.

Should a child be whipped at home after he has been whipped at school? MOTHER.

Answer—One is enough. I might ask another, "If mother whips him should father also whale him?" All of which reminds me of a boy of 12 who handed his teacher the following note from his mother before taking his seat:

"Dear Sir:—Please excuse James for not being present yesterday. He played truant, but you needn't whip him for it, as the boy he played truant with and him fell out, and he licked James; and a man they threw stones at caught him and licked him; and the driver of a cart they hung on licked him, and the owner of a cat they chased licked him. Then I licked him when he came home, after which his father licked him; and I had to give him another for being impudent to me for telling his father. So you need not lick him until next time."

Jollying.

In my correspondence course I have had good ratings all along in my exams—almost too good I think. Do they really mark according to the papers you send in? DOUBTING THOMAS.

Answer—some times one finds a school that jollies along a student to keep him enrolled. Within limits of honesty and decency this is a pretty good idea, because a student isolated from others needs encouragement. But to give marks not deserved is bad business.

A LITTLE SATURDAY TALK.
Extra! Letters Coming From Europe.

AS I write this little Saturday talk, I am speeding toward New York City aboard a limited train. Not very long after arriving there, I shall embark for Europe!

I have been planning to go for a long, long time, and what ship do you think I have picked out!

The Leviathan!

It's one of the largest ships in any ocean and this will be the first time I've used it. I did, however, ride on another great ship, the Berengaria, when I returned from abroad on my 1923 trip.

Of course, I am "all excited." It is a great thing to be able to spin across to Europe like this—in five days. Think of how long it took Columbus and others to make the crossing. They felt lucky when they were able to cross in less than two months.

I could try a trip in an airplane, but there are two good reasons why I would not do so this year. One reason is the lack of a schedule of the air. I might have to wait a month or two for good weather." I can go quicker than that on the Leviathan.

Another reason I shall not cross the Atlantic by airplane is that I might never arrive. More people have died the past twelve months in trying to cross that way than have succeeded in getting across. I prize life very highly and I do not wish to give it up until necessary. Perhaps the chief reason I wish to live a long, long time is that I have so much work I want to do for boys and girls. I have hundreds of articles to write: and there are also books of adventure and history in my head for the future.

Yes indeed, I am going to tell you about my adventures in Europe! That is a big purpose of this trip—to get fresh news about the ways of Europe to tell my Corner family. I'm going to take pictures of the boys and girls in different countries and I'll send the editor a story about Europe for each day in the week. Your friend,

Uncle Ray

BEAUTY AND YOU
BY VIOLA PARIS

DEAR Viola Paris: A friend has told me that a good sunburn will improve my complexion, which is oily and rather coarse. What do you advise? And what should I use in summer for a powder base? FRANCES.

Answer: I think that there is little doubt that the sun's rays are beneficial to the skin, but over-exposure, especially early in the summer, may do more harm than good. A sunburn that blisters and peels is one that can be counted upon to coarsen the skin and certainly will not remedy an oily tendency. The cure for that must come from within. Both the sweat glands and the oil glands are especially active in warm weather. Eliminate the fat-building foods and eat plentifully of vegetables and fruits. Drink ten or twelve glasses of water between meals each day.

Before exposing your skin to the direct rays of the sun, apply a generous coating of cold cream, remove the surplus and dust on talcum powder. For your skin, I should say that a mixture of equal parts of glycerin and rose water would make a satisfactory powder base.

A Reader: A good cuticle cream or oil, or vaseline, applied to the base of the nails each night will tend to remedy the brittleness. At least once a week, allow the finger tips to soak for twenty minutes in warm olive oil.

Miss D. L.: My reply to Frances, above, will, for the most part, answer your question. I think it best not to subject the skin to soap and water after exposure to sun or wind. Instead, cleanse the skin gently and carefully with a good cleansing cream or lotion, using the softest of towels, or tissue, to remove the soil. I would follow the cleansing with an astringent application.

Mary Jane: It seems to me that you are rather young to be thinking about developing the busts. The chances are that, if you are active out of doors, the busts will develop normally with the rest of your body. No, you should never massage the busts. You may do yourself permanent injury. Such exercises as tennis or swimming that bring into play the shoulder muscles and breast muscles would do far more for you than any special treatments.

City Pastors to Ask Relief for Chinese

The Rev. Joseph R. Sizoo, pastor of the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church and chairman of the Washington Federation of Churches committee on international good will, has sent a letter to clergymen of all churches in the Capital and its environs asking them to make an appeal from their pulpits tomorrow for aid of the famine-stricken millions of northern China.

The letter describes the famine as the most serious ever suffered by China and says that 10,000,000 people are affected by it. All subscriptions for the relief work will be received at the Washington Federation of Churches offices in the Woodward Building.

LATIN-AMERICAN MUSIC TO BE HEARD ON RADIO

Army Band to Aid in Concert at Pan-American Union Tonight.

COLLEGIANS WILL PLAY

The forty-first concert by Latin-American composers will be given on the esplanade of the Pan-American Union Building and broadcast through station NAA at 8:15 o'clock tonight. The program will be unusual, for all of the selections, both vocal and instrumental, will be heard for the first time in this country. Several of the numbers have been especially arranged by Warrant Officer Theodore Bingert, whose success in adapting for full military band the impressive selections of "Populo Meus" by Jose A. Lamas, of Venezuela, and "Hymn to the Sun" by Valle-Riestra, of Peru, has been recognized by radio audiences throughout the United States.

The United States Army Band will play a program of ten selections, and the assisting artists will come to Washington especially to take part in this concert. The soprano soloist, Julieta Muro de Lacarte is a native of Uruguay, well known throughout the musical centers of Latin America. The celebrated pianist-composer, Alfonso Zelaya, is interrupting his concert tour and will come from Boston to Washington to take part in this event. Zelaya is a native of Nicaragua and the son of a former president.

The countries represented in this program include Argentina, Nicaragua, Brazil, Colombia, Guatemala, Costa Rica, Chile, Ecuador, Mexico and Honduras.

The Goldman Band Concert from the campus of New York University will be broadcast by WRC at 7:30 o'clock. The complete program follows: "Marche Militaire," Tschaikowsky; "Kammenoi Ostrow," Rubinstein; "Hymn to the Sun," and "Scheherazade," by Rimsky-Korsakoff; "Overture 1812" and "None but the Lonely Heart," Tschaikowsky, the latter a soprano solo by Olive Marshall; "Song of the Volga Boatmen," old Russian; "Prelude, G Minor," Rachmaninoff; "Toreador et Andalouse," Rubinstein, and "Cortege du Sirdar," Ippolitow Iwanow.

A selection from Flotow's opera "Martha" will be played during the Slumber Music Hour, at 10 o'clock, tonight. A Strauss waltz will be heard, also three numbers by Kreisler, a movement from Beethoven's "Second Symphony" and "In Silent Night," by Rachmaninoff.

The Afro-American chorus, composed of 50 negro voices, will give its second concert of negro music over Station WMAL at 8 o'clock tonight. This chorus, under the direction of Shirley McCann, sings entirely without accompaniment and renders negro music as only negroes can sing it. Miss McCann believes the songs of her people should be kept and preserved as a distinct and valuable contribution to the music of the world. She has made extensive study along this line, both in research and arrangement. She will explain something of the meaning of these songs and tell of their origin.

A dinner concert and request program is offered by WRHF between 6 and 7 o'clock tonight.

Scientist Addresses Round Table Members

There is no end to human progress, Dr. Henry D. Hubbard, assistant to the director of the Bureau of Standards, stated yesterday at a luncheon of the Washington Round Table in the University Club.

Scientists have dropped the word "impossible" from their vocabulary as the past has proven that the impossible today is the achievement of tomorrow, he said. Dr. Hubbard predicted further advancement in synthetic chemistry, in motor machinery, in the radio and in the talking and three dimension moving pictures.

Television, when perfected and properly handled, will provide a universal means of education, he stated, adding that people would not have to leave their homes to become educated.

Today's Happenings

Joint Picnic—University of Michigan Alumnae and Men's Club of the University of Michigan, residence of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred T. Newbold, Silver Spring, Md., 1:30 o'clock.

Address — Dr. Abram Simon, on "Striking the Rock," Washington Hebrew Congregation, 10:30 o'clock.

Secretary Wilbur Goes On Inspection Tour

Secretary of the Navy Wilbur leaves Washington tomorrow night for Boston and Portsmouth, N. H. At the latter place he will inspect the sunken submarine S-4, the submarine V-5 and S-48, the naval prison, and the submarine V-4.

He leaves Portsmouth Monday for Portland, Me., where he will embark on the Wyoming with naval reserves from Georgia Tech, Harvard and Yale on a cruise to Boston. He will leave Boston July 4, arriving in New York July 5, then embark on the Arkansas to inspect vessels of the midshipmen's practice cruise, arriving in Washington on the evening of July 5. He will visit the battle fleet on the Pacific Coast later in the summer.

Flag to Be Placed At Junior Temple

An American flag and flagpole, to be placed on the Junior Order Temple, 808 I street northwest, will be presented to the board of directors of the Junior Order United American Mechanics tonight at 8 o'clock in the temple.

The presentation will be made by State councilor of the order in the District, Oscar T. Harlow and his staff of associate State officers.

JUST FOLKS
By EDGAR A. GUEST

THE HOME.

Write it down that here I labored,
Here I sang and laughed and neighbored.
Here's the sum of all my story,
Here's my fortune and my glory,
These four walls and friendly door
Mark the goal I struggled for.
Never mind its present worth,
Here's one hundred feet of earth
Where the passerby can see
Every dream which came to me.

Write it down: my life [illegible]
Here among these budding [illegible]
In this patch of lawn I've tended,
Here is all I've [illegible]
[illegible]
To the tasks I've had to do.
Here for all the world to scan
Is my secret thought and plan,
Through the long years gone before,
This is what I struggled for.

Write it down, when I have perished
Here is everything I've cherished.
That these walls should glow with beauty
Spurred my lagging soul to duty.
That there should be gladness here
Kept me toiling, year by year.
Here in [illegible] and [illegible]
Is my every purpose [illegible]
Every thought and every [illegible]

MODISH MITZI
The Sunless Sunburn
By Jay V. Jay

A sunburn is becoming to brunettes but how can Mitzi acquire one? This mode for wearing cotton coats over cotton dresses hasn't helped any. The ensemble she wears has a wide sailor collar and a jacket with long sleeves. Hats with brims protect her face. Oh, for a sunburn [illegible]

After all, Mitzi could not give up carrying this parasol and neckerchief to match just for the sake of a sunburn. The parasol and scarf are new, different and therefore more important. Besides, a sunburn is apt to hurt if taken rapidly and seriously.

Mitzi's bathing ensemble includes a two-piece suit and a basket weave polka dotted coat. There's a parasol to match, too. The bandanna matches the coat, and only the tip of her nose is really turned to the sun for tinting in the desired and fashionable shade.

If fashions make it difficult to get a natural sunburn then one must take an artificial sunburn. A henna bath or a henna pack gives just the right shade without any of the irritating effects of a natural sunburn. Yes, Mitzi is going in for a sunless sunburn.

Next Week—Midsummer Fashions.

DISTRICT DETENTION HOME PLAN HALTED BY FIGHT IN COURT

Justice Hitz Will Issue Injunction, He Says, if Facts Sustain Such Action.

CALLS ON BOTH SIDES TO SUBMIT NEW BRIEFS

Officials Meet and Arrange to Move Children as Congress Ordered.

The use of Stanton Park Accident and Receiving Hospital, at Sixth and C streets and Massachusetts avenue northeast as a juvenile detention home by the Commissioners will be prevented if George E. Sullivan, counsel for Mary V. Lipscomb, 623 C street northeast, can show Justice William Hitz, of Equity Court, authority for the issuance of an injunction.

Justice Hitz announced yesterday at the conclusion of arguments on the motion of the Commissioners to dismiss the Lipscomb injunction bill that if he can properly issue the injunction he will do so. Briefs will be filed by counsel for the plaintiff and on behalf of the Commissioners by Alexander H. Bell, jr., assistant corporation counsel. The case was taken under advisement.

Charges Unlawful Action.

The plaintiff sued on behalf of herself and other property owners who alleged that the Commissioners are proceeding arbitrarily and unlawfully to convert the hospital buildings into a juvenile detention home. Such a procedure affects the value of real estate in that vicinity and the home constitutes a nuisance, it was charged.

The Commissioners contended that the court has no power to interfere with the discretionary powers vested in them by Congress and that the court should not substitute its opinion for that of Congress.

The plaintiff contended, among other things, that the plan of the Commissioners to pay $6,000 a year rental for property that is not worth more than $60,000 is a useless waste of public funds.

Conference of Officials.

As a result of the litigation and the uncertainty of its outcome, a conference was held yesterday by Commissioner Sidney P. Taliaferro, George S. Wilson, director of public welfare and Maj. Edwin B. Hesse, superintendent of police.

Taliaferro notified the two officials that the act passed by Congress was mandatory that after Saturday none of the children now inmates of the House of Detention shall be lodged under the same roof with other inmates.

Therefore arrangements were directed to be made that all the present juvenile inmates of the House of Detention be temporarily cared for in other places until the court decides that the District may establish the new receiving home in the building of the Stanton Park Hospital or, if the decision be otherwise, until a new receiving home has been provided.

Charities Given Aid By Wm. Briggs' Will

The Washington Home for Incurables is given $1,000 in the will of William Briggs, filed yesterday in Probate Court. The Methodist Home on Connecticut avenue and the Swartzell Methodist Home for Children are each given $750. Laura M. Blair, sister-in-law of Briggs, is given $2,000. The personal and household effects are given to a brother, James S. Briggs, a sister, Annie M. Hunter, and a nephew, George M. McKee. The latter is named executor.

Henry Hunt McKee is given $2,500. A niece, Alice Haffey, and a sister-in-law, Effie E. Briggs, and a grandnephew, William F. Kirby, are each given $500. The balance of the estate is devised in trust to the Riggs National Bank, which is directed to pay one-half of the net income to the sister Annie and a grandniece, Helen G. M. McKee, and the other half to a nephew, William B. McKee.

Capital Men Receive Reserve Commissions

Royden Keith Whitford, 3360 Eighteenth street, second lieutenant, Coast Artillery; John Jacob Barrier, 1321 M street northwest, second lieutenant, Infantry; George Jay North, 5806 Cedar Parkway, Chevy Chase, Md.; Stephen Duncan Bradley, jr., 1781 Twentieth street northwest, second lieutenants, Field Artillery.

Nelson, World Flier, Enters Private Business

Lieut. Erik H. Nelson, Army round-the-world flier of 1924, retires tonight and will accept a position with the Boeing Airplane Co., Seattle. Resignation of Lieut. Nelson leaves but one member of the round-the-world flight in active service, Lieut. Lowell H. Smith, now in Hawaii.

Nelson was born in Stockholm, Sweden, in 1893 and became an American citizen in 1914, entering American Aviation Service in the World War and remaining in the Army. His plane made first aerial pictures of the Grand Canyon in Colorado possible in 1920. He also made the first air tour of the United States in 1919, the New York-Nome-Washington flight in 1920, and the San Antonio-Porto Rico-Washington flight in 1923.

Motorized Infantry Arrives in Capital

The Thirty-fourth Infantry, first Infantry regiment of the Army to be motorized, passed through the city yesterday at noon in its train of 35 trucks and 4 passenger cars.

It left Fort Eustis Thursday and arrived at Fort Leonard Wood yesterday afternoon, where it will participate in the mechanized maneuvers next month. Its route was via Lesball, Williamsburg, Richmond, Ashland, Fredericksburg, Alexandria, Washington and Laurel.

EDSEL FORD GIVES PARTY FOR TOY PLANE FLIERS

SPEECH BY MACCRACKEN

By a Staff Correspondent.)

Detroit, June 29.—Washington's hopes in the National Model Airplane contest now center in the outdoor events tomorrow, postponed from today by reason of heavy rain. Because of the dampness of the atmosphere no records fell today at the indoor meet at Olympia. Herbert Dorsey and George T. Bell, jr., scheduled for the indoor events, failed to place, their best time being 2 minutes 20 seconds, although Dorsey had made an unofficial flight of 3 minutes 40 seconds just before he made his official 2 minutes 20 seconds record.

Detroit seems to have the finals, at least for indoor planes sewed up. The boys here have been flying for several years and have had the advantage of coaching such as no outsiders were able to obtain. It hardly seems possible that any one will better the record of 8 minutes 31.1 seconds made yesterday by Ernest McCoy, and if this time is not bettered, McCoy will be declared the champion.

Lloyd Fish, Washington outdoor champion; William French and Herbert Grove Dorsey, jr., are entered in the outdoor preliminaries scheduled for tomorrow at Selfridge Field. Dorsey made a last-minute entry today after failing at the indoor trials. His new plane with the cambered wing failed to work, but there is no doubt that the information acquired by the boys here will enable them to revolutionize flying in Washington on their return.

Tonight the boys were guests of Edsel Ford at a big banquet held at the Ford Airdrome, about nine miles from the city. William P. MacCracken, jr., Assistant Secretary of the Department of Commerce for Aeronautics, was the principal speaker.

Among those present were Henry Ford, Edsel Ford, Glenn L. Martin, pioneer designer and pilot; Maj. Gen. J. M. MacBrien, president of the Aviation League of Canada, Porter Adams and Carl H. Schory, of Washington, president and secretary of the National Aeronautical Association; Ralph Upson, former international balloon racer; Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, Lieut. Jack Harding, round-the-world flier; Maj. Thomas G. Lanphier, commandant at Selfridge Field, and Arthur G. Schlosser and Edward J. Hill, winners of the 1927 James Gordon Bennett balloon race.

QUAKERS TOLD WORLD WILL OUTLAW WARS

Frederick Libby Predicts Co-operation on American Republic Principles.

A world organized on the cooperative principles of the American Republic and governed by the controlling policy of "peace at any price" was envisioned last night by Frederick Libby, president of the National Council for the Prevention of War, in an address delivered in Friends Meeting House. The Quaker meeting house sponsoring the address is that attended by Herbert Hoover, Republican candidate for the Presidency.

The speaker informed his audience that no injustice any nation might suffer in the future could be compared with the injustice of another world war. He denied that it was necessary to change the economic systems of the world to accomplish his purpose. He held the cooperation of nations under a World Court, League of Nations or "World Congress" alone was needed for the success of his plan.

He attacked military education in the colleges as administered through the R. O. T. C. It is unfair, he said, to "immature students whose viewpoint is colored before they have a chance to judge for themselves." He denied that the peace movement is communistic, "pacifistic" or designed to disarm America alone.

DETECTIVE PROMOTED, FACES $10,000 SUIT

A few hours after the promotion of Arthur A. Fihelly from a detective of the Ninth Precinct to a headquarters detective sergeant, was announced yesterday, he and William Young, of the Maryland Court Apartments, Ninth street and Maryland avenue northeast, were sued jointly in Circuit Court for a total of $10,000 damages by Leslie E. Athey, an instrument maker employed at the Weather Bureau, and his wife, Mrs. Florence Athey, of 327 Fourteenth street northeast.

These suits, in which the plaintiffs demand $5,000 damages each, are the result of an encounter principally between Fihelly and the Atheys in an alley near their home on June 8 after they had returned from a trip and were putting their automobile away.

Mrs. Athey complains that she was assaulted and humiliated and that Fihelly and Young threatened to pull her husband out of the car, Athey was arrested and taken to the Ninth Precinct on a charge of obstructing an alley, but was acquitted in Police Court. Through Attorneys Sterrick & Mostellar the plaintiffs say that the encounter was entirely unprovoked.

BUSINESS ETHICS HERE HIGHEST, OFFICIAL SAYS

URGES "BLUE SKY" FIGHT

Declaring that business standards were higher here than in other cities, Abram F. Myers, of the Federal Trade Commission, told the Better Business Bureau at the annual meeting yesterday in the auditorium of the National Press Club that it had an important part to play in eliminating "waste."

He described this "waste" as the large amount of dollars that were diverted annually from legitimate trade into the pockets of "wild-catters" and "gyp" artists. The trade commissioner asserted that $1,000,000,000 to $1,500,000,000 were lost annually through fraudulent securities, and the need today was the eradication of the "blue sky" operator. The Better Business Bureau, he said, could contribute a substantial and tangible effort to this end.

Mr. Myers defended Governmental interference with business, stating it was not a pleasure of the Federal departments, but was necessary due to the failure of business men to regulate their own conduct.

He said the Better Business Bureaus were overcoming to a great extent Government interference, as the standards of practice of its members were rigid, and advised truth in advertising and representations to the public.

The annual report of F. G. Addison, jr., was adopted and the report of Director Louis Rothschild will be printed and distributed to members of the bureau. Joshua Evans, jr., chairman of the board of trustees, presided, and Robert V. Fleming, president of the Riggs National Bank, was a guest.

The following nominations for membership on the board of trustees were approved: F. G. Addison, jr., Edward C. Baltz, Isaac Behrend, Thomas W. Brahany, B. B. Burgunder, A. C. Case, Mr. Evans, William G. Galliher, M. G. Gibbs, I. L. Goldheim, Ralph Goldsmith, Harry W. Hahn, H. G. Hoskinson, J. H. Johnson, jr., Sylvan King, M. A. Leese, John D. Leonard, Louis Levay, H. H. Auto Victim's Estate Is Valued at $40,000

Philip H. Sheriff, truck farmer, who was killed June 28 when his truck was struck by a street car at Benning, D. C., left an estate valued at about $40,000, according to the will filed yesterday in Probate Court. The estate includes premises 5324 Colorado avenue northwest.

Susan Bowie and Helen S. Mohler, daughters, are each given $500 and the balance of the estate is devised to the widow, Mrs. W. A. Sheriff, who is named executrix. The daughter, Susan Bowie, is dead, but she left two children, Calvert S. Bowie and Philip S. Bowie.

Poison in Proctor's Stomach, Report Says

A final report on the death of John Proctor, electrocuted June 22, was submitted to the Commissioners yesterday by the coroner. It was in the form of a copy of the letter of Dr. W. C. Fowler, health officer, to Dr. J. D. Rogers, deputy coroner, that Proctor's stomach was found to contain a poison in considerable quantity.

The Commissioners are now awaiting only a final report from the Police Department to wipe the case from their books unless the police develop evidence of collusion in supplying Proctor with the drug.

Apartment and Home Plans Are Approved

Plans for four residences and one apartment house were approved Thursday at the weekly meeting of the architects' advisory council. They follow:

Three dwellings, 4801-4809 River road; G. T. Santmyer, architect; $21,000; one dwelling, 4 Thompson circle; Porter & Lockie, architects; $45,000, and apartment house, 5120 Connecticut avenue northwest; G. T. Santmyer, architect; $200,000.

DR. SIMPSON LEAVES ESTATE OF $114,000

Members of His Family Receive Bulk of Property; Gift to Church.

Dr. John C. Simpson, who died June 6, left an estate valued at about $114,000, according to the petition for letters testamentary filed yesterday in Probate Court by his widow, Mrs. Louise K. Simpson, who is appointed executrix under the will.

The estate involves six shares of the capital stock of the Evening Star Newspaper Co. which are given to Mrs. Simpson. She states in the petition that this stock was and is her separate property and that the bequest to her of these shares was a precautionary measure.

This statement also applies to a bank account of $3,773. The jewelry and personal effects of a noninccme producing nature are to be distributed among certain nephews. Mrs. Cora S. Burr, sister of Dr. Simpson, is given the life use of property in Northumberland County, Pa., and another sister, Mrs. Caroline S. Stuart, is given an interest in the property in which she now lives.

Property in New Madrid County, Mo., is given to a brother, Horton Simpson. Certain nieces and nephews are given $1,000 each and the sum of $1,000 is to be distributed among the children of a deceased nephew.

The medical books and instruments are given to the nephews, Joseph Biddle and James T. Priestly 3d. Property in Northumberland, Pa., is devised in trust to Mrs. Burg for the benefit of her daughter, Dorothy B. Van Alen. St. Mark's Episcopal Church, in the town of Northumberland, is given $1,000. The balance of the estate is devised in trust to the American Security & Trust Co., and the income is to be divided for life between Cora S. Burg, Caroline S. Stewart, Francis D. Simpson, and Horton Simpson.

5,000 Compensation Certificates Issued

About 5,000 certificates of compliance with the new workmen's compensation law going into effect tomorrow, representing about half of the employers of the city, have been issued by the United States Employes Compensation Commission, now moving into its new quarters in the Investment Building, Fifteenth and K streets.

Hearings on first claims are expected to begin about the middle of the month. Employers who fail to comply with the law by tomorrow are liable to prosecution. A check of delinquent employers will be made by the commission.

Two Accidents Delay Traffic Over Bridge

Traffic on both sides of Highway Bridge was halted for fifteen minutes yesterday afternoon shortly after the Government offices had closed when the limit switch to the bridge blew off after the draw had been lifted to permit a sailboat to pass beneath. It was necessary to let the draw down by hand.

The traffic on the District side of the bridge extended as far back as the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, while another stream of cars lined up on the Virginia side. W. F. Hull, operator of the bridge, stated that the accident yesterday afternoon was the second time during the day that traffic had been held up because of the defect in the draw. The trouble is caused by an overload on the draw and by the cog rails being mashed by heavy trucks, he stated.

Bride of Only 18 Days Gains Annulment

Mrs. Virginia G. Young, of 312 Indiana avenue northwest, not yet 17 years of age, who became the wife of Calvin LeRoy Young, of 3718 Thirteenth street northwest, on June 12 at Frederick, Md., and sued to have her marriage annulled on June 23, was awarded an interlocutory decree of annulment yesterday by Justice Hitz in Equity Court, thus setting a new record as it is only 18 days ago today that she became a wife.

The decree is based on the fact that neither Young or his wife were of age. He is under 19. They never lived together as man and wife according to the petition filed for Mrs. Young by Attorneys Easby-Smith, Pine and Hill.

WIFE SUES FORMER MINISTER TO BOLIVIA

Reno, Nev., June 29 (A.P.).—Jesse Samuel Cottrell, former United States Minister to Bolivia, was charged with having "developed an extreme ego," in a divorce complaint filed here today by Lucile W. Cottrell.

The wife complained that because of his past positions as Washington newspaper correspondent, Army captain and diplomatic official, Cottrell had become dictatorial, even in his home. She accused him of striking her before a clerk in the American legation at La Paz, Bolivia, and of once prohibiting her from attending the birthday party of a friend by putting a lock and chain on the gate of their home. She was married to him in Washington in 1918. Before her marriage she was Miss Lucile Wilcox, of Birmingha, Ala.

Before entering the diplomatic service Cottrell was associated with newspapers in Knoxville, Chattanooga and Nashville, Tenn. He was secretary to Senator Sanders, of Tennessee, in 1910 and 1911, and represented various Southern newspapers as Washington correspondent.

Cottrell served as captain during the World War. He was appointed Minister to Bolivia by President Harding in 1921 and served until he resigned recently to resume practice of the newspaper profession in the Washington bureau of the New York Herald Tribune.

SENATOR'S SECRETARY WED TO NEWS WRITER

Houston, Tex., June 29 (A.P.).—One of the romances of the Democratic national convention was the marriage here today of Sarah Orr, secretary to Senator Walter F. George, of Georgia, and Gladstone Williams, a native Georgian and a Washington newspaper man.

They were married by Justice Campbell Overstreet. The couple will remain here several days and then go to New York.

Mr. Williams is the Washington correspondent for a number of newspapers, including the Miami Herald, Detroit Times, Syracuse Herald, Rochester Journal, Albany News, Albany Knickerbocker Press, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph and Pittsburgh Press. His home is at 1116 Vermont avenue northwest. The bride lives at the Chastleton Hotel.

Man Robbed of Wallet In Store.

While in a drug store at Fourteenth street and Park road northwest last night, William Lynch, 1327 Girard street northwest, was robbed of his wallet containing $85 by pickpockets. Lynch told police that he suspected two men who brushed against him and then hurriedly left the store.

FARE RAISE INQUIRY BY BOARD OF TRADE

Special Committee Appointed to Make Special Study; Project Taken Up.

To determine if the application of the Capital Traction Co. for an increase in fare is justified and the effect of such an increase if approved would have on the public and the return it would bring to stockholders of the company, the public utilities committee of the Board of Trade yesterday appointed a special subcommittee to go into all angles of the situation and report to the committee as soon as its findings are completed.

A. K. Shipe was named chairman of the special group. Serving with him are Raymond M. Pierance, Carl Loos, Gibbs L. Baker, Robert Anderson, E. C. Graham, S. B. Hege, John F. Horne, Samuel Stonebraker, Kenneth B. Armstrong, W. F. Stickle, Ralph Lee, jr., and Ralph Lee, sr.

A special meeting of the board of directors and committee chairmen of the board has been called for Thursday afternoon to consider the District budget for the fiscal years 1929-30.

For the last two weeks a thorough study of the budget items have been made by the board, and a report is to be made at the meeting. District officials have requested recommendations for cuts in the items to meet the expected revenues of $41,040,000, in lieu of the total of $46,500,000 submitted.

Standard Oil Suit Settled.

Joseph Cherner, 1781 Florida avenue northwest, who sued the Standard Oil Co. for $25,000 damages for alleged assault and battery and slander, settled and discontinued his suit yesterday in Circuit Court through Attorneys Simon, Young, Koenigsberger & Ryan. Cherner charged that agents of the company attacked him at his gas station on March 8, and then falsely accused him of selling gasoline other than the Standard products from a Standard pump.

$5,000 Death Suit Settled.

The suit of Mrs. Irene M. Kramer, widow of Frederick M. Kramer, who died November 30, 1927, by which she attempted in Circuit Court to recover $5,000 from the Union Mutual Casualty Co. of Iowa for Kramer's death, was settled and dismissed yesterday by the plaintiff through Attorneys Berry, Downing & Malley.

Bourne to Command Nicaragua Air Force

Maj. Louis M. Bourne, Marine Corps commander of Brown Field, Hamilton, Va., will assume command of the Marine Corps aviation forces in Nicaragua, leaving for his new post July 7. He succeeds Maj. Ross E. Rowell, who was to have been succeeded by Maj. Charles A. Lutz, killed in a crash last Saturday.

This is Maj. Bourne's third change of command in the past few months, he having commanded the Marine air forces on the Pacific Coast and Brown Field within that time. Maj. Bourne flew a transport plane to Nicaragua on a one-stop flight recently. Lieut. C. F. Schildt will take a fifth transport plane there as soon as it is built.

Two Church Schools To Be Opened Here

A vacation church school will be held in the chapel of the First Presbyterian Church, Thirty-sixth street and Massachusetts avenue northwest, beginning Monday and continuing each day from 9:30 o'clock until noon for two weeks.

A similar school will be held at the First Presbyterian Church, 239 John Marshall place northwest, beginning July 16 and continuing for two weeks. The school will be opened for children of 4 years old and over.

SERVICE IN ANNUITABLE RETIREMENT IS FIXED

Minimum of 15 Years, Plus 4 Years After That, Is Announced.

IN FORCE AUG. 20, 1930

The Civil Service Commission yesterday announced to heads of departments and independent establishments that after August 20, 1930, employes must be separated from the service as soon as they shall have had a minimum of fifteen years of annuitable service and shall have reached an age four years beyond the age of retirement fixed by law for the position held.

Commission officials explained that section 2 of the act of July 3, 1926, which provides for continuance in the service beyond retirement age by periods not exceeding two years, has the following limitation on continuances: "Provided, however, that after August 20, 1930, no employe shall be continued in the civil service of the United States beyond the age of retirement for more than four years."

Commission officials said that it has received frequent inquiries whether under this provision of law an employe who will have fifteen years or more of annuitable service to his credit and will be four years or more beyond retirement age on August 20, 1930, may be continued for an additional period or periods or whether he will be automatically separated from the service.

The commission informed the heads of the department and independent offices that it can not approve the continuance to extend beyond August 20, 1930, of any employe who on that date shall have rendered at least fifteen years of allowable service and shall have reached an age four years or more beyond the age of retirement for the position which he holds.

Commission officials say it was the clear intention of Congress to require the separation at the close of August 20, 1930, of all employes who on that date will be eligible for annuity and who will be four years or more beyond the retirement age.

In an opinion of June 12 the solicitor of the Interior Department held that under the act of July 3, 1926, the provisions relating to automatic separation have no application until the employe shall have served fifteen years. As soon as he shall have rendered fifteen years of service and shall have reached an age four years beyond the retirement age for his position, he will have reached the limit of time for continuance within the service and must then be retired.

ETHNOLOGY BUREAU CURATOR APPOINTED

M. W. Stirling Named to Succeed Dr. J. W. Fewkes, Retired.

Matthew W. Stirling, ethnologist and explorer, of Berkeley, Calif., has been appointed chief of the Bureau of American Ethnology under the Smithsonian Institution, it was announced yesterday by C. G. Abbot, secretary of the institution. He succeeds Dr. J. Walter Fewkes, who retired from active administrative service in January to devote all of his time to scientific investigation with the bureau.

Mr. Stirling is widely known in Washington, having served as an assistant curator in the department of anthropology of the National Museum from 1921 to 1924. While here he studied at the George Washington University and received the degree M. A. in anthropology.

The new bureau chief has engaged in extensive field research work. He organized the largest expedition which has yet penetrated the interior of Dutch New Guinea to study the pigmy people of that region. In addition to this he has conducted various scientific expeditions in different parts of America.

Father Loses Fight To Regain His Son

Raymond W. Dodd, father of 10-year-old John Raymond Dodd, lost his fight yesterday in Equity Court to regain the custody of the boy from his mother-in-law, Mrs. Tillie Siegal, of 4312 Illinois avenue northwest. Mrs. Siegal sued in Equity Court to be appointed guardian for her grandson, and Dodd sued out a writ of habeas corpus to get the boy. The writ was dismissed and Mrs. Siegal was appointed guardian for a period of one year. Dodd may have his son at certain times.

The court exonerated Dodd of the charges of drunkenness and the accusation that he was not a fit person to have his son, but it was found that it would be to the boy's best interest to remain with his grandmother at least for another year. Mrs. Mae S. Dodd, mother of the boy, died March 13. Attorney Robert E. Lynch appeared for Mrs. Siegal.

Wife Pulls, Husband Wins, Divorce.

John M. Kramer, 1805 California street northwest, whose wife, Mrs. Lorraine Kramer, 1745 Kalorama road northwest, sued him for a limited divorce in Equity Court and charged cruelty, was awarded an interlocutory decree for absolute divorce against her yesterday by Justice Smith on a cross-bill. They were married February 24, 1926, and have one child whose custody is awarded to Kramer. The bill of Mrs. Kramer is dismissed as having failed. Attorney Earl S. Duvall appeared for Kramer.

HIGH SCHOOL CADET OFFICERS TO START LIFE IN CAMP TODAY

SOLDIERS AND MARINES ARE TO BE IN CHARGE

Drills, Lectures, Swimming and Rifle Practice Are on Program.

Fresh from studies, textbooks and classroom routine, but seasoned by a year of exacting service in the Washington High School Cadet Brigade, some 75 officers of the corps will go into summer training at Camp Simms, Congress Heights, this afternoon.

For four weeks the high school youths, some aspiring to responsible posts in next year's organization and others about to sever connections with the corps for collegiate work, will experience most of the rigors and all of the benefits of a military camp.

There will be reveille at 6:15 a. m., calisthenics before breakfast and mornings varied with lectures, critiques and close order drill. Two full platoons of cadets alternately will pass whole afternoons on the rifle range or splash in the cool waters of the post swimming pool.

According to Lieut. Col. Wallace M. Craigie, professor of military science and tactics in the school, today will be given over entirely to registrations and assignments to quarters. The first meal will be served on the reservation tonight, and tomorrow, along with every other Sunday during the training period, visitors will be received at the camp.

Many to Assist Craigie.

Assisting Col. Craigie in conducting the camp will be his instructors, Maj. John G. Donovan, who will serve as executive officer; Maj. Alexander W. Mataxis, assigned as camp supply officer, and Maj. Raymond Payne, camp adjutant. In addition, Maj. S. Munson Corbett, Medical Corps, U. S. A., will be in constant attendance as camp surgeon.

Then, too, there will be student officers placed in positions of responsibility. Lieut. Col. William B. Hanbach, as assistant instructor, will be in direct command of all cadets at the camp. Commanding the first platoon, composed altogether of Central High School cadets, will be Capt. Don Warnick and Second Lieut. Robert L. O'Brien, both of Central. Capt. Richard Hollander and Capt. Lawrence Reeves, both of Western, will lead the second platoon in which the cadets from Eastern, Western, Business and McKinley High will be enrolled.

Assisting the various instructors will be Cadet Capt. James Deitz, of Eastern, assistant adjutant, and Cadet Capt. Ralph Watt, assistant supply officer. Col. Hanbach will aid the camp executive officer.

Can Pass Week-Ends Home.

The corps has been given the freedom of the camp for the four-week period through the courtesy of Maj. Gen. Anton Stephan, commandant of the District National Guard, and Lieut. Col. L. G. Brinton, U. S. A., his adjutant general. Gunnery Sergt. O. M. Bohrber, U. S. M. C., has been assigned to the rifle range instruction through the courtesy of Maj. Gen. John A. Lejeune. He will be aided by Master Sergt. Carl Trometre. Master Sergt. Frederick Fiess will be in charge of band instruction and the camp exchange.

Mornings at the camp will be divided into 45-minute periods, and instruction given in the arms and saber manuals, outpost and interior guard duty, lessons in giving commands, studies of terrain and tactical talks. Col. Craigie is anxious that parents of the students visit the camp to watch them at work. On application they may be excused from the reservation on Saturday nights to pass the week-ends at their homes.

Hesse Issues Order On Traffic Arrests

A general order directing policemen to treat persons arrested at night for traffic offenses just as if arrests were for other misdemeanors after abolition of the night traffic court Saturday was issued yesterday by Maj. Edwin B. Hesse, superintendent of police. The order said in part:

"Where collateral is exacted for appearance of any defendant in court such defendant will be notified that such collateral is for his appearance in such court at 9 a. m. on the next succeeding court day and where defendants are notified to appear in court and no deposit of collateral is exacted such notification shall provide for appearance at a like hour."

Bolling Field Fire Chief Sought by Test

The Civil Service Commission yesterday announced an open competitive examination for a fire chief at the Bolling Field Army Air Station, the scene of several fires, with a salary of $2,100 a year and quarters valued at $300 a year.

The chief will train assigned men in fire fighting, use of apparatus, and make regular inspections against fire hazards. Applicants must have at least five years' experience in fire fighting and fire protection, of which at least one year must have been in supervisory capacity.

Engel Told to Pay Wife $200 Monthly

Joseph W. Engel, Arlington Hotel, employed as a scout for the Washington Baseball Club, whose wife, Mrs. Mary D. Engel, 1839 Columbia Road northwest, sued him for a limited divorce on June 14, was ordered yesterday by Justice Peyton Gordon to pay $200 a month alimony.

Engel is also required to pay the rent for Mrs. Engel's home until her lease expires, and then he is to pay an additional $75 a month. Attorneys Wedderburn & Emerson appeared for Mrs. Engel.

Divorce Awarded to Wife.

Mrs. Frances D. Goldsmith was awarded an interlocutory decree for absolute divorce yesterday by Justice Peyton Gordon in Equity Court against Jack M. W. Goldsmith, Lafayette Hotel. They were married February 10, 1926, and have one child. Attorneys Newman, King & Jacobson appeared for Mrs. Goldsmith.

West Point Seniors Visit Capital.

The senior class of the United States Military Academy passed through the city this morning, arriving by boat at the Fort Monroe, Va., and proceeding to Union Station in private cars, leaving immediately for Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., to witness field exercises. They will leave there this week for the academy at West Point, N. Y.
